Diplomatic Opposition To Israel Is Crumbling

France Recognizes New State, Britain Plans Similar Move

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP) — Israel tonight won a major victory in her battle for world recognition as a new nation.

The logjam of diplomatic opposition began to crumble when France recognized the young Jewish state and the British Cabinet decided to take similar action within the next few days. Australia and New Zealand are expected to go along with Britain.

There were indications in Rome that Italian recognition also was under discussion.

Predictions were made that Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg soon would get on the bandwagon. Those three nations coordinate their foreign policies with Britain and France.

Soon the Arab nations may find themselves alone in their opposition to Israel, it was said.

U. N. Prospects Improve

The sudden flood of expected recognitions would remove most obstacles from Israel's application for membership in the United Nations. Britain heretofore has advocated delay in admitting the Jewish state.

French recognition was granted on the eve of Israel's first election. It also came at a time when Israeli-Egyptian armistice negotiations on Rhodes appeared to be tottering on the brink of final failure.

Twenty-three nations, including the United States and Russia, now have recognized Israel. The French action was taken in the form of "de facto" recognition—the type extended by the United States just after the British surrendered their mandate and quit Palestine.

Would Ease Pressure On Bevin

It means recognition of Israel as an operating government, but falls short of "De jure" recognition which acknowledges a government as a legal authority and calls for an exchange of diplomatic representatives.

British recognition is expected to be the same type as that extended by the United States and France. It appears likely that the British step may come before the House of Commons begins its debate Wednesday on Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's Palestine policies.

This would ease parliamentary pressure on Bevin who has been criticized by members of his own Labor Party as well as by the Conservatives led by Winston Churchill.

The British action also is expected to come on or about the same time as the United States extends recognition to the Arab state of Trans-Jordan, a close ally of Britain.

RHODES, Jan. 24 (AP) — Israeli-Egyptian armistice talks were kept alive tonight by a decision to postpone discussions until Thursday to give each delegation time to consult with its capital.

Disagreements over the touchy Negev boundary issue brought the conference during the day to the brink of failure. One source said the negotiations had broken down, but the talks later were resumed.

ON TRIAL—"Axis Sally" — Mildred E. Gillars — leaves Federal District Court in Washington in a marshal's van after the first day of her trial on a treason charge.

Man Given Jail Term For Theft Of Hearing Aid

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24 (AP)—A two-and-a-half to five-year prison sentence was meted out today to a man who admitted he stole another man's hearing aid.

William C. Squire, 36, told Judge James C. Crumlish he took the instrument to give to his mother as a a Christmas present for his stepfather.

Conviction Of May, Garssons Upheld

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The government's long fight to imprison former Rep. Andrew J. May, of Kentucky, and the munitions-making Garsson brothers for wartime bribery advanced another step today.

The United States Court of Appeals, in a 2-1 ruling, upheld the July, 1947, convictions of the three men. Their attorneys immediately planned an appeal to the Supreme Court. Meanwhile, the three will continue free on bond, each under sentence of eight months to two years.

May, now 73, was House Military Committee chairman during the Second World War and a leading figure in Congress. The Garsson brothers, Henry and Murray, built up a $70,000,000 munitions combine. Disclosure of their money payments to May was a postwar sensation.

A trial jury found May guilty of taking $53,634 in bribes from the brothers for his help in seeking wartime favors from the War Department for the Garsson projects.

The government contended that the Garssons set May up in the lumber business in Kentucky, using the firm as a device to conceal payments. May said he paid back all the money the Garssons put in, or spent it on the firm of which he said he was only the manager. All three denied having done anything wrong, or having made anything on their relationships.

The government contended May repaid the money only when the scheme was discovered by investigators.

Jury Selected For "Axis Sally" Treason Trial

Six Men, Six Women Will Weigh Charges

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A jury was selected in the surprisingly short time of five hours today to hear the treason trial of Mildred E. Gillars, "Axis Sally" of the wartime Nazi radio.

Six men and six women will weigh the charges, which carry a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair.

Six of the jurors are negroes. Two alternates, a man and a woman, were also chosen to hear the evidence and take over if any of the regular jurors are incapacitated.

Miss Gillars, who is a native of Portland, Me., is 48 years old. She is far from the glamorous vision conjured up by American GIs who listened to her "Home, Sweet, Home" propaganda broadcasts as they fought their way through the dust and mud in Africa and Europe.

Appears Older Than Years

The silver-haired woman appeared today to be weary and older than her years.

She wore a black velvet cape and black velvet dress as her long-delayed trial opened in Federal Court.

The lightest possible sentence on conviction is five years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both; while the heaviest is death.

Four men and a woman stood up when Federal District Judge Edward M. Cufran asked the jury panel of 110 whether they would oppose the death penalty if Miss Gillars is convinced of betraying her country.

These five were not chosen for the jury.

Preliminaries Go Briskly

The prosecution charges that through her Radio Berlin program of nostalgic songs and honeyed cajolings she sought to make American fighting men homesick for their loved ones.

Contrary to expectations, early trial preliminaries went briskly. James J. Laughlin, chief defense counsel, who has appeared in many of Washington's more sensational criminal trials, had told newsmen he anticipated considerable difficulty in picking a jury.

Aside from the five who opposed the death penalty, seven others told the court they had fixed opinions about the case. Others gave reasons for which they might be disqualified.

Western Rail Strike Set For January 31

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (INS)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today set 6 a. m., January 31 as the date of a strike voted by its 25,000 members against 15 western railroads.

Announcement of the strike date was made in Chicago by J. P. Shields, assistant grand chief engineer of the independent union.

He asserted that the action had the approval of Alvanley Johnston, president of the union.

Shields said the union and the railroads have been unable to reach agreement on a union proposal that a second engineer be added to Diesel locomotive crews to care for the machinery while the other engineer operates the train.

Senate Group Votes 8 To 5 To Repeal T-H

Backs Restoration Of Wagner Act With Number Of Changes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee voted 8 to 5 tonight to repeal the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and restore the Wagner Act — with unspecified amendments.

By a strictly party line vote, the committee called hearings on amendments along the line urged by President Truman.

Testimony will begin Friday and will end by February 10 under a hurry-up schedule drawn by administration forces.

Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) said the final bill will be written on the floor of the Senate. He said proposed hearings will be much too short.

The committee resolution calls for retaining a five-man National Labor Relations Board as one amendment to the old Wagner Act. Then it went on to say hearings would be held "consistent with the proposals made by the President" for other changes.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) immediately labeled the resolution "a facesaving" measure designed to give the impression that the Taft-Hartley Act is going to be repealed instead of amended.

While labor unions thus made some progress in their demands for speedy repeal, they apparently suffered a setback in their drive for "two-package" labor legislation.

They wanted (1) repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, which would restore the old Wagner Act, which they considered their "Magna Charta"; (2) later consideration of "improving" amendments to the Wagner Act, along the lines urged by President Truman.

Mr. Truman recommended legislation to prevent strikes in vital industries, bar jurisdictional strikes and certain secondary boycotts, among other things.

Agriculture Front

Another administration move was made on the agriculture front.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan laid before the Senate Agriculture Committee a plan to keep down wheat and cotton production this year. This would be done by telling farmers that the 1949 crops they plant would not count in averaging production for any future acreage allotments.

Under past acreage control laws, the average planted in the five previous years is the amount a farmer is entitled to plant.

Committee Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) outlined Brannan's plan and said he will introduce a law to implement it. Thomas said the idea is to "discourage large plantings of wheat and cotton."

The Truman program was beginning to roll in other Capitol Hill developments:

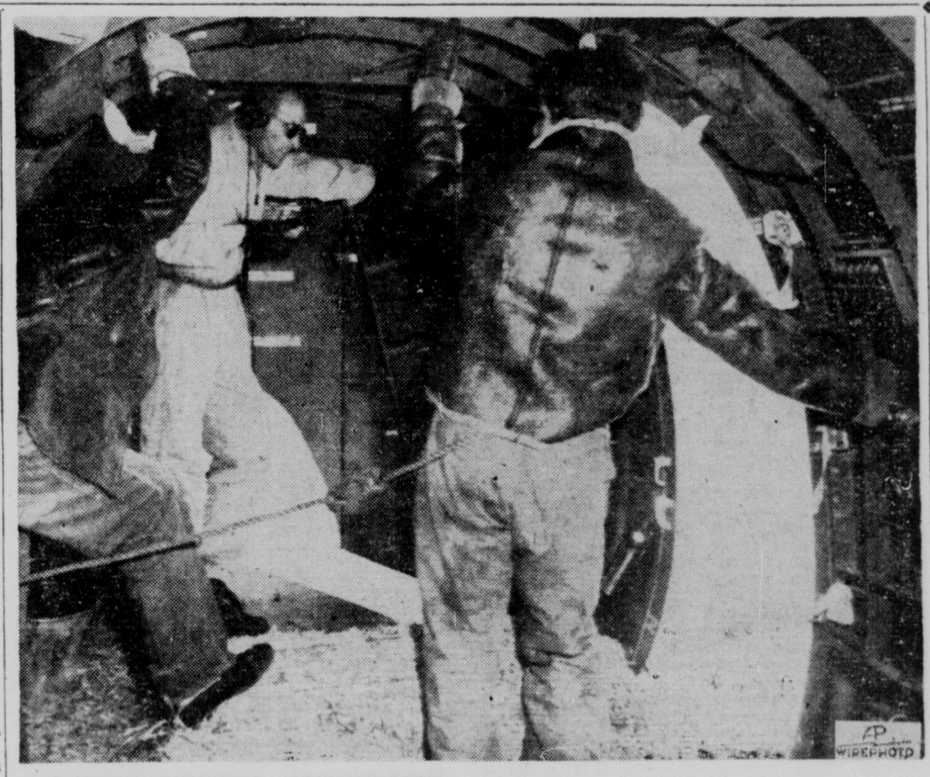

1. Administration rent control bills, calling for a two-year extension, were introduced in both houses with speed in mind. The present law expires March 31.

Additional authority would be given the Housing Expediter to impose rent ceilings on previously decontrolled areas, on apartment hotels, on certain exempt units, on quarters covered by the socalled voluntary leases of the present law, and on some places converted to housing purposes.

Trade Act Hearings Start

2. Administration machinery was set in motion to remove changes written into the Reciprocal Trade Act by the last Republican Congress. Hearings began in the House Ways and Means Committee on a bill to restore the old law and extend it. President Truman sent the committee a letter criticising the "hamper-

RAF Airlift Plane Crashes, Killing At Least Seven

Craft Was Evacuating Germans From Berlin

BERLIN, Tuesday, Jan. 25 (AP)—At least seven persons were killed and 16 injured last night when a British airlift plane evacuating children and sick persons from Russian-blockaded Berlin crashed in the Soviet zone of Germany, the RAF said today.

The plane, a Dakota carrying 27 persons, was flying from the RAF Gatow airport here to Luebeck, in the British occupation zone.

RAF officials in Hamburg said it carried 24 passengers—five German children, 14 German women and five German men—in addition to a crew of three.

Crashes In Wooded Country

The Hamburg announcement said the plane had reported to its Luebeck base at 6:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m., EST), apparently just before the crash was said to have occurred, that it was making a visual approach to the field. No further messages were received. Later the Russians reported it had crashed in wooded country in their zone, about 10 miles east of Luebeck.

The crash scene was in the northernmost corridor used by the airlift.

Reports to air force officials said the Russians were sending medical aid to the crash scene.

Engine Reported Afire

A German farmer reported one of the plane's two engines was on fire before the crash.

British authorities received information on the crash from the Russians by telephone. They were negotiating to send a mission to the crash scene.

Schoenberg, two miles east of the British zone border, was the scene of another British airlift accident only two months ago when a plane crew of three were killed. The navigator died in Schoenberg hospital several days after the accident. The Russians permitted a British army doctor and nurse, as well as the navigator's wife, to visit him.

President Makes Snow Relief Funds Available

CBS, In New Raid On NBC Talent, Gets Red Skelton

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System made another talent raid on the National Broadcasting Company today, this time coming up with Comedian Red Skelton.

CBS said Skelton, now heard at 9:30 p. m., EST, Friday nights on NBC, would switch to CBS next fall and would be heard at 8:30 p. m., (EST), Sunday nights.

Last fall CBS got Amos 'N' Andy away from NBC and at the first of the year added Jack Benny. And CBS recently announced an agreement to bring Bing Crosby to the network next season from the American Broadcasting Company where he now broadcasts.

$100,000 And New Airlift Are Thrown Into Range Battle

[By The Associated Press]

A new airlift and $100,000 in emergency funds were thrown Monday into the battle for relief of snowbound humans and cattle in the nation's hard-hit rangelands.

President Truman made immediately available $100,000 in emergency funds even as 17 Air Force C-82 Flying Boxcars began "Operation Haylift" to feed more than 2,000,000 snowbound sheep and cattle.

Fifty thousand dollars was allocated to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for use in relieving the hardship of thousands of Indians on western reservations. The other $50,000 was turned over to the Land Management Bureau of the Interior Department to help supply feed for the livestock.

Snow Plows Clear Runways

The big Air Force cargo planes moved into the Fallon, Nev., Air Base while snow plows still worked to clear the runways, and scores of volunteers began loading them with feed. The ships will carry the fodder to Ely, Nev., in the heart of the Nevada-Utah range for distribution by truck, sled and tractor to weakened and hungry sheep and cattle.

The Air Force has resumed a similar airlift started in the Nebraska-South Dakota region after the January 2 blizzard.

In the frigid Plains area, flights were limited by adverse weather. The Army employed a dozen "weasels"—track-equipped vehicles capable of plowing their way through deep snow—in the Wyoming, South Dakota-Nebraska area for use in livestock feed distribution and also re-establishment of communication with isolated communities.

Among places snow-locked and in need of food and fuel, Fifth Army headquarters listed O'Neill, Neb., and Philip and Martin, S. D.

Several Towns Isolated

Several other communities remained cut off by snow in the North Platte and Grand Island areas of Nebraska.

Light snow fell again on the Northern Plains and Rockies where subzero air hung over accumulated drifts. But progress was made by Army, state highway, National Guard and volunteer crews fighting to open blocked roads to stock

Martin Supports Scott In GOP Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa) rallied support today for Hugh D. Scott, Jr., Republican national chairman, whose ouster is being sought by anti-Dewey members of the GOP National Committee.

Martin is credited with helping pick Scott as chairman at the Republican convention last June. He told a reporter he is certain that Scott has "no ties to any possible presidential candidate."

The Senator said Pennsylvania's National Committee members, G. Mason Owlett and Mrs. Worthington Scranton, will take an active part in Scott's fight to retain his chairmanship.

Scott has said he represents no potential nominee, since he accepts at face value the statement of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, that he won't seek the presidency again.

Martin, who played a major role in Dewey's successful drive for the 1948 nomination, said he agrees that the New York Governor isn't likely to try again.

The opposition to Scott appeared to be developing rapidly, meanwhile, with reports that friends of Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and of Harold E. Stassen might center their forces behind Ralph F. Gates, former Indiana governor and national committeeman from that state.

Some Stassen backers were said to be plugging Tom Coleman, former Wisconsin state GOP chairman. Another group, said to include Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, looked with favor on the possible candidacy of Everett Dirksen, former Illinois congressman.

Two former National Republican Committee chairmen, Carroll Reece and Harrison Spangler, called at Omaha, Neb., for Scott's resignation. But Scott himself said he was not worried about the outcome.

Japanese Conservatives Win Sweeping Victory

TOKYO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Conservatives won an overwhelming victory in Sunday's Diet election, while the Communists increased their representation from an insignifiant four to 35 seats, complete unofficial returns showed.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida's Democrat-Liberal Party—extremely conservative despite the name—captured 263 of the 466 seats in the House, a gain of more than 100.

This gave it the first majority any party has achieved since the surrender. It will permit single-party Cabinet organization instead of the previous uneasy coalitions.

River Is Final Barrier Before Tense Nanking

Communists Seize Liuho, 10 Miles North Of Chinese Capital

NANKING, Tuesday, Jan. 25 (AP)—Advance patrols of Chinese Communist armies have reached the north bank of the Yangtze—the last barrier before this tense capital.

The city awaited the arrival at the river barrier of the main body of the oncoming Red columns—aware that there is nothing to stop them. Nanking is on the south bank of the big river, just across from Pukow, the rail terminal for points to the north.

Informed military sources said the Communists captured Liuho, 10 miles northeast of here, yesterday. Red reconnaissance teams moved on southward to the banks of the Yangtze itself.

Pukow was virtually deserted. Railway personnel fled the railhead, but the Communications Ministry reported its telegraph office there was functioning normally this morning.

Military sources said there is nothing to prevent the Reds from occupying Pukow. The Yangtze at that point is about a mile and a half in width.

Peace Leaflets Dropped

Government planes yesterday dropped leaflets in unspecified Red areas, urging a cease-fire.

The Chinese press quoted the leaflets as saying:

"If the Communists really are desirous of peace, they should immediately agree to a cease-fire agreement."

There was no reports of fighting. Reports to that effect last night appeared based solely on explosions from a burning arsenal south of Nanking. The explosions continued at a late hour.

Nanking observers were interested in a Peiping report that Acting President Li Tsung-Jen sent two emissaries there to talk peace, one of whom said Li thought the Peiping settlement might serve as a model for a general settlement.

"Thus far, it seems to represent little more than a hope," commented one informed source.

Chiang's Troops Leave

SHANGHAI, Jan. 24 (AP)—"Personal troops" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek streamed south out of the Shanghai-Nanking defenses today, vastly complicating government efforts to beg acceptable surrender terms from the Chinese Communists.

Reliable sources in Nanking reported a short time later that acting President Li Tsung-Jen had ordered 50,000 troops personally loyal to him to hasten to Nanking from the Hankow area 300 miles to the west.

Adding to the Chinese puzzle, highest sources disagreed anew on whether Chiang Kia-Shek actually did quit the government when he flew away Friday to his ancestral village of Chikow, 210 miles southeast of Nanking.

U. S. Military Advisory Group To Quit China

NANKING, Jan. 24 (AP)—The joint United States military advisory group is quitting China.

Established nearly three years ago to train China's peacetime armed forces, it finally has been thwarted by civil war.

Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, senior advisor, left Nanking for Shanghai today.

He said the mission had ceased functioning in Nanking and that advisory teams in Canton and on Formosa would withdraw tomorrow.

About 475 officers and men, the last personnel in China, will sail for Japan Thursday or Friday, Barr said.

State Senate Approves Jim Crow Law Repealer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 24 (AP) — The state Senate gently dumped repeal of Maryland's ancient Jim Crow law into the lap of the House of Delegates tonight.

What the House would do about getting rid of the old act was problematical. In other years it has refused to approve repeal.

There was not a word spoken in debate when the Jim Crow repealer came up. It was passed by the Senate with a 20-4 vote. The "no" votes came from Sens. Dulin (D-Anne Arundel), Della (D-Balto 6th), Thomas (D-Queen Anne's) and Shallcross (D-Kent).

The Jim Crow law requires segregation of negro and white passengers on public conveyances in Maryland. For years it has been obeyed only on Chesapeake Bay ferryboats. All attempts to erase it, however, have failed.

The Senate also was prepared to pass in routine manner a bill to create a Maryland Commission on Alcoholism. It was laid over until Wednesday, however, after Sen. Carter (D-Baltimore 3rd) asked that it be done.

The Senate, in its longest night session so far this year, also heard Sen. Ellison (R-Balto 4th) demand creation of a committee to investigate the immediate needs of mental institutions. Action was deferred until Wednesday.

A House resolution to the same effect was turned over to the Grand Inquest Committee last week.

The Senate also listened to Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) say that numerous petitions for a veterans' bonus would be in within the next three weeks. He submitted three tonight, bearing a total of 1,657 names.

In the House, Delegate Beckwith (D-Balto County) introduced a bill to require most Maryland industries to pay their wage employes every week.

Beckwith said railroad workers especially had complained about waiting two weeks for each pay check. The law now calls only for semi-monthly compensation.

Some 57 Maryland industries employing more than 200 persons each would be affected, he added. The bill covers mining, manufacturing, electric railroad, street railway, telegraph, telephone and express companies.

Another House bill would establish conviction of a felony and a sentence of at least two years as grounds for an absolute divorce. It was sponsored by Delegate McGrath (D-Prince George's).

Speaker Sybert (D-Howard) put in a bill to penalize filling station owners who substitute cheap gasoline for standard products.

Gasoline retailers asked him to back the measure, Sybert said.

Scandinavian Nations Fail To Agree On Pact

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 24 (AP)—Norway, Sweden and Denmark failed today to reach a final agreement on the formation of a Scandinavian defense alliance.

Another meeting of government leaders from the three countries will be held in Oslo Saturday. A communique issued at the close of the three-day session here said the possibility for a common defense system still exists. The bulletin said:

"Under certain conditions it will be possible to agree on a mutually obliging but otherwise detached Scandinavian defense alliance."

Missile Proving Ground

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A $200,000,000 proving ground for guided missiles was proposed today in a bill introduced by Chairman Tydings (D-Md), of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Nazis Captured Invasion Plan In '44 Huebner Says

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Jan. 24. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner, chief of American ground forces in Europe, said today the Germans captured the Allies' Normandy invasion plan in 1944 but muffed their opportunity by not getting it to their commander in time.

Huebner related the incident here to stress the importance of speedy communications in combat.

(In Washington, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, United States Army chief-of-staff, said he recalled no such incident. Bradley, who commanded the United States First Army which put elements ashore in France at Omaha and Utah Beaches, said he knew of no important papers captured early in the invasion. Another Army officer said only a few copies of the entire invasion plan were made and that they were numbered and carefully guarded.)

Explaining that the plan had been captured on the Omaha beachhead in the initial phase of the Normandy landing, Huebner said: "Had that paper been recognized for its true value the entire outcome of the war might have been different."

As it was, he continued, the Germans sent the document through normal channels and it did not reach Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt until 30 days later. By that time the Allies had a firm foothold on the French coast and the document was virtually valueless to the Germans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Reports that the Germans captured the Allies' Normandy invasion plan in 1944 brought head-shakes of doubt from some high Army officers today.

But all the Army Department would say officially is that it is checking and is unable to say at this time whether the report is true or not.

The entire invasion plan was described as a good-sized document. On legal size paper, it was about a foot high. Only a few high-ranking officers in the Allied command would have seen it.

German Pianist Detained; Agrees To Leave Country

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Walter Gieseking, German pianist who played in Germany throughout the Nazi regime, was taken into custody a few hours before a New York concert scheduled for tonight, and quickly agreed to leave the country.

The Justice Department announced that Gieseking, who arrived in this country Saturday, agreed to leave after it called a hearing to determine whether he should be excluded from the United States. The hearing was called off, as was the concert.

Department officials declined to discuss the nature of the evidence they have against Gieseking.

The pianist, who played before Adolf Hitler, has denied that he was ever a Nazi.

The Justice Department said immigration officials "detained" Gieseking a few hours before he was to have made his postwar American debut at Carnegie Hall in New York tonight.

Tickets for the recital had been sold out for over a month.

Jewish war veterans and others had been reported planning to picket the hall if Gieseking appeared.

The pianist's manager, Charles L. Wagner, and his associate manager, Edward W. Snowdon, previously told newsmen in New York that Gieseking had been "cleared of suspicion" of having given Nazi-sponsored concerts.

They said, too, that the local denazification board in Gieseking's home town of Wiesbaden, Germany, had refused to try him "because it was widely known that he was not a Nazi and that he studiously avoided all contacts with Nazis."

But the Justice Department said evidence had been uncovered indicating that his presence in this country might not be desirable.

Besides his Carnegia Hall recital, Gieseking had planned a concert tour of the United States.

He asserted that the action had the approval of Alvanley Johnston, president of the union.

Shields said the union and the railroads have been unable to reach agreement on a union proposal that a second engineer be added to Diesel locomotive crews to care for the machinery while the other engineer operates the train.

Senate Group Votes 8 To 5 To Repeal T-H

Backs Restoration Of Wagner Act With Number Of Changes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee voted 8 to 5 tonight to repeal the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and restore the Wagner Act — with unspecified amendments.

By a strictly party line vote, the committee called hearings on amendments along the line urged by President Truman.

Testimony will begin Friday and will end by February 10 under a hurry-up schedule drawn by administration forces.

Sen. Morse (R-Ore.) said the final bill will be written on the floor of the Senate. He said proposed hearings will be much too short.

The committee resolution calls for retaining a five-man National Labor Relations Board as one amendment to the old Wagner Act. Then it went on to say hearings would be held "consistent with the proposals made by the President" for other changes.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) immediately labeled the resolution "a facesaving" measure designed to give the impression that the Taft-Hartley Act is going to be repealed instead of amended.

While labor unions thus made some progress in their demands for speedy repeal, they apparently suffered a setback in their drive for "two-package" labor legislation.

They wanted (1) repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, which would restore the old Wagner Act, which they considered their "Magna Charta"; (2) later consideration of "improving" amendments to the Wagner Act, along the lines urged by President Truman.

Mr. Truman recommended legislation to prevent strikes in vital industries, bar jurisdictional strikes and certain secondary boycotts, among other things.

Agriculture Front

Another administration move was made on the agriculture front.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan laid before the Senate Agriculture Committee a plan to keep down wheat and cotton production this year. This would be done by telling farmers that the 1949 crops they plant would not count in averaging production for any future acreage allotments.

Under past acreage control laws, the average planted in the five previous years is the amount a farmer is entitled to plant.

Committee Chairman Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) outlined Brannan's plan and said he will introduce a law to implement it. Thomas said the idea is to "discourage large plantings of wheat and cotton."

The Truman program was beginning to roll in other Capitol Hill developments:

1. Administration rent control bills, calling for a two-year extension, were introduced in both houses with speed in mind. The present law expires March 31.

Additional authority would be given the Housing Expediter to impose rent ceilings on previously decontrolled areas, on apartment hotels, on certain exempt units, on quarters covered by the socalled voluntary leases of the present law, and on some places converted to housing purposes.

Trade Act Hearings Start

2. Administration machinery was set in motion to remove changes written into the Reciprocal Trade Act by the last Republican Congress. Hearings began in the House Ways and Means Committee on a bill to restore the old law and extend it. President Truman sent the committee a letter criticising the "hamper-

RAF Airlift Plane Crashes, Killing At Least Seven

Craft Was Evacuating Germans From Berlin

BERLIN, Tuesday, Jan. 25 (AP)—At least seven persons were killed and 16 injured last night when a British airlift plane evacuating children and sick persons from Russian-blockaded Berlin crashed in the Soviet zone of Germany, the RAF said today.

The plane, a Dakota carrying 27 persons, was flying from the RAF Gatow airport here to Luebeck, in the British occupation zone.

RAF officials in Hamburg said it carried 24 passengers—five German children, 14 German women and five German men—in addition to a crew of three.

Crashes In Wooded Country

The Hamburg announcement said the plane had reported to its Luebeck base at 6:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m., EST), apparently just before the crash was said to have occurred, that it was making a visual approach to the field. No further messages were received. Later the Russians reported it had crashed in wooded country in their zone, about 10 miles east of Luebeck.

The crash scene was in the northernunost corridor used by the airlift.

Reports to air force officials said the Russians were sending medical aid to the crash scene.

Engine Reported Afire

A German farmer reported one of the plane's two engines was on fire before the crash.

British authorities received information on the crash from the Russians by telephone. They were negotiating to send a mission to the crash scene.

Schoenberg, two miles east of the British zone border, was the scene of another British airlift accident only two months ago when a plane crew of three were killed. The navigator died in Schoenberg hospital several days after the accident. The Russians permitted a British army doctor and nurse, as well as the navigator's wife, to visit him.

President Makes Snow Relief Funds Available

[By The Associated Press]

A new airlift and $100,000 in emergency funds were thrown Monday into the battle for relief of snowbound humans and cattle in the nation's hard-hit rangelands.

President Truman made immediately available $100,000 in emergency funds even as 17 Air Force C-82 Flying Boxcars began "Operation Haylift" to feed more than 2,000,000 snowbound sheep and cattle.

Fifty thousand dollars was allocated to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for use in relieving the hardship of thousands of Indians on western reservations. The other $50,000 was turned over to the Land Management Bureau of the Interior Department to help supply feed for the livestock.

Snow Plows Clear Runways

The big Air Force cargo planes moved into the Fallon, Nev., Air Base while snow plows still worked to clear the runways, and scores of volunteers began loading them with feed. The ships will carry the fodder to Ely, Nev., in the heart of the Nevada-Utah range for distribution by truck, sled and tractor to weakened and hungry sheep and cattle.

The Air Force has resumed a similar airlift started in the Nebraska-South Dakota region after the January 2 blizzard.

In the frigid Plains area, flights were limited by adverse weather. The Army employed a dozen "weasels"—track-equipped vehicles capable of plowing their way through deep snow—in the Wyoming, South Dakota-Nebraska area for use in livestock feed distribution and also re-establishment of communication with isolated communities.

Among places snow-locked and in need of food and fuel, Fifth Army headquarters listed O'Neill, Neb., and Philip and Martin, S. D.

Several Towns Isolated

Several other communities remained cut off by snow in the North Platte and Grand Island areas of Nebraska.

Light snow fell again on the Northern Plains and Rockies where subzero air hung over accumulated drifts. But progress was made by Army, state highway, National Guard and volunteer crews fighting to open blocked roads to stock

CBS, In New Raid On NBC Talent, Gets Red Skelton

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System made another talent raid on the National Broadcasting Company today, this time coming up with Comedian Red Skelton.

CBS said Skelton, now heard at 9:30 p. m., EST, Friday nights on NBC, would switch to CBS next fall and would be heard at 8:30 p. m., (EST), Sunday nights.

Last fall CBS got Amos 'N' Andy away from NBC and at the first of the year added Jack Benny. And CBS recently announced an agreement to bring Bing Crosby to the network next season from the American Broadcasting Company where he now broadcasts.

Martin Supports Scott In GOP Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa) rallied support today for Hugh D. Scott, Jr., Republican national chairman, whose ouster is being sought by anti-Dewey members of the GOP National Committee.

Martin is credited with helping pick Scott as chairman at the Republican convention last June. He told a reporter he is certain that Scott has "no ties to any possible presidential candidate."

The Senator said Pennsylvania's National Committee members, G. Mason Owlett and Mrs. Worthington Scranton, will take an active part in Scott's fight to retain his chairmanship.

Scott has said he represents no potential nominee, since he accepts at face value the statement of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, that he won't seek the presidency again.

Martin, who played a major role in Dewey's successful drive for the 1948 nomination, said he agrees that the New York Governor isn't likely to try again.

The opposition to Scott appeared to be developing rapidly, meanwhile, with reports that friends of Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, and of Harold E. Stassen might center their forces behind Ralph F. Gates, former Indiana governor and national committeeman from that state.

Some Stassen backers were said to be plugging Tom Coleman, former Wisconsin state GOP chairman. Another group, said to include Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, looked with favor on the possible candidacy of Everett Dirksen, former Illinois congressman.

Two former National Republican Committee chairmen, Carroll Reece and Harrison Spangler, called at Omaha, Neb., for Scott's resignation. But Scott himself said he was not worried about the outcome.

Japanese Conservatives Win Sweeping Victory

TOKYO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Conservatives won an overwhelming victory in Sunday's Diet election, while the Communists increased their representation from an insignifiant four to 35 seats, complete unofficial returns showed.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida's Democrat-Liberal Party—extremely conservative despite the name—captured 263 of the 466 seats in the House, a gain of more than 100.

This gave it the first majority any party has achieved since the surrender. It will permit single-party Cabinet organization instead of the previous uneasy coalitions.

State Senate Approves Jim Crow Law Repealer

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 24 (AP) — The state Senate gently dumped repeal of Maryland's ancient Jim Crow law into the lap of the House of Delegates tonight.

What the House would do about getting rid of the old act was problematical. In other years it has refused to approve repeal.

There was not a word spoken in debate when the Jim Crow repealer came up. It was passed by the Senate with a 20-4 vote. The "no" votes came from Sens. Dulin (D-Anne Arundel), Della (D-Balto 6th), Thomas (D-Queen Anne's) and Shallcross (D-Kent).

The Jim Crow law requires segregation of negro and white passengers on public conveyances in Maryland. For years it has been obeyed only on Chesapeake Bay ferryboats. All attempts to erase it, however, have failed.

The Senate also was prepared to pass in routine manner a bill to create a Maryland Commission on Alcoholism. It was laid over until Wednesday, however, after Sen. Carter (D-Baltimore 3rd) asked that it be done.

The Senate, in its longest night session so far this year, also heard Sen. Ellison (R-Balto 4th) demand creation of a committee to investigate the immediate needs of mental institutions. Action was deferred until Wednesday.

A House resolution to the same effect was turned over to the Grand Inquest Committee last week.

The Senate also listened to Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany) say that numerous petitions for a veterans' bonus would be in within the next three weeks. He submitted three tonight, bearing a total of 1,657 names.

In the House, Delegate Beckwith (D-Balto County) introduced a bill to require most Maryland industries to pay their wage employes every week.

Beckwith said railroad workers especially had complained about waiting two weeks for each pay check. The law now calls only for semi-monthly compensation.

Some 57 Maryland industries employing more than 200 persons each would be affected, he added. The bill covers mining, manufacturing, electric railroad, street railway, telegraph, telephone and express companies.

Another House bill would establish conviction of a felony and a sentence of at least two years as grounds for an absolute divorce. It was sponsored by Delegate McGrath (D-Prince George's).

Speaker Sybert (D-Howard) put in a bill to penalize filling station owners who substitute cheap gasoline for standard products.

Gasoline retailers asked him to back the measure, Sybert said.

Scandinavian Nations Fail To Agree On Pact

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 24 (AP)—Norway, Sweden and Denmark failed today to reach a final agreement on the formation of a Scandinavian defense alliance.

Another meeting of government leaders from the three countries will be held in Oslo Saturday. A communique issued at the close of the three-day session here said the possibility for a common defense system still exists. The bulletin said:

"Under certain conditions it will be possible to agree on a mutually obliging but otherwise detached Scandinavian defense alliance."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A $200,000,000 proving ground for guided missiles was proposed today in a bill introduced by Chairman Tydings (D-Md), of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

River Is Final Barrier Before Tense Nanking

Communists Seize Liuho, 10 Miles North Of Chinese Capital

NANKING, Tuesday, Jan. 25 (AP)—Advance patrols of Chinese Communist armies have reached the north bank of the Yangtze—the last barrier before this tense capital.

The city awaited the arrival at the river barrier of the main body of the oncoming Red columns—aware that there is nothing to stop them. Nanking is on the south bank of the big river, just across from Pukow, the rail terminal for points to the north.

Informed military sources said the Communists captured Liuho, 10 miles northeast of here, yesterday. Red reconnaissance teams moved on southward to the banks of the Yangtze itself.

Pukow was virtually deserted. Railway personnel fled the railhead, but the Communications Ministry reported its telegraph office there was functioning normally this morning.

Military sources said there is nothing to prevent the Reds from occupying Pukow. The Yangtze at that point is about a mile and a half in width.

Peace Leaflets Dropped

Government planes yesterday dropped leaflets in unspecified Red areas, urging a cease-fire.

The Chinese press quoted the leaflets as saying:

"If the Communists really are desirous of peace, they should immediately agree to a cease-fire agreement."

There was no reports of fighting. Reports to that effect last night appeared based solely on explosions from a burning arsenal south of Nanking. The explosions continued at a late hour.

Nanking observers were interested in a Peiping report that Acting President Li Tsung-Jen sent two emissaries there to talk peace, one of whom said Li thought the Peiping settlement might serve as a model for a general settlement.

"Thus far, it seems to represent little more than a hope," commented one informed source.

Chiang's Troops Leave

SHANGHAI, Jan. 24 (AP)—"Personal troops" of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek streamed south out of the Shanghai-Nanking defenses today, vastly complicating government efforts to beg acceptable surrender terms from the Chinese Communists.

Reliable sources in Nanking reported a short time later that acting President Li Tsung-Jen had ordered 50,000 troops personally loyal to him to hasten to Nanking from the Hankow area 300 miles to the west.

Adding to the Chinese puzzle, highest sources disagreed anew on whether Chiang Kia-Shek actually did quit the government when he flew away Friday to his ancestral village of Chikow, 210 miles southeast of Nanking.

U. S. Military Advisory Group To Quit China

NANKING, Jan. 24 (AP)—The joint United States military advisory group is quitting China.

Established nearly three years ago to train China's peacetime armed forces, it finally has been thwarted by civil war.

Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, senior advisor, left Nanking for Shanghai today.

He said the mission had ceased functioning in Nanking and that advisory teams in Canton and on Formosa would withdraw tomorrow.

About 475 officers and men, the last personnel in China, will sail for Japan Thursday or Friday, Barr said.

Nazis Captured Invasion Plan In '44 Huebner Says

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Jan. 24. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner, chief of American ground forces in Europe, said today the Germans captured the Allies' Normandy invasion plan in 1944 but muffed their opportunity by not getting it to their commander in time.

Huebner related the incident here to stress the importance of speedy communications in combat.

(In Washington, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, United States Army chief-of-staff, said he recalled no such incident. Bradley, who commanded the United States First Army which put elements ashore in France at Omaha and Utah Beaches, said he knew of no important papers captured early in the invasion. Another Army officer said only a few copies of the entire invasion plan were made and that they were numbered and carefully guarded.)

Explaining that the plan had been captured on the Omaha beachhead in the initial phase of the Normandy landing, Huebner said: "Had that paper been recognized for its true value the entire outcome of the war might have been different."

As it was, he continued, the Germans sent the document through normal channels and it did not reach Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt until 30 days later. By that time the Allies had a firm foothold on the French coast and the document was virtually valueless to the Germans.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Reports that the Germans captured the Allies' Normandy invasion plan in 1944 brought head-shakes of doubt from some high Army officers today.

But all the Army Department would say officially is that it is checking and is unable to say at this time whether the report is true or not.

The entire invasion plan was described as a good-sized document. On legal size paper, it was about a foot high. Only a few high-ranking officers in the Allied command would have seen it.

German Pianist Detained; Agrees To Leave Country

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Walter Gieseking, German pianist who played in Germany throughout the Nazi regime, was taken into custody a few hours before a New York concert scheduled for tonight, and quickly agreed to leave the country.

The Justice Department announced that Gieseking, who arrived in this country Saturday, agreed to leave after it called a hearing to determine whether he should be excluded from the United States. The hearing was called off, as was the concert.

Department officials declined to discuss the nature of the evidence they have against Gieseking.

The pianist, who played before Adolf Hitler, has denied that he was ever a Nazi.

The Justice Department said immigration officials "detained" Gieseking a few hours before he was to have made his postwar American debut at Carnegie Hall in New York tonight.

Tickets for the recital had been sold out for over a month.

Jewish war veterans and others had been reported planning to picket the hall if Gieseking appeared.

The pianist's manager, Charles L. Wagner, and his associate manager, Edward W. Snowdon, previously told newsmen in New York that Gieseking had been "cleared of suspicion" of having given Nazi-sponsored concerts.

They said, too, that the local denazification board in Gieseking's home town of Wiesbaden, Germany, had refused to try him "because it was widely known that he was not a Nazi and that he studiously avoided all contacts with Nazis."

But the Justice Department said evidence had been uncovered indicating that his presence in this country might not be desirable.

Besides his Carnegia Hall recital, Gieseking had planned a concert tour of the United States.

Vice President Begins His Duties

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (INS)—Alben W. Barkley began his duties as Vice President today by warning the Senate that he would insist upon strict observance of Senate rules to speed legislative business.

In striped trousers and a handsome morning coat, Barkley called the Senate to order at noon, and heard Chaplain Peter Marshall invoke divine guidance for his four years as the Senate presiding officer.

It was the first time since April, 1945, that the Senate had operated without one of its own members in the chair. McKellar (D) Tenn., served as president pro tempore after Harry S. Truman went to the White House until January, 1947, when Vandenberg (R) Mich., took over and presided until the Democrats voted him out of the post three weeks ago.

Responding to expressions of regret last week by both Democratic and Republican senators on his retirement from the Senate, the new Vice President said it was hard to realize that he was no longer a member of a body where he had served for more than 20 years.

He recalled Vice President Thomas R. Marshall's remark in 1913, in addressing the Senate, that he was making a speech immediately after taking the oath of office because he was henceforth entering on a four-year period of silence.

Concert Managers Bid For Margaret Truman

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)— Requests are pouring in from concert managers all over the country seeking Margaret Truman's appearance at recitals in their cities, her manager said today.

However, it will be "a matter of a month or so" before the President's daughter is booked for a recital, James A. Davidson told newsmen.

So far, Davidson said, requests for her to appear as soloist with a symphony orchestra or in recital have come from concert managers in Washington, D. C., San Antonio and El Paso, Tex., Louisville, Toledo, Omaha, New Haven, and Springfield, Mass.

Freedom Train May Hit High Road Again

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP) — The Freedom Train, now shunted to a siding and due for dismantling, may hit the high road again.

Congress is drafting new train orders in an effort to keep the cargo of historical documents in circulation across the nation.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill), Senate majority leader, said today the Senate will take up on Thursday a resolution to keep the train in operation for two more years.

Lucas and Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) introduced the resolution jointly.

A similar resolution has been introduced in the House by Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) and former Speaker Martin (R-Mass).

Neither the Israelis nor the Egyptians have shown signs of backing down on the Negev issue. The Egyptians insist that the boundaries in that desert area of Southern Palestine be set according to positions occupied by both sides before the successful Jewish offensives of October 15 and last month.

While the Jews apparently are willing to give up some territory won in their most recent offensive, they flatly refuse to retreat to positions held before October 15.

Because of the deadlock the evacuation of about 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja has been postponed. The evacuation had been agreed on earlier.

Progressives Rap State Anti-Communist Bills

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)— The Progressive Party of Maryland asked today for a hearing on the Legislature's anti-Communist bills, calling them "odious legislation."

Both houses have measures prepared by a commission headed by Frank Ober, of Baltimore. They would impose severe penalties on persons who knowingly belong to subversive organizations, decree the dissolution of such organizations, and require loyalty checks on all Maryland public employes.

A seminar on the bills for chairmen of the House delegations is scheduled for Wednesday.

ing restrictions" of the GOP act.

Republicans made it plain they will fight to keep the limitations. The old law gave the administration outright authority to cut tariffs up to 50 per cent in making trade agreements with other nations.

3. Southern Senators opened an early assault on an administration move to limit filibusters as a step toward enactment of the Truman civil rights program.

The Senate Rules Committee opened hearings on legislation to permit debate limitations by a two-thirds Senate vote. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) said he thinks the committee will vote to allow curbs on any Senate debate. Sen. Long (D-La.), son of the late Sen. Huey Long, declared the minority has a right to "fight it out to the limit of its endurance" on an issue.

4. Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) told the House he will seek to limit powers which may be voted the President to reorganize government agencies. Hearings opened in the Executive Expenditures Committee on a bill under which a presidential reorganization plan would become effective unless both houses of Congress vetoed it. Hoffman said it should require congressional approval by both houses instead.

Chaplain Testifies At Court-Martial

FORT MEADE, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)— An Army chaplain flown home from Germany testified today he had heard no complaints about mistreatment at a Wurzburg prison camp two winters ago.

Four officers are charged with neglecting their duty at the rehabilitation camy for American soldiers. The chaplain, Maj. John N. Hudson, testified in behalf of Capt. Joel G. Holmes, Jr., Philadelphia, a medical officer at the camp.

"I never saw anything which I felt needed correction," the chaplain testified. "No prisoner ever complained to me about inhumane or any other kind of maltreatment in the compound."

The prosecution attempted to show that Maj. Hudson was not at Wurzburg during the time in question, December of 1947 and January of 1947.

The chaplain said he had helped put down a mutiny of white and negro prisoners soon after he arrived. He explained, however, that this was not in the section for solitary confinement.

Several soldiers and former soldiers have testified that they were mistreated in the solitary confinement cells.

Eight Firemen Injured During Baltimore Blaze

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Eight firemen were injured and nine more were overcome by smoke today as they battled a stubborn blaze in a furniture company warehouse just south of the main business district.

Three of the firemen were hurt when searing flames from an explosion of gases belched out a window and enveloped them on ladders placed against the side of the three-story brick building.

Three of them fell two floors from the ladder and two others slid down to safety.

Fifteen employes escaped from the building before the fire spread.

However, Li's personal representative in Shanghai, Kan Chieh-Hou, held a press conference Monday night in which he repeatedly spoke of the "resignation" of Chiang.

(All this could be typically Chinese quibbling, but when coupled with the peculiar troop movements it could signify a possible fatal disagreement inside the remaining government structure.)

Movement of undetermined thousands of Nationalist units from the Shanghai, Nanking and Hangchow areas and from garrison points in between clogged the railways. Civilian trains sat on sidings for hours as the full-equipped troops rolled south.

Record Vote Expected In Hagerstown Primaries

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 24 (AP) —A record vote is expected here tomorrow in one of the hottest municipal primaries ever contested in Hagerstown.

The interest is on the Democratic nomination for mayor, for which the candidates are W. Lee Elgin, Maryland's Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and Edward Oswald, Jr., city attorney.

Candidates for the Republican nomination are:

Herman L. Mills, operator of a store and a system of filling stations; John Dunn, retail shoe merchant who won the Republican nomination four years ago, and Charles Mobley, jewelry store operator.

Snowfalls in the city of Chicago average about 58 a year; New York has an average of about 35.

Concert Managers Bid For Margaret Truman

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Requests are pouring in from concert managers all over the country seeking Margaret Truman's appearance at recitals in their cities, her manager said today.

However, it will be "a matter of a month or so" before the President's daughter is booked for a recital, James A. Davidson told newsmen.

So far, Davidson said, requests for her to appear as soloist with a symphony orchestra or in recital have come from concert managers in Washington, D. C., San Antonio and El Paso, Tex., Louisville, Toledo, Omaha, New Haven, and Springfield, Mass.

Hagerstown Triplets

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—Triplets were born here today for the third time in the history of Washington County Hospital.

They were born within a period of 20 minutes to Mrs. Jack Young, wife of a Smithsburg, Md., plumber. The two girls and a boy were about a month premature and were placed immediately in incubators.

Freedom Train May Hit High Road Again

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Freedom Train, now shunted to a siding and due for dismantling, may hit the high road again.

Congress is drafting new train orders in an effort to keep the cargo of historical documents in circulation across the nation.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill), Senate majority leader, said today the Senate will take up on Thursday a resolution to keep the train in operation for two more years.

Lucas and Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) introduced the resolution jointly.

A similar resolution has been introduced in the House by Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass) and former Speaker Martin (R-Mass).

talking. He said: "As long as I can keep them meeting there is still hope."

Bunche will continue informal meetings from now until Thursday, but no major decisions will be taken until word is received from Cairo and Tel Aviv.

Neither the Israelis nor the Egyptians have shown signs of backing down on the Negev issue. The Egyptians insist that the boundaries in that desert area of Southern Palestine be set according to positions occupied by both sides before the successful Jewish offensives of October 15 and last month.

While the Jews apparently are willing to give up some territory won in their most recent offensive, they flatly refuse to retreat to positions held before October 15.

Because of the deadlock the evacuation of about 3,000 Egyptian troops trapped at Faluja has been postponed. The evacuation had been agreed on earlier.

Heavy rains which froze into two-inch sheaths on communication wires caused lines to snap, cutting phone contact with 15 Northwestern Kansas communities. Kansas and Missouri roads were glazed.

In some areas of the Middle Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, streams rose swiftly and some went out of their banks. The lower Ohio River reaches reached near flood stages, but forecasters said there was no immediate threat. Several points reported rainfall of two inches or so.

Progressives Rap State Anti-Communist Bills

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—The Progressive Party of Maryland asked today for a hearing on the Legislature's anti-Communist bills, calling them "odious legislation."

Both houses have measures prepared by a commission headed by Frank Ober, of Baltimore. They would impose severe penalties on persons who knowingly belong to subversive organizations, decree the dissolution of such organizations, and require loyalty checks on all Maryland public employes.

A seminar on the bills for chairmen of the House delegations is scheduled for Wednesday.

ing restrictions" of the GOP act.

Republicans made it plain they will fight to keep the limitations. The old law gave the administration outright authority to cut tariffs up to 50 per cent in making trade agreements with other nations.

3. Southern Senators opened an early assault on an administration move to limit filibusters as a step toward enactment of the Truman civil rights program.

The Senate Rules Committee opened hearings on legislation to permit debate limitations by a two-thirds Senate vote. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) said he thinks the committee will vote to allow curbs on any Senate debate. Sen. Long (D-La.), son of the late Sen. Huey Long, declared the minority has a right to "fight it out to the limit of its endurance" on an issue.

4. Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) told the House he will seek to limit powers which may be voted the President to reorganize government agencies. Hearings opened in the Executive Expenditures Committee on a bill under which a presidential reorganization plan would become effective unless both houses of Congress vetoed it. Hoffman said it should require congressional approval by both houses instead.

Chaplain Testifies At Court-Martial

FORT MEADE, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—An Army chaplain flown home from Germany testified today he had heard no complaints about mistreatment at a Wurzburg prison camp two winters ago.

Four officers are charged with neglecting their duty at the rehabilitation camy for American soldiers. The chaplain, Maj. John N. Hudson, testified in behalf of Capt. Joel G. Holmes, Jr., Philadelphia, a medical officer at the camp.

"I never saw anything which I felt needed correction," the chaplain testified. "No prisoner ever complained to me about inhumane or any other kind of maltreatment in the compound."

The prosecution attempted to show that Maj. Hudson was not at Wurzburg during the time in question, December of 1947 and January of 1947.

The chaplain said he had helped put down a mutiny of white and negro prisoners soon after he arrived. He explained, however, that this was not in the section for solitary confinement.

Several soldiers and former soldiers have testified that they were mistreated in the solitary confinement cells.

Palestine Fund Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A resolution authorizing an appropriation of $16,000,000 to the United Nations to aid in establishing and maintaining peace in the Palestine area was introduced today by Sen. Connally (D-Tex).

Committee OKs Tobin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee today unanimously approved nomination of Maurice J. Tobin as Secretary of Labor. He was appointed between sessions of Congress.

Eight Firemen Injured During Baltimore Blaze

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Eight firemen were injured and nine more were overcome by smoke today as they battled a stubborn blaze in a furniture company warehouse just south of the main business district.

Three of the firemen were hurt when searing flames from an explosion of gases belched out a window and enveloped them on ladders placed against the side of the three-story brick building.

Three of them fell two floors from the ladder and two others slid down to safety.

Fifteen employes escaped from the building before the fire spread.

of China. He insisted Li Tsung-Jen was merely acting president because Chiang was absent from the capital.

However, Li's personal representative in Shanghai, Kan Chieh-Hou, held a press conference Monday night in which he repeatedly spoke of the "resignation" of Chiang.

(All this could be typically Chinese quibbling, but when coupled with the peculiar troop movements it could signify a possible fatal disagreement inside the remaining government structure.)

Movement of undetermined thousands of Nationalist units from the Shanghai, Nanking and Hangchow areas and from garrison points in between clogged the railways. Civilian trains sat on sidings for hours as the full-equipped troops rolled south.

Record Vote Expected In Hagerstown Primaries

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—A record vote is expected here tomorrow in one of the hottest municipal primaries ever contested in Hagerstown.

The interest is on the Democratic nomination for mayor, for which the candidates are W. Lee Elgin, Maryland's Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and Edward Oswald, Jr., city attorney.

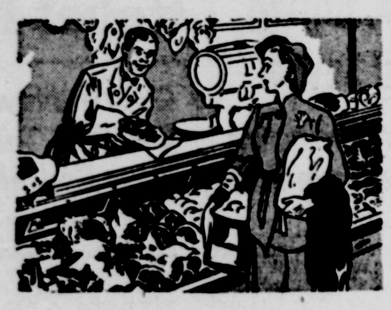

Candidates for the Republican nomination are:

Herman L. Mills, operator of a store and a system of filling stations; John Dunn, retail shoe merchant who won the Republican nomination four years ago, and Charles Mobley, jewelry store operator.

Snowfalls in the city of Chicago average about 58 a year; New York has an average of about 35.

Three-Year Absence Makes Going Steady Diffcult For Both

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I've been going steady with a wonderful fellow for the last six months. Our families are friends, and we care very much for each other. My problem is this. He's going into the Army this month, and has asked to wait for him. After his training, he will be sent overseas, and in all he will probably be away for about three years. That's a long time to go without a date, and before I started going with him, I dated often; and it will seem quite dull not going out at all. What shall I do?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) There's a very good chance that although you care for him very much, after he's been away for a few months, you'll want to keep up with your crowd, go out to parties and have good times. It's a pretty large order, planning your life for the next three years. And unless you're absolutely sure that he means enough to you so that you won't care about seeing anyone but him, don't promise anything that you may want to take back. Since you do feel you'll be bored, staying home night after night, or going out with your girl friends, it would be best if you told him that you'll write often and look forward to his furloughs, but you think you'd better not promise not to date, because you're not ready to settle down to just one for a long time.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I am having "brother trouble." He is a few years older than I, and is taking his role of big brother very seriously, so much so that it's often embarrassing to me and my friends. When a boy comes to call for me, he gets the third degree from brother, and when I have a few of my friends over, he sits with us, listens to our conversation, and adds some remarks of his own. I haven't said anything to him, but I can't take this much longer. What can I do about it?"

(A) Tell him that you appreciate his interest, but that you feel uncomfortable when he interviews your dates and sits in on your confabs with the girls. Make it plain that you'd like to ask his advice on certain things, but that you want to have a little privacy when your friends come to call; and ask him if he'd mind letting you take care of your own crowd and problems. He must have plenty of his own affairs to worry about, instead of concentrating just on yours.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I was beginning to think a great deal about a certain boy, when all of a sudden he stopped dating me. We didn't break up or have a fight, but on our last date, he just said, "I'll see you," and that was the last I did see of him. I can't understand it, but I do know one or two of his friends quite well, and have been thinking about asking them about it. What do you think about it?"

(A) You might be throwing away your chance of seeing him again if you bring his friends into it. No boy likes to be checked up on, and you can be sure that, no matter what his pals say, they'll tell him about it. His absent treatment may be temporary, but it'll be permanent once your inquiries get around through the grapevine. Just wait and see what happens, but don't ruin your hopes by turning into an F.B.I. He won't like it, and if he has any intentions of coming back, he'll forget them then and there.

Nancy will answer as many questions as possible in her column. Write her in care of this newspaper.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Are "instincts" in your mind or in your body?

Answer: They "come into" your mind, of course, or you could not recognize them or attempt to satisfy them. But according to Dr. Lawrence S. Kubie, eminent New York neuropsychiatrist, instincts grow out of the body's tendency to restore its balance ("homoeostasis") when it either has exhausted or built up a surplus supply of one of its natural constituents. Thus when too much energy has been burnt up, the need to replace it creates the instinct of hunger, which like any instinct, the mind can distort or suppress, but never destroy.

Does pride really "go before a fall"?

Answer: That depends on two things: whether it is based on facts and whether you do or do not feel guilty about it. Honest pride in proved abilities or talents is an aid to success since it makes you less discouraged over temporary failure. But pride that is only a defense against admitting your shortcomings makes it that much surer that you'll fall a victim to them; while if you grew up, as many of us do, believing that it's wicked to think well of yourself, you may bring about your own "fall" to appease your conscience.

Will your life affect the course of evolution?

Answer: Usually not "genetically," asserts Dr. Harold F. Blum of the National Cancer Institute. As an individual, you will not greatly change the heritage of your descendants unless you're the bearer of a "mutant gene," and even then it may be generations before the importance of the "mutation" (change) becomes apparent. But in "cultural evolution," you may be of great importance. The ideas and influence of a single personality like Freud's—or Hitler's—may advance or delay human progress for centuries after his death.

A British bulldog and a Russian wolfhound were ambling down Regent street together. "This country is getting on my nerves," admitted the bull. "No decent meat for the past six years! And it's so long since I've seen a good bone I don't remember what they look like."

"Hmph," scoffed the wolfhound, "you should see how it is in Moscow. Meat six times a day. Fine bones piled up at every corner. And champagne with which to wash it down." "If things are so hotsy-totsy in Moscow," grumbled the bull, "what are you doing here in London?" "Well," sighed the Russian wolfhound, "a fellow likes to bark once in a while, too!"

Mrs. "Kik" Erlanger, boss lady of the canines who rendered such assistance to the infantry in the recent war, was asked why her dogs were trained so much better than and others. Mrs. Erlanger playfully attributed her success to a single hardfast rule: "As soon as my dogs reach the age of six months, I always tell them about the birds and the fleas."

A reporter, sent to cover an opening of the Metropolitan opera season (in the days before patrons made news by standing on their heads in the lobby, or doing a striptease in the lounge) didn't wait to see who turned out. He copied down the names from the brass plates on the doors to the boxes, turned in his story, and went off to a prize fight.

Unfortunately, the brass plates bore the names of the original boxholders. The next day the society editor told him sourly, "Your covered a lot of ground last night; not only the opening of the opera, but the opening of a number of vaults in Woodlawn Cemetery."

Who "originates" anecdotes, and who has the right to stop anyone from re-telling them?

Nicholas Murray Butler summed up the situation this way: "In the case of the first person to use an anecdote, it is originality; in the second, plagiarism; in the third, rehashing a stale story. Finally, after a short interval, a fourth uses the anecdote. In this case, he is credited with research!"

Truman's World Plan May Be Very Useful—If

The President's inaugural address was so different in tone from his message on the State of the Union that it might have been written by another man—as, quite possibly, it was.

Instead of a partisan appeal, this document carried an eloquent address of the democratic way of life which is the American way, and a stinging attack on the philosophy and practice of Russo-Communism. Mr. Truman did not mention Soviet Russia, and did not need to. Significantly, he omitted any more friendly reference to "old Joe" Stalin. The public is given to understand that if any new effort is made to break the deadlock over Berlin, the initiative will come from Moscow.

Mr. Truman's response to the challenge of Communism was not merely negative. Far from it. The last point in his four point plan for world "peace, plenty and freedom" was a novel scheme for rescuing all the under-developed areas of the earth from hunger and poverty that may make them the breeding ground for Communism. Mr. Truman's plan to draw upon this country's treasury of technical and industrial know-how—and also upon its investment capital—for the purpose, is grandiose in conception. Is it permissible to ask how many of the practical details have been thought out in Washington?

The President refers to America's technical "know-how" as "inexhaustible." So it is, in a manner of speaking. But our supply of tools is not inexhaustible, and what good is technique without tools? The naming of tools requires labor and raw materials. The supplying of tools and technique to "backward" countries also calls for investment capital.

From the President Congress has already received a prodigious program of legislation, which would heavily tap the productive resources of the country, even as, through new taxes and controls, it would check the national energies. He is about to propose a further drain for military aid to Western Europe. And now he urges what might amount to a universal PWA program. And all the time he is not encouraging private enterprise and risk capital, but urging the creation of a welfare state in Washington.

For the purpose of anti-Communist propaganda, the Truman World Plan may be very useful. Insofar as the technical resources of this country can help to remove the pre-conditions of Communism, they should be used. But those resources won't even begin to meet American needs if they are hog-tied by the bureaucratic rules and controls of the welfare state.

Maneuvering Tactics Over Taft-Hartley Act

Leaders of the CIO and AFL want Congress to pass a bill repealing the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and restoring the Wagner Act, which (they suggest) could be amended later if desired. To say the least, this is not playing straight. The Wagner Act—trouble-breeding, lopsided and definitely unfair—would remain the law of the land for months, perhaps until 1950, when the 1946 election might be repeated and another Congress would come in to wipe it out. Yet Senator Claude Pepper, a member of the Democratic-controlled Labor committee proposes, without committee hearings, to submit a two-package bill to Congress, and press for its immediate passage.

For this proposal there is a stronger word than any above. Senator Taft, co-author of the law under attack, calls the thing "idiotic." That is because, under the rules of Congress, it is within the power of any Senator to submit amendments from the floor. He told Democratic Senator Pepper that he had a long list of amendments which he would offer, and these would be debated. If he chose, of course, he could offer the Taft-Hartley law, section by section, as an amendment to a simple repealer.

Pepper angrily denounces this as "filibustering," which it is not. A filibuster is something resorted to by a minority only to forestall its own defeat, while the majority of both Houses is made up of men who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act in the preceding Congress. It is recalled that those Congressmen kept themselves free to act according to their judgement as to what is good for the country. This was made possible when the Democratic National Committee sought pledges from the Democratic members of Congress, during the campaign, to vote for repeal of the law. The Christian Science Monitor disclosed in its columns, in a story written by Roscoe Drummond, that a majority of the members were unwilling to commit themselves to repeal. As a result they are at liberty to vote as they see fit after carefully weighing the arguments for and against repeal.

A true examination of all the facts is expected to be made. These will include, undoubtedly, to what extent it has benefitted the public and whether it has hurt the worker. This cannot be done hastily if it is intended to be thorough. In the event that procedure is followed, a measure closely resembling the Taft-Hartley Act, but with such amendments as experience suggests, would probably result.

...dy Shoppers

A man who brashly went shopping and bought his wife a couple of dresses just before Christmas, only to have her exchange them for something more to her liking, made another sad mistake. He went it-hunting—with her!

"Never saw anything like it; don't expect to ever witness it again," he said.

"First, she and the saleslady run a contest to see how many hats they can try on and pile up on the discard heap before them.

"Then, after half an hour of this and much preening and mirror-peeking, they both reach under the pile and come out with one tried on at the start.

"The saleslady says it looks good on her; the lady herself frowns and comments that it looks silly. Then she buys the thing!"

A wiser and more experienced man of the world chuckled with deep understanding, and said:

"Your story sounds so very familiar. They are all alike when it comes to shopping for clothes. And don't expect them to change."

Women, he was talking about.

The Washington press being what it is, no newspaper in the nation's capital pointed out during the inauguration hoopla that 50.5 per cent of the voters cast ballots against Truman in the recent election and only 49.5 for him.

Illness In The Child

MANY CHILDREN regard an illness or injury as a form of punishment. In this respect they are following ancient traditions, when misfortunes were regarded as a condemnation of the gods against sinners. This still is common belief among primitive tribes.

Parents are often responsible for fostering this opinion. How frequently we hear mothers tell their offspring that they will catch cold by going out-of-doors without a hat or rubbers; or that stomachache would not have appeared if the youngsters had eaten what they were supposed to. When Johnny is caught reading in bed with poor lights, he is cautioned that his eyes will be ruined instead of being given the real reason—that it is time to go to sleep.

"I told you so" is a standard term which contributes to the child's idea of sickness as a punishment. In many instances, parents think they are passing on healthful hints to their progeny. Actually, they are merely using expressions handed down from generation to generation, which serve as warnings to make the youngster behave. He is reminded of the few moments of exposure without his coat, but the fact that he was in contact with several sniffling children is disregarded completely.

The idea is more prevalent than we think. In 1936, the late Dr. Bert Beverly questioned a group of little patients at the Children's memorial hospital in Chicago and found that 90 per cent thought they were ill because they had been "bad." In 21 youngsters with diabetes, 18 blamed the disease on the fact that "too much sugar" had been eaten. The majority of heart cases in the the wards were convinced that "running too much" was the cause.

Where do such ideas originate? It is logical to assume that they represent impressions gathered from listening to parents or from certain remarks overheard while their condition was discussed with the physician. This attitude is only one of many reasons why some ailing children are difficult to handle; it makes them resentful and anxious. Another stumbling block is presented when the parents use the physician or an operation as a threat if the child continues to be naughty. "If you get sick, the doctor will give you a shot in the arm or bad tasting medicine" is a stock phrase to a disobedient boy or girl. Ask any medico how irksome it is to treat a little one who comes to his office with this build-up.

A well adjusted child is rarely a problem when ill. He may not know why he does not feel well but in general, wants to be left alone. The situation is new and strange and may involve unpleasant and painful experiences. It is remarkable how much trouble can be avoided by treating the youngster as a thinking, feeling, acting human being. Much can be done to dispel suspicion and resentment if the truth is made known. Moreover, when the parents are obviously fearful or concerned, the small fry are likely to become so upset emotionally that treatment is hampered.

It is not unusual for adults to become "big babies" when ill, hence it is understandable that children may regress and act younger than they are. Much of their crying and desire for affection and cuddling can be explained on this basis and should not be misconstrued as a sign that things are going from bad to worse. Such behavior is transient provided it is not encouraged long after convalescence has been completed.

Laxative

N. G. S. writes: Does taking a laxative have any effect on the food consumed within the previous half hour?

Reply

No, except to rush it along.

Wisdom Teeth

G. A. B. writes: It is often stated that wisdom teeth should be extracted soon after they are cut. Why should this be done? I have cut three of mine in three years and they are causing no trouble.

Reply

There is no need to have these teeth removed after their eruption unless they are forcing the other teeth out of line or creating a potential source of decay. Other factors that influence the judgment of the dentist are the condition of the gums surrounding the tooth and whether the newcomers are disturbing the "bite."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Way down yonder in . . .

Yes, sir, today we're coming to you from the real deep south—New Orleans. Or as they say here: "N" Awlins, man."

This is one of the most picturesque cities in America and even before the plane landed we could tell they were giving us a true southern reception. The control tower signaled us in with a neon praline on the end of a flaming corn pone.

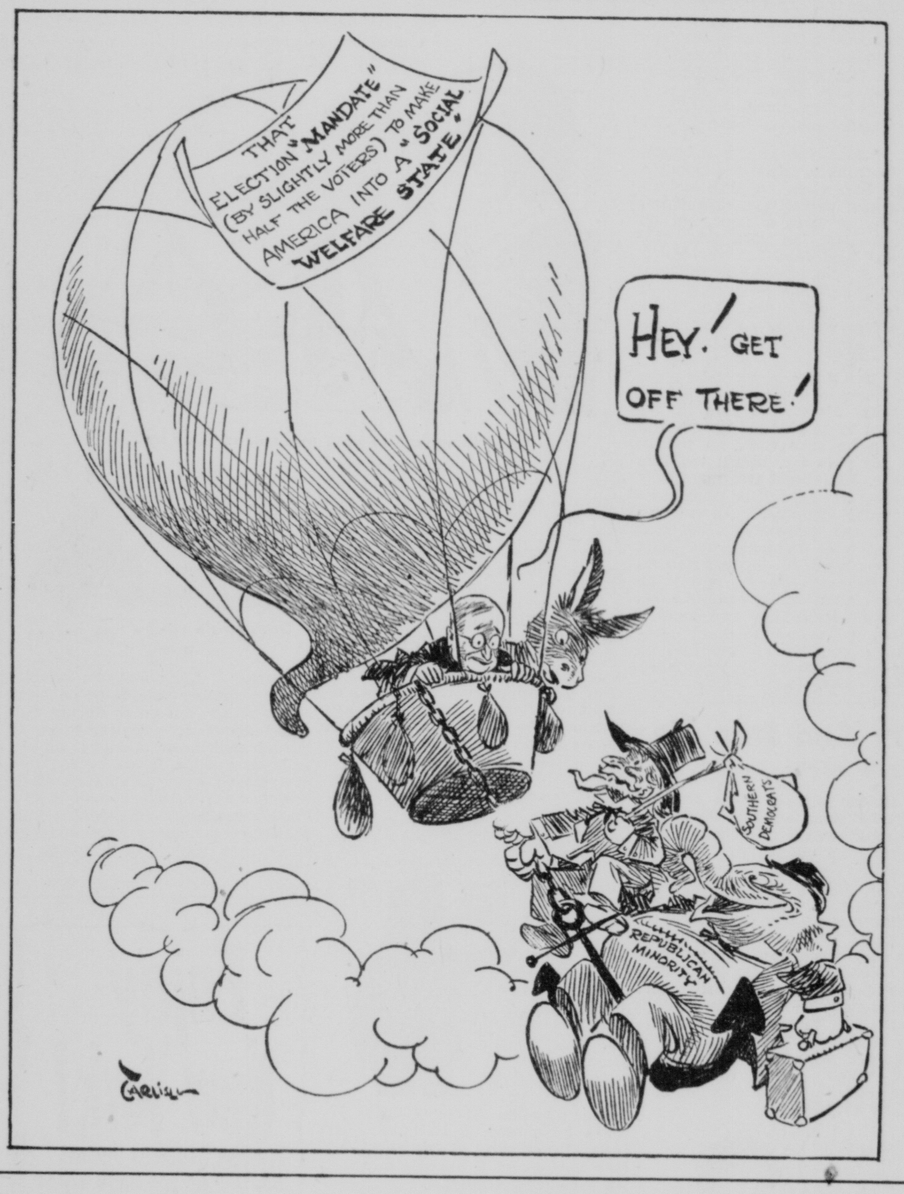

We're staying at the Roosevelt hotel here and I played golf with Seymour Weiss, who owns it. The game might have been more fun if we both hadn't been so nervous. We were playing for my rent.

Naturally the first place we had to go was Antoine's for their delicious pompano — papillot. That's French for "what are they having at the next table?"

I was also happy to see my old friend, Mayor Chep Morrison, who's the youngest looking mayor I've ever seen. I think he's the only mayor in America who isn't old enough to vote for himself.

New Orleans is, of course, the home of the original Dixieland jazz and when Les Brown's orchestra heard about it, they didn't bother taking the plane with us from Texas. They just synchronized trumpets and came in on the beam.

THIS MAY NOT BE A STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT AFTER ALL

The Washington-Merry-Go-Round

Jim Farley, Ignored At Truman's Swearing In, Laughs Last; Disappointed People Never Shook Hands With Truman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—One of the semi-comic, semi-tragic sights of inauguration was big Jim Farley, resplendent in shiny top hat, cutaway coat, with boutonniere and cane, looking for a seat at Truman's swearing-in ceremony.

Big Jim, who once ruled Roosevelt's political roost, hadn't been given a seat with the top dignitaries. The Cabinet, the Senators, the Representatives sat near the President. Other bigwigs had favored seats. But Jim Farley, his top hat towering above everyone else, had to make shift among the press and lesser-lights. He looked as ill-at-ease as the naval aide to the Governor of the Virgin Islands.

Later that afternoon, 3,000 people plus milled around in the Mellon Art Gallery waiting to shake hands with President Truman. They had received engraved invitations to this, the most exclusive of all receptions, and they had come from Omaha and Kalamazoo, Keokuk and Olathe, to greet the President of the United States.

The White House had especially asked that the littlepeople who worked for Truman—not the big socialists—be invited. Some had rented gray-striped pants and swallow-tails. Some wore tuxedos, some wore white ties and evening clothes. But they were all primed for this, the most important of all receptions.

Meanwhile Truman was still sitting on Pennsylvania Ave., watching long lines of artillery and troops, the naval cadets and armored cavalry which had done nothing to elect him and which could have been reviewed on any other day. The brass hats had put their military units near the head and middle of the parade, leaving the labor unions, the war veterans, the Negro units and civilian groups who swung the balance to elect Truman, bringing up the rear. So Truman stayed to the end.

Truman Arrives

Finally, however, he arrived at the Mellon Gallery reception. The waiting guests perked up, preened their clothes, prepared to greet the President.

'I don't want him to shake this clammy hand," said one man, wiping the moisture from his hand with a fresh-laundered handkerchief.

"The folks back home bet me I wouldn't shake hands with Truman, but now I can tell 'em this invitation meant what it said," opined another.

Hastily, the President shook hands with the foreign diplomats, waiting in a side room. Then he greeted the Cabinet in another room. Then he came out into the great rotunda of the gallery and surveyed the 3,000 or more people waiting to see him. Obviously it was hopeless. So, lifting his voice, the President announced:

"I am very glad to see you all, and I thank you for coming. I wish I could shake hands with all of you, but you can see that it's impossible. So I'm going to shake hands with the Vice President, and our ladies will shake hands. Then you can all go home and say that you've shaken hands with the President of the United States."

Whereupon Mr. Truman and Barkley held their hands aloft in a clasp that all could see, while Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Truitt, the Vice President's daughter, shook hands. Then they departed.

The crowd looked after them. Obviously they could not tell the folks at home they had shaken hands with the President for the simple reason that the press and radio would tell the true story even before they got there. Mr. Truman, they thought, should have realized this.

However, over there was Big Jim Farley, looking distinguished and handsome in his tall topper and neat-fitting cutaway. So the 3,000 disappointed guests formed in a long line and they all shook hands with Jim.

Note—He who laughs last, laughs best.

Parnell Thomas Draws Pay

Ex-Speaker Joe Martin didn't advertise it, but he had difficulty getting other Republican Congressmen to serve on the new un-American Activities Committee as long as ex-Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey remained a member.

Conscientious Congressman Pat Kearney of New York, when offered a Republican place on the Committee by Martin, turned it down. He said he wouldn't serve as long as Thomas, under indictment for conspiracy to defraud the Government, remained a Committee member.

This reveals what has been generally overlooked in the hubbub of opening Congress, that Parnell Thomas, claiming to be too sick to stand trial, is not too sick to continue as a member of the Un-American Committee.

Thus he can continue to draw pay, perhaps indefinitely, from the same Government he is under indictment for defrauding. Also he can continue getting the best medical attention in the world at Walter Reed Hospital virtually free; from the same Government he defrauded.

While there is no question that Thomas has been ill, it is also no question that he was not too ill to come to Washington last summer and bulldoze Committee witnesses in prolonged and exciting hearings, which to the witnesses concerned were just as nerve-racking as the trial which Thomas now seeks to avoid.

Fall Of China Will Have Far Reaching Consequences For U.S.

By MARK SULLIVAN

What the fall of China to Communism means to us is no longer merely a somber portent. The fall is now so close that we must look it in the face. What it means can be expressed in two sentences, the more arresting now because they were said months ago. They are by Gerald F. Winfield in "China the Land and the People":

"Our stake in Asia has now become a matter of the survival of our democracy and our standard of living, even our very existence as a free people. The outcome of China's conflict may determine the fate of the human race in the second half of the twentieth century."

That is by a scholar, whose equipment for judgment is familiarity with history and the scene, Mr. Winfield has spent a lifetime in China chiefly as an educator.

To Mr. Winfields' statement add another, peculiarly convincing because it is by a general of the United States Army. General Claire Chennault probably knows more about the strategic relation of China to the world than any other American. He helped organize the defense of China against Japan twelve years ago, has been in China since, was head of our Air Force in China during the war. From that background General Chennault speaks with terrifying explicitness about the place of China in the strategic concept of the Russian and Communist heads. Almost it is as if he were saying that tomorrow follows today:

"The Communist leaders . . . will not deliberately resort to open warfare until they have obtained certain strategic objectives which they consider necessary for victory. The domination of China is one of these strategical essentials necessary of attainment before they can feel safe in making war on the world... The Communists will not launch an attack in the West until they have secured their Eastern continental front by the Communization of China."

As we see China about to fall to the Communists and grasp the coming consequences our deep concern must be made bitter by self-reproach. The present crisis will bring to us what few gave thought to before, realization that for the fall of China to Communism we bear a direct responsibility. Through secret agreements made by President Roosevelt with Premier Stalin at Yalta in February, 1945. Russia after the war was given territorial acquisitions, control over railroads and other advantages, at the expense of China. From this territory and by these advantages Communism got impetus and leverage for its drive against the Chinese government. And after the war we demanded that the Chinese government under Chiang Kai-shek take the Communist heads into a coalition. And when he refused, we suspended the shipment of arms that we had been providing during the war.

That part of it is over now, though it will be studied for generations by scholars seeking the roots of what will have changed the map of the world physically and ideologically.

For the present, turn to the immediate consequences, what specifically will follow the fall of China to Communism. One group of the consequences will have to do with Russia's attempt to dominate the world ideologically. With this goes at all times possibility that the attempt may include war. Within this field is a judgment held by some of the highest military experts. It is that, looking to the possibility of being forced into war, we cannot now count on victory with the degree of confidence that experts have had in the past. Their judgment now is that our confidence cannot go with certainty beyond a stalemate.

Several of the direct consequences, while practically certain, may vary in their immediacy, something depends on just what immediate uses Communism makes of its new leverage. Some consequences come into existence at once by the force of changed conditions. These include: probable expansion of Communism in Southeast Asia, especially Burma and Indo-China; greater threat of Communism to Indonesia; increased reduction of shipment of raw material from Southeast Asia and Indonesia to Europe, to the detriment of economic recovery and of resistence to Communism on that continent.

Two immediate consequences bear directly on us. Our position in Korea becomes untenable, we can continue there only so long as the Communist heads choose not to drive us out. In Japan we must increase our expenditures and prolong them. For Japan can recover only by trade with China. And this will now be at the sufferance of the Communists.

Democratic Party In Congress Heads For "Intolerable" Title

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—The 80th Congress may have been the "worst congress" from some viewpoints, because it refused to spend more of the public's money for social-welfare projects, but the Democratic majority in the 81st Congress is starting off to earn the title of the "most intolerant."

The Democrats already are talking of forbidding any public hearings whatsoever on new legislation to replace the Taft-Hartley Act. The House of Representatives is talking of allowing only a day to consider minimum-wage legislation and to steamroller a new bill through without hearings, thus depriving the citizens of an opportunity to be heard.

But the most amazing example of a denial of the rights of the people is the capricious way the leadership of the Democratic Party in the House has decided on certain committee assignments.

Only lawyers, for instance, are to be permitted to serve as members of the Democraitc majority on the House committee investigating un-American activities. This is but a subterfuge to get rid of Representative Herbert of Louisiana, who did not support Mr. Truman in the last election but voted for Governor Thurmond.

Argument Court Plague Democrats

The specious argument that only lawyers can serve on the un-American Activities Committee can raise to plague the Democrats. For it can lead to demands for discrimination in choosing the members of other committees. Perhaps the Democratic chiefs will be asked to decide next that only members who once held cards in labor unions are eligible for membership on the House labor committee or that only persons who have once been farmers can serve on the Agriculture committee.

It would be in line for members with banking experience to insist that they should have precedence in selections for the banking and currency committee, which could mean that men of one viewpoint could dominate such a committee.

The hypocrisy of the action taken by the Democratic leaders becomes immediately aparent when it is noted that the rule about "lawyers only" is not to be applied to the House committee on the judiciary, which has charge really of all legal matters and problems relating to the federal judiciary and the judicial code.

The people of America do not choose their representatives in Congress on the basis of their experience in certain professions or occupations. The people of all districts have a right to representation on important committees because of the all-round ability of the men or women elected. To say that Representative Herbert of Louisiana, Democrat, who already has had experience on the House un-American Activities Committee and is generally regarded as fair and impartial in his handling of witnesses, is now to be unseated because he doesn't happen to have been a lawyer is to give an example of arbitrariness and intolerance which certainly doesn't come under the head of either "fair deal" or "liberalism."

Lawyers Can Be Headline Hunters

Even lawyers can be headline hunters. Also the theory that lawyers make the best jurors has often been disputed. Certainly not all lawyers are judicial-minded. Many of them are prosecution-minded. There is, therefore, no real logic or consistency in the new rule. It can only mean that the Truman administration is back of the "purge" and that, sooner or later, if the author of the "red herring" phrase has his way, the un-American Activities Committee will be stripped of its powers and perhaps abolished—and all Communists will then have a right to rejoice.

Were this the only issue involved, it would be serious enough, but a trend toward squelching an opposition viewpoint is dangerous. In a communistic regime the one-party system flourishes, but in a democracy opposition, even within a political party, has always been considered healthy.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Court Of Justice

Some of the judges on the International Military Tribunal had a difficult time reconciling justice with political punishment. The idea that an entire nation is guilty for a war and that each individual in it is liable to punishment is certainly not American. Our view is better expressed by the draft; that is, Congress once having decided upon war, each citizen is expected to do his duty.

In a decision involving I. G. Farben, Judges Curtis G. Shake of Indiana and James Morris of North Dakota, Judge Paul M. Hebert of Louisiana concurring, wrote a decision which today is buried in the archives of the tribunal but which may some day become important should international law and morality ever be resurrected. The judges said:

"To depart from the concept that only major war criminals—that is, those persons in the political, military, and industrials fields, for example, who were responsible for the formulation and execution of politics—may be held liable for waging wars of aggression would lead far afield. Under such circumstances there could be no practical limitation on criminal responsibility that would not include, on principle, the private soldier on the battlefield, the farmer who increased his production of foodstuffs to sustain the armed forces, or the housewife who conserved fats for the making of munitions . . ."

And, of course, what is said of Germany is now true of Japan, and may some day be true of the United States, should we ever fight a losing war. For therein lies the danger in all this. As long as we are victors, we can enforce our will, but what we have actually done at the Nuremberg and Tokyo tribunals has been to lay down the precedent that the victor alone determines what is to be done to the conquered people.

Judges Shake and Morris make this point:

". . . it is, of course, unthinkable that the majority of Germans should be condemned as guilt of committing crimes against peace. This would amount to a determination of collective guilt to which the corollary of mass punishment is the logical result for which there is no precedent in international law and no justification in human relations. We cannot say that a private citizen shall be placed in the position of being compelled to determine in the heat of war whether his government is right or wrong, or, if it starts right, when it turns wrong. We would not require the citizen, at the risk of becoming a criminal under the rules of international justice, to decide that this country has become an aggressor and that he must lay aside his patriotism, the loyalty to his homeland, and the defense of his own fireside at the risk of being adjudged guilty of crimes against peace on the one hand, or of becoming a traitor to his country on the other, if he makes an erroneous decision based upon facts of which he has but vague knowledge . . ."

Under such a rule of life, only the traitor, the coward, the Quisling, the bribed agent, would be right and everyone else wrong. Many in the United States today hold that view when applied to some other country. They would, of course, deny an American citizen the right to betray his country in time of war, although they expect every citizen of every other country to do it at their convenience.

Those who forced the Chicago Symphony orchestra to cancel the contract of the conductor, Wilhelm Furtwaengler, were of the opinion that he should not have conducted in Germany during the Nazi regime and when his country was at war with ours. And it is a pity that those who control the Chicago Symphony orchestra permitted themselves to be coerced into an acceptance of this outrageous view.

Undoubtedly their reasoning was that the anti-Furtwaengler pressure group was more vociferous than the unorganized majority of Americans who fight a war not against individuals but against countries. How silly to spend billions on the Berlin airlift yet to practice vengeance on an orchestra conductor or a soprano!

At any rate, one is proud of the fact that some of our American judges believe in justice and tell the truth.

Gadgets

I have always been fascinated by gadgets. I cannot pass a store where they are displayed without a visit inside. I have a knife that has about every useful device to it but a shovel! And I always carry with me a small thing that looks like a fountain pen, but which has a number of tiny screw drivers in it of varying sizes. It has come in handy many a time.

Dining with America's latest humorist, Herb Shriner, recently, we got to talking about gadgets, and he confessed to the same love for them that I have. He opened his carrying case and pulled out one after another. He is a lover of boats and unscrewed a small capsule that showed a small indicator that gave you the velocity of the wind, when held in the air!

Lighters, small tools, compasses, and an endless variety of gadgets are to be had in any specialty store. I recently read of a chap who invented gadgets to get laughs out of his friends. No party that he attended could ever be dull when he got started with his many devices for fun making! He is known at them all as "the life of the party!"

I came across an interesting gadget for my car recently—an altimeter which shows at all times whether I am above or below sea level—or, in other words, whether I am up or down. It's fun, and interesting to know this, when traveling, though not so important. There are any number of gadgets that may be added to one's car, but I have not yet discovered one, that when attached, will allow the car to run without gas! There is one that will show direction, however, and one that will suggest a stop or a turn.

I can see how a very interesting hobby can be acquired through the collection of gadgets—and I may try it some day, for these gadgets stimulate the imagination and help us to think creatively. That in itself is well worth while.

As an amateur photographer, I am always indulging in some gadgets that will increase my efficiency as a picture taker, or that will add to my love of this pursuit. I have come across a camera that you can even carry in your vest pocket!

Truman's World Plan May Be Very Useful—If

The President's inaugural address was so different in tone from his message on the State of the Union that it might have been written by another man—as, quite possibly, it was.

Instead of a partisan appeal, this document carried an eloquent address of the democratic way of life which is the American way, and a stinging attack on the philosophy and practice of Russo-Communism. Mr. Truman did not mention Soviet Russia, and did not need to. Significantly, he omitted any more friendly reference to "old Joe" Stalin. The public is given to understand that if any new effort is made to break the deadlock over Berlin, the initiative will come from Moscow.

Mr. Truman's response to the challenge of Communism was not merely negative. Far from it. The last point in his four point plan for world "peace, plenty and freedom" was a novel scheme for rescuing all the under-developed areas of the earth from hunger and poverty that may make them the breeding ground for Communism. Mr. Truman's plan to draw upon this country's treasury of technical and industrial know-how—and also upon its investment capital—for the purpose, is grandiose in conception. Is it permissible to ask how many of the practical details have been thought out in Washington?

The President refers to America's technical "know-how" as "inexhaustible." So it is, in a manner of speaking. But our supply of tools is not inexhaustible, and what good is technique without tools? The naming of tools requires labor and raw materials. The supplying of tools and technique to "backward" countries also calls for investment capital.

From the President Congress has already received a prodigious program of legislation, which would heavily tap the productive resources of the country, even as, through new taxes and controls, it would check the national energies. He is about to propose a further drain for military aid to Western Europe. And now he urges what might amount to a universal PWA program. And all the time he is not encouraging private enterprise and risk capital, but urging the creation of a welfare state in Washington.

For the purpose of anti-Communist propaganda, the Truman World Plan may be very useful. Insofar as the technical resources of this country can help to remove the pre-conditions of Communism, they should be used. But those resources won't even begin to meet American needs if they are hog-tied by the bureaucratic rules and controls of the welfare state.

Maneuvering Tactics Over Taft-Hartley Act

Leaders of the CIO and AFL want Congress to pass a bill repealing the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and restoring the Wagner Act, which (they suggest) could be amended later if desired. To say the least, this is not playing straight. The Wagner Act—trouble-breeding, lopsided and definitely unfair—would remain the law of the land for months, perhaps until 1950, when the 1946 election might be repeated and another Congress would come in to wipe it out. Yet Senator Claude Pepper, a member of the Democratic-controlled Labor committee proposes, without committee hearings, to submit a two-package bill to Congress, and press for its immediate passage.

For this proposal there is a stronger word than any above. Senator Taft, co-author of the law under attack, calls the thing "idiotic." That is because, under the rules of Congress, it is within the power of any Senator to submit amendments from the floor. He told Democratic Senator Pepper that he had a long list of amendments which he would offer, and these would be debated. If he chose, of course, he could offer the Taft-Hartley law, section by section, as an amendment to a simple repealer.

Pepper angrily denounces this as "filibustering," which it is not. A filibuster is something resorted to by a minority only to forestall its own defeat, while the majority of both Houses is made up of men who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act in the preceding Congress. It is recalled that those Congressmen kept themselves free to act according to their judgement as to what is good for the country. This was made possible when the Democratic National Committee sought pledges from the Democratic members of Congress, during the campaign, to vote for repeal of the law. The Christian Science Monitor disclosed in its columns, in a story written by Roscoe Drummond, that a majority of the members were unwilling to commit themselves to repeal. As a result they are at liberty to vote as they see fit after carefully weighing the arguments for and against repeal.

A true examination of all the facts is expected to be made. These will include, undoubtedly, to what extent it has benefitted the public and whether it has hurt the worker. This cannot be done hastily if it is intended to be thorough. In the event that procedure is followed, a measure closely resembling the Taft-Hartley Act, but with such amendments as experience suggests, would probably result.

...dy Shoppers

A man who brashly went shopping and bought his wife a couple of dresses just before Christmas, only to have her exchange them for something more to her liking, made another sad mistake. He went out-hunting—with her!

"Never saw anything like it; don't expect to ever witness it again," he said.

"First, she and the saleslady run a contest to see how many hats they can try on and pile up on the discard heap before them.

"Then, after half an hour of this and much preening and mirror-peeking, they both reach under the pile and come out with one tried on at the start.

"The saleslady says it looks good on her; the lady herself frowns and comments that it looks silly. Then she buys the thing!"

A wiser and more experienced man of the world chuckled with deep understanding, and said:

"Your story sounds so very familiar. They are all alike when it comes to shopping for clothes. And don't expect them to change."

Women, he was talking about.

The Washington press being what it is, no newspaper in the nation's capital pointed out during the inauguration hoopla that 50.5 per cent of the voters cast ballots against Truman in the recent election and only 49.5 for him.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Illness In The Child

MANY CHILDREN regard an illness or injury as a form of punishment. In this respect they are following ancient traditions, when misfortunes were regarded as a condemnation of the gods against sinners. This still is common belief among primitive tribes.

Parents are often responsible for fostering this opinion. How frequently we hear mothers tell their offspring that they will catch cold by going out-of-doors without a hat or rubbers; or that stomachache would not have appeared if the youngsters had eaten what they were supposed to. When Johnny is caught reading in bed with poor lights, he is cautioned that his eyes will be ruined instead of being given the real reason—that it is time to go to sleep.

"I told you so" is a standard term which contributes to the child's idea of sickness as a punishment. In many instances, parents think they are passing on healthful hints to their progeny. Actually, they are merely using expressions handed down from generation to generation, which serve as warnings to make the youngster behave. He is reminded of the few moments of exposure without his coat, but the fact that he was in contact with several sniffling children is disregarded completely.

The idea is more prevalent than we think. In 1936, the late Dr. Bert Beverly questioned a group of little patients at the Children's memorial hospital in Chicago and found that 90 per cent thought they were ill because they had been "bad." In 21 youngsters with diabetes, 18 blamed the disease on the fact that "too much sugar" had been eaten. The majority of heart cases in the the wards were convinced that "running too much" was the cause.

Where do such ideas originate? It is logical to assume that they represent impressions gathered from listening to parents or from certain remarks overheard while their condition was discussed with the physician. This attitude is only one of many reasons why some ailing children are difficult to handle; it makes them resentful and anxious. Another stumbling block is presented when the parents use the physician or an operation as a threat if the child continues to be naughty. "If you get sick, the doctor will give you a shot in the arm or bad tasting medicine" is a stock phrase to a disobedient boy or girl. Ask any medico how irksome it is to treat a little one who comes to his office with this build-up.

A well adjusted child is rarely a problem when ill. He may not know why he does not feel well but in general, wants to be left alone. The situation is new and strange and may involve unpleasant and painful experiences. It is remarkable how much trouble can be avoided by treating the youngster as a thinking, feeling, acting human being. Much can be done to dispel suspicion and resentment if the truth is made known. Moreover, when the parents are obviously fearful or concerned, the small fry are likely to become so upset emotionally that treatment is hampered.

It is not unusual for adults to become "big babies" when ill, hence it is understandable that children may regress and act younger than they are. Much of their crying and desire for affection and cuddling can be explained on this basis and should not be misconstrued as a sign that things are going from bad to worse. Such behavior is transient provided it is not encouraged long after convalescence has been completed.

Laxative

N. G. S. writes: Does taking a laxative have any effect on the food consumed within the previous half hour?

Reply

No, except to rush it along.

Wisdom Teeth

G. A. B. writes: It is often stated that wisdom teeth should be extracted soon after they are cut. Why should this be done? I have cut three of mine in three years and they are causing no trouble.

Reply

There is no need to have these teeth removed after their eruption unless they are forcing the other teeth out of line or creating a potential source of decay. Other factors that influence the judgment of the dentist are the condition of the gums surrounding the tooth and whether the newcomers are disturbing the "bite."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Way down yonder in . . .

Yes, sir, today we're coming to you from the real deep south—New Orleans. Or as they say here: "N" Awlins, man."

This is one of the most picturesque cities in America and even before the plane landed we could tell they were giving us a true southern reception. The control tower signaled us in with a neon praline on the end of a flaming corn pone.

We're staying at the Roosevelt hotel here and I played golf with Seymour Weiss, who owns it. The game might have been more fun if we both hadn't been so nervous. We were playing for my rent.

Naturally the first place we had to go was Antoine's for their delicious pompano — papillot. That's French for "what are they having at the next table?"

I was also happy to see my old friend, Mayor Chep Morrison, who's the youngest looking mayor I've ever seen. I think he's the only mayor in America who isn't old enough to vote for himself:

New Orleans is, of course, the home of the original Dixieland jazz and when Les Brown's orchestra heard about it, they didn't bother taking the plane with us from Texas. They just synchronized trumpets and came in on the beam.

THIS MAY NOT BE A STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT AFTER ALL

The Washington-Merry-Go-Round

Jim Farley, Ignored At Truman's Swearing In, Laughs Last; Disappointed People Never Shook Hands With Truman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—One of the semi-comic, semi-tragic sights of inauguration was big Jim Farley, resplendent in shiny top hat, cutaway coat, with boutonniere and cane, looking for a seat at Truman's swearing-in ceremony.

Big Jim, who once ruled Roosevelt's political roost, hadn't been given a seat with the top dignitaries. The Cabinet, the Senators, the Representatives sat near the President. Other bigwigs had favored seats. But Jim Farley, his top hat towering above everyone else, had to make shift among the press and lesser-lights. He looked as ill-at-ease as the naval aide to the Governor of the Virgin Islands.

Later that afternoon, 3,000 people plus milled around in the Mellon Art Gallery waiting to shake hands with President Truman. They had received engraved invitations to this, the most exclusive of all receptions, and they had come from Omaha and Kalamazoo, Keokuk and Olathe, to greet the President of the United States.

The White House had especially asked that the littlepeople who worked for Truman—not the big socialists—be invited. Some had rented gray-striped pants and swallow-tails. Some wore tuxedos, some wore white ties and evening clothes. But they were all primed for this, the most important of all receptions.

Meanwhile Truman was still sitting on Pennsylvania Ave., watching long lines of artillery and troops, the naval cadets and armored cavalry which had done nothing to elect him and which could have been reviewed on any other day. The brass hats had put their military units near the head and middle of the parade, leaving the labor unions, the war veterans, the Negro units and civilian groups who swung the balance to elect Truman, bringing up the rear. So Truman stayed to the end.

Truman Arrives

Finally, however, he arrived at the Mellon Gallery reception. The waiting guests perked up, preened their clothes, prepared to greet the President.

'I don't want him to shake this clammy hand," said one man, wiping the moisture from his hand with a fresh-laundered handkerchief.

"The folks back home bet me I wouldn't shake hands with Truman, but now I can tell 'em this invitation meant what it said," opined another.

Hastily, the President shook hands with the foreign diplomats, waiting in a side room. Then he greeted the Cabinet in another room. Then he came out into the great rotunda of the gallery and surveyed the 3,000 or more people waiting to see him. Obviously it was hopeless. So, lifting his voice, the President announced:

"I am very glad to see you all, and I thank you for coming. I wish I could shake hands with all of you, but you can see that it's impossible. So I'm going to shake hands with the Vice President, and our ladies will shake hands. Then you can all go home and say that you've shaken hands with the President of the United States."

Whereupon Mr. Truman and Barkley held their hands aloft in a clasp that all could see, while Mrs. Truman and Mrs. Truitt, the Vice President's daughter, shook hands. Then they departed.

The crowd looked after them. Obviously they could not tell the folks at home they had shaken hands with the President for the simple reason that the press and radio would tell the true story even before they got there. Mr. Truman, they thought, should have realized this.

However, over there was Big Jim Farley, looking distinguished and handsome in his tall topper and neat-fitting cutaway. So the 3,000 disappointed guests formed in a long line and they all shook hands with Jim.

Parnell Thomas Draws Pay

Ex-Speaker Joe Martin didn't advertise it, but he had difficulty getting other Republican Congressmen to serve on the new un-American Activities Committee as long as ex-Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey remained a member.

Conscientious Congressman Pat Kearney of New York, when offered a Republican place on the Commiftee by Martin, turned it down. He said he wouldn't serve as long as Thomas, under indictment for conspiracy to defraud the Government, remained a Committee member.

This reveals what has been generally overlooked in the hubbub of opening Congress, that Parnell Thomas, claiming to be too sick to stand trial, is not too sick to continue as a member of the Un-American Committee.

Thus he can continue to draw pay, perhaps indefinitely, from the same Government he is under indictment for defrauding. Also he can continue getting the best medical attention in the world at Walter Reed Hospital virtually free; from the same Government he defrauded.

While there is no question that Thomas has been ill, it is also no question that he was not too ill to come to Washington last summer and bulldoze Committee witnesses in prolonged and exciting hearings, which to the witnesses concerned were just as nerve-racking as the trial which Thomas now seeks to avoid.

Fall Of China Will Have Far Reaching Consequences For U.S.

By MARK SULLIVAN

What the fall of China to Communism means to us is no longer merely a somber portent. The fall is now so close that we must look it in the face. What it means can be expressed in two sentences, the more arresting now because they were said months ago. They are by Gerald F. Winfield in "China the Land and the People":

"Our stake in Asia has now become a matter of the survival of our democracy and our standard of living, even our very existence as a free people. The outcome of China's conflict may determine the fate of the human race in the second half of the twentieth century."

That is by a scholar, whose equipment for judgment is familiarity with history and the scene, Mr. Winfield has spent a lifetime in China chiefly as an educator.

To Mr. Winfields' statement add another, peculiarly convincing because it is by a general of the United States Army. General Claire Chennault probably knows more about the strategic relation of China to the world than any other American. He helped organize the defense of China against Japan twelve years ago, has been in China since, was head of our Air Force in China during the war. From that background General Chennault speaks with terrifying explicitness about the place of China in the strategic concept of the Russian and Communist heads. Almost it is as if he were saying that tomorrow follows today:

"The Communist leaders . . . will not deliberately resort to open warfare until they have obtained certain strategic objectives which they consider necessary for victory. The domination of China is one of these strategical essentials necessary of attainment before they can feel safe in making war on the world... The Communists will not launch an attack in the West until they have secured their Eastern continental front by the Communization of China."

As we see China about to fall to the Communists and grasp the coming consequences our deep concern must be made bitter by self-reproach. The present crisis will bring to us what few gave thought to before, realization that for the fall of China to Communism we bear a direct responsibility. Through secret agreements made by President Roosevelt with Premier Stalin at Yalta in February, 1945. Russia after the war was given territorial acquisitions, control over railroads and other advantages, at the expense of China. From this territory and by these advantages Communism got impetus and leverage for its drive against the Chinese government. And after the war we demanded that the Chinese government under Chiang Kai-shek take the Communist heads into a coalition. And when he refused, we suspended the shipment of arms that we had been providing during the war.

That part of it is over now, though it will be studied for generations by scholars seeking the roots of what will have changed the map of the world physically and ideologically.

For the present, turn to the immediate consequences, what specifically will follow the fall of China to Communism. One group of the consequences will have to do with Russia's attempt to dominate the world ideologically. With this goes at all times possibility that the attempt may include war. Within this field is a judgment held by some of the highest military experts. It is that, looking to the possibility of being forced into war, we cannot now count on victory with the degree of confidence that experts have had in the past. Their judgment now is that our confidence cannot go with certainty beyond a stalemate.

Several of the direct consequences, while practically certain, may vary in their immediacy, something depends on just what immediate uses Communism makes of its new leverage. Some consequences come into existence at once by the force of changed conditions. These include: probable expansion of Communism in Southeast Asia, especially Burma and Indo-China; greater threat of Communism to Indonesia; increased reduction of shipment of raw material from Southeast Asia and Indonesia to Europe, to the detriment of economic recovery and of resistence to Communism on that continent.

Two immediate consequences bear directly on us. Our position in Korea becomes untenable, we can continue there only so long as the Communist heads choose not to drive us out. In Japan we must increase our expenditures and prolong them. For Japan can recover only by trade with China. And this will now be at the sufferance of the Communists.

Democratic Party In Congress Heads For "Intolerable" Title

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—The 80th Congress may have been the "worst congress" from some viewpoints, because it refused to spend more of the public's money for social-welfare projects, but the Democratic majority in the 81st Congress is starting off to earn the title of the "most intolerant."

The Democrats already are talking of forbidding any public hearings whatsoever on new legislation to replace the Taft-Hartley Act. The House of Representatives is talking of allowing only a day to consider minimum-wage legislation and to steamroller a new bill through without hearings, thus depriving the citizens of an opportunity to be heard.

But the most amazing example of a denial of the rights of the people is the capricious way the leadership of the Democratic Party in the House has decided on certain committee assignments.

Only lawyers, for instance, are to be permitted to serve as members of the Democraitc majority on the House committee investigating un-American activities. This is but a subterfuge to get rid of Representative Herbert of Louisiana, who did not support Mr. Truman in the last election but voted for Governor Thurmond.

Argument Court Plague Democrats

The specious argument that only lawyers can serve on the un-American Activities Committee can raise to plague the Democrats. For it can lead to demands for discrimination in choosing the members of other committees. Perhaps the Democratic chiefs will be asked to decide next that only members who once held cards in labor unions are eligible for membership on the House labor committee or that only persons who have once been farmers can serve on the Agriculture committee.

It would be in line for members with banking experience to insist that they should have precedence in selections for the banking and currency committee, which could mean that men of one viewpoint could dominate such a committee.

The hypocrisy of the action taken by the Democratic leaders becomes immediately aparent when it is noted that the rule about "lawyers only" is not to be applied to the House committee on the judiciary, which has charge really of all legal matters and problems relating to the federal judiciary and the judicial code.

The people of America do not choose their representatives in Congress on the basis of their experience in certain professions or occupations. The people of all districts have a right to representation on important committees because of the all-round ability of the men or women elected. To say that Representative Herbert of Louisiana, Democrat, who already has had experience on the House un-American Activities Committee and is generally regarded as fair and impartial in his handling of witnesses, is now to be unseated because he doesn't happen to have been a lawyer is to give an example of arbitrariness and intolerance which certainly doesn't come under the head of either "fair deal" or "liberalism."

Lawyers Can Be Headline Hunters

Even lawyers can be headline hunters. Also the theory that lawyers make the best jurors has often been disputed. Certainly not all lawyers are judicial-minded. Many of them are prosecution-minded. There is, therefore, no real logic or consistency in the new rule. It can only mean that the Truman administration is back of the "purge" and that, sooner or later, if the author of the "red herring" phrase has his way, the un-American Activities Committee will be stripped of its powers and perhaps abolished—and all Communists will then have a right to rejoice.

Were this the only issue involved, it would be serious enough, but a trend toward squelching an opposition viewpoint is dangerous. In a communistic regime the one-party system flourishes, but in a democracy opposition, even within a political party, has always been considered healthy.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Court Of Justice

Some of the judges on the International Military Tribunal had a difficult time reconciling justice with political punishment. The idea that an entire nation is guilty for a war and that each individual in it is liable to punishment is certainly not American. Our view is better expressed by the draft; that is, Congress once having decided upon war, each citizen is expected to do his duty.

In a decision involving I. G. Farben, Judges Curtis G. Shake of Indiana and James Morris of North Dakota, Judge Paul M. Hebert of Louisiana concurring, wrote a decision which today is buried in the archives of the tribunal but which may some day become important should international law and morality ever be resurrected. The judges said:

"To depart from the concept that only major war criminals—that is, those persons in the political, military, and industrials fields, for example, who were responsible for the formulation and execution of politics—may be held liable for waging wars of aggression would lead far afield. Under such circumstances there could be no practical limitation on criminal responsibility that would not include, on principle, the private soldier on the battlefield, the farmer who increased his production of foodstuffs to sustain the armed forces, or the housewife who conserved fats for the making of munitions . . ."

And, of course, what is said of Germany is now true of Japan, and may some day be true of the United States, should we ever fight a losing war. For therein lies the danger in all this. As long as we are victors, we can enforce our will, but what we have actually done at the Nuremberg and Tokyo tribunals has been to lay down the precedent that the victor alone determines what is to be done to the conquered people.

Judges Shake and Morris make this point:

". . . it is, of course, unthinkable that the majority of Germans should be condemned as guilt of committing crimes against peace. This would amount to a determination of collective guilt to which the corollary of mass punishment is the logical result for which there is no precedent in international law and no justification in human relations. We cannot say that a private citizen shall be placed in the position of being compelled to determine in the heat of war whether his government is right or wrong, or, if it starts right, when it turns wrong. We would not require the citizen, at the risk of becoming a criminal under the rules of international justice, to decide that this country has become an aggressor and that he must lay aside his patriotism, the loyalty to his homeland, and the defense of his own fireside at the risk of being adjudged guilty of crimes against peace on the one hand, or of becoming a traitor to his country on the other, if he makes an erroneous decision based upon facts of which he has but vague knowledge . . ."

Under such a rule of life, only the traitor, the coward, the Quisling, the bribed agent, would be right and everyone else wrong. Many in the United States today hold that view when applied to some other country. They would, of course, deny an American citizen the right to betray his country in time of war, although they expect every citizen of every other country to do it at their convenience.

Those who forced the Chicago Symphony orchestra to cancel the contract of the conductor, Wilhelm Furtwaengler, were of the opinion that he should not have conducted in Germany during the Nazi regime and when his country was at war with ours. And it is a pity that those who control the Chicago Symphony orchestra permitted themselves to be coerced into an acceptance of this outrageous view.

Undoubtedly their reasoning was that the anti-Furtwaengler pressure group was more vociferous than the unorganized majority of Americans who fight a war not against individuals but against countries. How silly to spend billions on the Berlin airlift yet to practice vengeance on an orchestra conductor or a soprano!

At any rate, one is proud of the fact that some of our American judges believe in justice and tell the truth.

Gadgets

I have always been fascinated by gadgets. I cannot pass a store where they are displayed without a visit inside. I have a knife that has about every useful device to it but a shovel! And I always carry with me a small thing that looks like a fountain pen, but which has a number of tiny screw drivers in it of varying sizes. It has come in handy many a time.

Dining with America's latest humorist, Herb Shriner, recently, we got to talking about gadgets, and he confessed to the same love for them that I have. He opened his carrying case and pulled out one after another. He is a lover of boats and unscrewed a small capsule that showed a small indicator that gave you the velocity of the wind, when held in the air!

Lighters, small tools, compasses, and an endless variety of gadgets are to be had in any specialty store. I recently read of a chap who invented gadgets to get laughs out of his friends. No party that he attended could ever be dull when he got started with his many devices for fun making! He is known at them all as "the life of the party!"

I came across an interesting gadget for my car recently—an altimeter which shows at all times whether I am above or below sea level—or, in other words, whether I am up or down. It's fun, and interesting to know this, when traveling, though not so important. There are any number of gadgets that may be added to one's car, but I have not yet discovered one, that when attached, will allow the car to run without gas! There is one that will show direction, however, and one that will suggest a stop or a turn.

I can see how a very interesting hobby can be acquired through the collection of gadgets—and I may try it some day, for these gadgets stimulate the imagination and help us to think creatively. That in itself is well worth while.

As an amateur photographer, I am always indulging in some gadgets that will increase my efficiency as a picture taker, or that will add to my love of this pursuit. I have come across a camera that you can even carry in your vest pocket!

Air Force Show Moves To Tuesday Night On Mutual

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—MBS, continuing its process of program alterations, is delving this time into Tuesday night. At 9:30 it has decided to drop the Lone Wolf whodun-it and in its place put the Air Force program. This show formerly was Sunday afternoons.

For the first of the night series Bob Hope is scheduled to guest appear, his part to be recoded in view of the fact his own NBC show is on just a half-hour ahead of this one.

America's Town meeting, continuing its ABC broadcast will argue over "Are We Educating For Modern Man's Needs?" The usual time is 8:30. On the speaking roster will be Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, President George D. Stoddard of the University of Illinois, Clifton Fadiman, of the ex - information please, and President James R. Killian jr. of Massachusetts institute of technology. In view of the fact the program is originating from Philadelphia there will not be the usual simultaneous telecast.

Works of three composers, Tschaikowsky, Still and De Falla, will be available when the Detroit symphony of Detroit does its regular concert for 45 minutes on ABC at 9:45.

To mark Negro history week, a special drama, "The Story of Phyllis Wheatley," a poetess, will be presented in a CBS special at 10:30.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Inside A Gag Writer's Mind

HOLLYWOOD.

Radio gag writers are a very specialized branch of the vertebrate family, dealing as they do almost exclusively in the old switcheroo. After years of turning jokes and phrases upside down, they become as fast and agile with a switcheroo as a con man with three shells and, as a matter of fact, some of them look a little like a con man too.

John Crosby

Jack Douglas, who has written comedy for half a dozen programs, including Jimmy Durante's and Jack Carson's, is the specimen I happen to have at hand and he possesses as fine a bundle of eccentricities as any one in the profession. Douglas won't drive on Balboa Avenue because he's afraid he might run over a dog. There aren't any more dogs on Balboa Avenue than anywhere else, but you can't convince him.

He has a vast and improbable house at North Ridge which he designed himself by cutting out magazine pictures of rooms that caught his fancy. The driveway is dotted with signs that get progressively more insulting—"No Trespassing," "Keep Out," "Go Away," "Get OUT of here." There was and still is some talk of putting an alligator farm next door, so Douglas thoughtfully painted a sign—North Ridge Lion Farm—at the foothills of his estate. Behind the sign is a loud-speaker from which emerge recorded lion roars.

• — • — •

Once Douglas was chatting with a sponsor after a script conference when another writer approached and said he'd like to speak to him. "Go ahead," said Douglas.

The other writer glanced nervously at the sponsor and muttered, "Not in front of the client."

"Well," said Douglas, "spell it."

Douglas likes to tell people that he never had a mother. "We were very poor," he explains. Despite this omission, the first chapter of his book is entitled "Mother" and the word appears frequently in the text. ("Horace pawned his mother and bought a revolver.")

The book, named "No Navel to Guide Him" (With Dirty Pictures by Currier & Ives) carries on its cover the legend—"This Book Bans Boston"—and is altogether as fine a collection of switcheroos as you'll find anywhere. The book has a little of everything—anecdotes about his great-uncle Cosgrave ("He's the one with the nest of robins instead of hair"), luncheon suggestions, geography and history.

Some of the chapter headings are "Moonlight, Magnolias and Juvenile Delinquency," "For Men Only" ("Hold a lighted match behind this page"), "How to Train an Aardvark." Page 57 consists of just one line. "Disregard preceding two pages—letter follows."

"A chapter about India," writes Douglas in his chapter about India, "would be incomplete without extensive mention of Mahatma Gandhi, therefore let us consider this chapter incomplete, shall we?"

"In 1863," another chapter starts, "my uncle Rodney was shot by a firing squad. It seems that while serving with the Army at Shiloh my dear uncle had fallen asleep on guard duty and Lincoln had to draw the line somewhere."

In the travel section, Douglas reports with surprise that the Taj Mahal is a tomb: "And, incidentally the only tomb I know of with a men's room. It has jade stalls with 'Out of Order' spelled out in rubies."

Well, that ought to give you an idea of the inside of a gag writer's mind, where nothing is ever forgotten and everything is upside down.

An English premier said he could solve England's goods slump by adding an inch to the Chinese shirttail.

Unfortunately our foreign policy doesn't pull its weight. Neither will the Chinese shirt-tail. A ten-thousand mile strip an inch wide is no towing cable.

Buchholtz Asks End Of Maryland Property Tax

A resolution that the city go on record as favoring the abolishment of the state real estate tax will be prepared for the next meeting of the Mayor and Council at the suggestion of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

The motion to prepare the resolution was passed by a vote of four to one yesterday with Mayor Thomas S. Post dissenting. The Mayor voted "no" because, he said, "I won't take any action until I see the resolution."

Buchholtz explained he considered the resolution after reviewing the annual report of the state comptroller which shows a surplus "sufficient to pay off the bonded indebtedness," according to Buchholtz.

"I believe the real estate tax should be abolished to give some relief to the people from taxation, and I also believe that local governments should share in the sales tax surplus so that they may complete some of their projects for the good of the community," Buchholtz added.

The finance commissioner also received authorization to renew a $120,000 certificate of deposit in First National Bank which was due to expire January 26. Buchholtz in asking approval, said it will enable the city to continue to receive interest on its deposit.

Paul E. Penrod, who has served one year as probationary officer in the Police Department, was confirmed as a regular member by the Mayor and Council. Penrod qualified under Civil Service this month.

Clayton L. Smith, Maryland Junction, W. Va., received a meter refund of $15. The meter was to have been installed at 6 Memorial Avenue. The refund was ordered after Smith decided against building.

Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was reported at 85,774,000 gallons as compared to 85,910,000 gallons last year. The daily average was 12,253,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is level with the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon six feet, four inches below the crest.

Red Cross Issues Safety Certificates

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, has issued certificates to the following persons stating they are qualified to teach safety services:

First aid—Edwin R. Lilya, Virginia E. DeVault, Robert Thwaites, Magnus W. Work, Robert Snowden, Lewis C. Millholland, Bernard J. Beck, Elmer C. Lancaster, Eugene C. Kreissig, Anne R. Doerner, all of Cumberland; Jane Grindle, Frostburg; James D. Preaskorn, Ridgeley.

Water safety—Anna May Nagle, James E. Kelly, Jr., James W. Hines, Kay Harter, Ronald W. Hamilton, all of Cumberland; and Toni Dayton, Westernport.

Accident prevention—H. Lee Silcox.

Silcox, who is chapter chairman for first aid, water safety and accident prevention, said the services of the instructors are available to any firm or group desiring to set up a safety program.

The Erie Canal is 381 miles long; cost $52,540,800, and connects Lake Erie with the Hudson river.

Fraternal Tax Hearing Planned

The Ways and Means Committee of the Maryland legislature is planning hearings next week for a bill to exempt fraternal lodges from taxes, according to information received here yesterday.

The bill is one being sponsored by the Legislative Council and has attracted much interest in Allegany county, as the State Tax Commission instructed the Allegany county assessor's office to place the lodges on the tax books last year and hearings were conducted here later by the State Tax Commission.

The State Tax Commission determined after the hearings that the lodges were not exempt. The hearings were in the nature of test cases and officials of several other counties attended.

An appeal was taken in Circuit Court by the lodges from the decision of the State Tax Commission, but so far the case has not been heard.

It was reported yesterday that several union organizations are opposed to the proposed tax exemption of lodges and may send representatives to the hearings next week. Interested taxpayers may also attend and present their views.

The tax exemptions were formerly given lodges only for that portion of their buildings which were used strictly for lodge purposes and were not revenue producing.

The Tax Commission stressed two main points in reversing the county commissioners in December, 1947.

(1) Where the property was owned by an organization or entity other than the fraternal beneficiary association, the commission found that the legal owner was subject to tax.

(2) Where the lodge or club held title to the property, the commission ruled that it was not a "charitable or benevolent institution" within the meaning of the exemption statute.

Commissioners, Delegation Plan Wage Conference

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County delegation, said yesterday that members of the group plan to confer within the next few weeks with the Board of County Commissioners in regard to proposed increases in salaries of some county officials.

Whitworth said the salary increases which have been proposed will be discussed fully with county board members to ascertain their wishes in the matter. In view of the fact that the commissioners must budget for any increase, it is felt that they should be given an opportunity to check how much the increases would cost the county and determine if they are feasible.

Among proposed salary increases are those for the Juvenile Court magistrate, sheriff and county treasurer. The hike in salary for the Juvenile Court magistrate would be upped from $2,760 to $4,200 annually, the same as that received by magistrates in trial court in Cumberland. The Juvenile Court secretary would also receive a raise under the proposal.

The sheriff would be upped to $4,000 annually from the present $3,000 salary while the county treasurer would get $2,000 annually instead of $1,500.

It was also reported that a statewide bill is being proposed under which state's attorneys of each county would receive salary increases.

John T. Fey also reported yesterday that his bill for a county mobile library is only an enabling act and would not require the expenditure of $25,000 annually as believed by many persons.

The county commissioners set aside $23,000 in last year's budget for the mobile library and the Fey measure would enable the county board to spend any or all of this amount.

Charles N. Wilkinson, board president, said the initial cost of the mobile library unit would be heaviest as it entails the purchase of a truck unit and books. Later on the cost of maintenance is not expected to be very much in comparison to the first outlay.

Celanese Worker Awarded Watch

A local Celanese worker, William H. Harden, 113 South Smallwood Street, was presented a gold pocket watch yesterday by Fred T. Small, Celanese plant manager, in recognition of 25 years of service with the company.

A native of Hyndman, Harden is a graduate of Allegany County High School. He also attended the old Tri-State Business College here.

He is a former night wire chief for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here, also worked in the circulation department of The Evening Times, and was employed in the general accountants' office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad before going to the Celanese in 1924. Currently he is assistant supervisor of general accounting at the local Celanese plant.

Club Fined $100 On Slot Machine Charge

Garland Darr, representing Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, paid a fine of $100 in Police Court yesterday morning when the post was found guilty of maintaining slot machines.

Two slot machines, one nickle and one quarter device, were found by Detective E. M .Powell and Officer James W. Brown Thursday night while on a routine inspection of clubs.

The post, which has clubrooms on North Mechanic Street, had posted $200 bond for appearance before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti.

Market Sustains Slight Loss After Wavering Back And Forth

A Tribute To Searchers For Three Lost Youths

To the Editor:

I was in Davis, W. Va., on Sunday, January 16, to assist in the search for the three youths who lost their way in that mountainous area. Although I did not go into the woods, because the party had left before I arrived, I stayed until the Helmick boy was found, alive, and brought to Davis. It was a grim day. Everything was in readiness to rush him to a hospital. The magnificent display of attention and kindness is further proof that we have loyal men—real men—who will spare nothing to give help in time of need. Those weary men, wet and muddy and tired, who carried on the search, received food and returned immediately to the mountain to locate the two other lads who were, at the time, fighting for their lives.

The search continued until January 18th when the second body was brought into Davis. Those men started on Thursday, January 13, to find the trio, and did not let up until five days later. Do we have men in our country? Yes! And to all—some from Davis, some from Parsons, others from Bayard—we should doff our hats. And my heartfelt sympathy goes out to the parents of the youths.

Open Letter To Allegany County Commissioners

Recently, the Western Maryland Railway Company removed the tracks from the crossing at the Hoffman coal tipple. Since the removal of the rails, the crossing has been in a hellava shape. The only road is one of coal dirt—black and gooey. How about putting a few loads of stone over this area? It would provide a passable crossing if the stone were smoothed out with a roller.

Air Force Show Moves To Tuesday Night On Mutual

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—MBS, continuing its process of program alterations, is delving this time into Tuesday night. At 9:30 it has decided to drop the Lone Wolf whodun-it and in its place put the Air Force program. This show formerly was Sunday afternoons.

For the first of the night series Bob Hope is scheduled to guest appear, his part to be recoded in view of the fact his own NBC show is on just a half-hour ahead of this one.

America's Town meeting, continuing its ABC broadcast will argue over "Are We Educating For Modern Man's Needs?" The usual time is 8:30. On the speaking roster will be Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, President George D. Stoddard of the University of Illinois, Clifton Fadiman, of the ex - information please, and President James R. Killian jr. of Massachusetts institute of technology. In view of the fact the program is originating from Philadelphia there will not be the usual simultaneous telecast.

Works of three composers, Tschaikowsky, Still and De Falla, will be available when the Detroit symphony of Detroit does its regular concert for 45 minutes on ABC at 9:45.

To mark Negro history week, a special drama, "The Story of Phyllis Wheatley," a poetess, will be presented in a CBS special at 10:30.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

HOLLYWOOD.

Radio gag writers are a very specialized branch of the vertebrate family, dealing as they do almost exclusively in the old switcheroo. After years of turning jokes and phrases upside down, they become as fast and agile with a switcheroo as a con man with three shells and, as a matter of fact, some of them look a little like a con man too.

John Crosby

Jack Douglas, who has written comedy for half a dozen programs, including Jimmy Durante's and Jack Carson's, is the specimen I happen to have at hand and he possesses as fine a bundle of eccentricities as any one in the profession. Douglas won't drive on Balboa Avenue because he's afraid he might run over a dog. There aren't any more dogs on Balboa Avenue than anywhere else, but you can't convince him.

He has a vast and improbable house at North Ridge which he designed himself by cutting out magazine pictures of rooms that caught his fancy. The driveway is dotted with signs that get progressively more insulting—"No Trespassing," "Keep Out," "Go Away," "Get OUT of here." There was and still is some talk of putting an alligator farm next door, so Douglas thoughtfully painted a sign—North Ridge Lion Farm—at the foothills of his estate. Behind the sign is a loud-speaker from which emerge recorded lion roars.

Once Douglas was chatting with a sponsor after a script conference when another writer approached and said he'd like to speak to him. "Go ahead," said Douglas.

The other writer glanced nervously at the sponsor and muttered, "Not in front of the client."

"Well," said Douglas, "spell it."

Douglas likes to tell people that he never had a mother. "We were very poor," he explains. Despite this omission, the first chapter of his book is entitled "Mother" and the word appears frequently in the text. ("Horace pawned his mother and bought a revolver.")

The book, named "No Navel to Guide Him" (With Dirty Pictures by Currier & Ives) carries on its cover the legend—"This Book Bans Boston"—and is altogether as fine a collection of switcheroos as you'll find anywhere. The book has a little of everything—anecdotes about his great-uncle Cosgrave ("He's the one with the nest of robins instead of hair"), luncheon suggestions, geography and history.

Some of the chapter headings are "Moonlight, Magnolias and Juvenile Delinquency," "For Men Only" ("Hold a lighted match behind this page"), "How to Train an Aardvark." Page 57 consists of just one line. "Disregard preceding two pages—letter follows."

"A chapter about India," writes Douglas in his chapter about India, "would be incomplete without extensive mention of Mahatma Gandhi, therefore let us consider this chapter incomplete, shall we?"

"In 1863," another chapter starts, "my uncle Rodney was shot by a firing squad. It seems that while serving with the Army at Shiloh my dear uncle had fallen asleep on guard duty and Lincoln had to draw the line somewhere."

In the travel section, Douglas reports with surprise that the Taj Mahal is a tomb: "And, incidentally the only tomb I know of with a men's room. It has jade stalls with 'Out of Order' spelled out in rubies."

Well, that ought to give you an idea of the inside of a gag writer's mind, where nothing is ever forgotten and everything is upside down.

An English premier said he could solve England's goods slump by adding an inch to the Chinese shirttail.

Figuring on Ripley's marching statistics that would be letting out the hem on 600,000,000 Oriental blouses. Or ten thousand miles of dry goods.

•—•—•

That's the market we are after now. It's worth the old college try.

•—•—•

Unfortunately our foreign policy doesn't pull its weight. Neither will the Chinese shirt-tail. A ten-thousand mile strip an inch wide is no towing cable.

Looks like Chiang Kai-Shek is buying more time with space. Too bad he cannot hock it over here.

While the generalissimo is on the lammissimo over there the madamissimo isn't doing so goodissimo in Washington.

After watching the caperings of both Chinese armies our Congress is suspicissimo that the message to Garcia is a chain letter.

Anyway, call money is deaf since we out-fitted an army that promptly went over to the Commies. And as we said some years ago, the only one who can be on both sides at the same time is a cat going through a picket fence. Finissimo.

Buchholtz Asks End Of Maryland Property Tax

A resolution that the city go on record as favoring the abolishment of the state real estate tax will be prepared for the next meeting of the Mayor and Council at the suggestion of Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz.

The motion to prepare the resolution was passed by a vote of four to one yesterday with Mayor Thomas S. Post dissenting. The Mayor voted "no" because, he said, "I won't take any action until I see the resolution."

Buchholtz explained he considered the resolution after reviewing the annual report of the state comptroller which shows a surplus "sufficient to pay off the bonded indebtedness," according to Buchholtz.

"I believe the real estate tax should be abolished to give some relief to the people from taxation, and I also believe that local governments should share in the sales tax surplus so that they may complete some of their projects for the good of the community," Buchholtz added.

The finance commissioner also received authorization to renew a $120,000 certificate of deposit in First National Bank which was due to expire January 26. Buchholtz in asking approval, said it will enable the city to continue to receive interest on its deposit.

Paul E. Penrod, who has served one year as probationary officer in the Police Department, was confirmed as a regular member by the Mayor and Council. Penrod qualified under Civil Service this month.

Clayton L. Smith, Maryland Junction, W. Va., received a meter refund of $15. The meter was to have been installed at 6 Memorial Avenue. The refund was ordered after Smith decided against building.

Water consumption for the week ending yesterday was reported at 85,774,000 gallons as compared to 85,910,000 gallons last year. The daily average was 12,253,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is level with the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon six feet, four inches below the crest.

Red Cross Issues Safety Certificates

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, has issued certificates to the following persons stating they are qualified to teach safety services:

First aid—Edwin R. Lilya, Virginia E. DeVault, Robert Thwaites, Magnus W. Work, Robert Snowden, Lewis C. Millholland, Bernard J. Beck, Elmer C. Lancaster, Eugene C. Kreissig, Anne R. Doerner, all of Cumberland; Jane Grindle, Frostburg; James D. Preaskorn, Ridgeley.

Accident prevention—H. Lee Silcox.

Silcox, who is chapter chairman for first aid, water safety and accident prevention, said the services of the instructors are available to any firm or group desiring to set up a safety program.

The Erie Canal is 381 miles long; cost $52,540,800, and connects Lake Erie with the Hudson river.

Fraternal Tax Hearing Planned

The Ways and Means Committee of the Maryland legislature is planning hearings next week for a bill to exempt fraternal lodges from taxes, according to information received here yesterday.

The bill is one being sponsored by the Legislative Council and has attracted much interest in Allegany county, as the State Tax Commission instructed the Allegany county assessor's office to place the lodges on the tax books last year and hearings were conducted here later by the State Tax Commission.

The State Tax Commission determined after the hearings that the lodges were not exempt. The hearings were in the nature of test cases and officials of several other counties attended.

An appeal was taken in Circuit Court by the lodges from the decision of the State Tax Commission, but so far the case has not been heard.

It was reported yesterday that several union organizations are opposed to the proposed tax exemption of lodges and may send representatives to the hearings next week. Interested taxpayers may also attend and present their views.

The tax exemptions were formerly given lodges only for that portion of their buildings which were used strictly for lodge purposes and were not revenue producing.

The Tax Commission stressed two main points in reversing the county commissioners in December, 1947.

(1) Where the property was owned by an organization or entity other than the fraternal beneficiary association, the commission found that the legal owner was subject to tax.

(2) Where the lodge or club held title to the property, the commission ruled that it was not a "charitable or benevolent institution" within the meaning of the exemption statute.

Commissioners, Delegation Plan Wage Conference

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County delegation, said yesterday that members of the group plan to confer within the next few weeks with the Board of County Commissioners in regard to proposed increases in salaries of some county officials.

Whitworth said the salary increases which have been proposed will be discussed fully with county board members to ascertain their wishes in the matter. In view of the fact that the commissioners must budget for any increase, it is felt that they should be given an opportunity to check how much the increases would cost the county and determine if they are feasible.

Among proposed salary increases are those for the Juvenile Court magistrate, sheriff and county treasurer. The hike in salary for the Juvenile Court magistrate would be upped from $2,760 to $4,200 annually, the same as that received by magistrates in trial court in Cumberland. The Juvenile Court secretary would also receive a raise under the proposal.

The sheriff would be upped to $4,000 annually from the present $3,000 salary while the county treasurer would get $2,000 annually instead of $1,500.

It was also reported that a statewide bill is being proposed under which state's attorneys of each county would receive salary increases.

John T. Fey also reported yesterday that his bill for a county mobile library is only an enabling act and would not require the expenditure of $25,000 annually as believed by many persons.

The county commissioners set aside $23,000 in last year's budget for the mobile library and the Fey measure would enable the county board to spend any or all of this amount.

Charles N. Wilkinson, board president, said the initial cost of the mobile library unit would be heaviest as it entails the purchase of a truck unit and books. Later on the cost of maintenance is not expected to be very much in comparison to the first outlay.

Celanese Worker Awarded Watch

A local Celanese worker, William H. Harden, 113 South Smallwood Street, was presented a gold pocket watch yesterday by Fred T. Small, Celanese plant manager, in recognition of 25 years of service with the company.

A native of Hyndman, Harden is a graduate of Allegany County High School. He also attended the old Tri-State Business College here.

He is a former night wire chief for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here, also worked in the circulation department of The Evening Times, and was employed in the general accountants' office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad before going to the Celanese in 1924. Currently he is assistant supervisor of general accounting at the local Celanese plant.

Club Fined $100 On Slot Machine Charge

Garland Darr, representing Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, paid a fine of $100 in Police Court yesterday morning when the post was found guilty of maintaining slot machines.

Two slot machines, one nickle and one quarter device, were found by Detective E. M. Powell and Officer James W. Brown Thursday night while on a routine inspection of clubs.

The post, which has clubrooms on North Mechanic Street, had posted $200 bond for appearance before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti.

Market Sustains Slight Loss After Wavering Back And Forth

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—After wavering back and forth most of the day, the stock market tipped downward for moderate losses.

As an indication of the closeness of the market, 374 issues advanced and 376 declined out of a total of 998 issues traded in.

Rail, motors, oils, chemicals and airlines were lower, while metals, aircraft, utilities and merchandising shares were mixed.

Higher were U. S. Steel, up 1½, Armco Steel 1 (after the dividend was raised to 62½ cents from 50 cents previously paid), Firestone 1¼, Woolworth ½, Caterpillar 1, American Can ¼, Owens Illimois 1¼, and Chesapeake & Ohio ⅛.

A Tribute To Searchers For Three Lost Youths

To the Editor:

I was in Davis, W. Va., on Sunday, January 16, to assist in the search for the three youths who lost their way in that mountainous area. Although I did not go into the woods, because the party had left before I arrived, I stayed until the Helmick boy was found, alive, and brought to Davis. It was a grim day. Everything was in readiness to rush him to a hospital. The magnificent display of attention and kindness is further proof that we have loyal men—real men—who will spare nothing to give help in time of need. Those weary men, wet and muddy and tired, who carried on the search, received food and returned immediately to the mountain to locate the two other lads who were, at the time, fighting for their lives.

The search continued until January 18th when the second body was brought into Davis. Those men started on Thursday, January 13, to find the trio, and did not let up until five days later. Do we have men in our country? Yes! And to all—some from Davis, some from Parsons, others from Bayard—we should doff our hats. And my heartfelt sympathy goes out to the parents of the youths.

FRANK A. SCHELL,
Oakland, Md.

Open Letter To Allegany County Commissioners

Recently, the Western Maryland Railway Company removed the tracks from the crossing at the Hoffman coal tipple. Since the removal of the rails, the crossing has been in a hellava shape. The only road is one of coal dirt—black and gooey. How about putting a few loads of stone over this area? It would provide a passable crossing if the stone were smoothed out with a roller.

Ruth A. Grove Becomes Bride Of S. Sgt. J. B. West

Marine Weds Memorial Nurse

The marriage of Miss Ruth Almeda Grove, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John F. Grove, Greencastle, Pa., and sister of Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg, to Staff Sgt. John Barna West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert West, Gainesville, Ga., was solemnized at a candlelight home ceremony at 6 p. m. January 23. The bride's father officiated at the ceremony before an improvised altar of palms, ferns and white snapdragons with candleabra of white tapers. Assorted snapdragons, palms and ferns were used throughout the house in the decorations.

Miss Annabelle Shinham, pianist, played a program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Harold Pensinger, soloist, sang "I Love You" and "Because." Following the prayer she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The matron of honor and the bride's only attendant was Mrs. William Lamberson, Westernport, a roommate while they were in training. John L. Grove, brother of the bride, was the best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Dwight Grove, was attired in a wine colored, brocaded taffeta dress fashioned with winged skirt. With it she wore gray and gold accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Mrs. Lamberson wore a gray and black moire dress with black accessories.A corsage of pink rosebuds completed her costume.

The bride's mother chose a navy crepe faille ensemble with deep yellow rosebud corsage for her daughter's wedding.

The bride is a graduate of Greencastle High School, class of 1942, and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, 1946. She did general duty at Memorial until the summer of 1947 when she volunteered, under the local Red Cross, for polio nursing. She was sent to Grand Fork, N. D., during the epidemic of 1947 and Charlotte, N. C., during the late summer epidemic. During most of 1938 she served under the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at Richmond General Hospital, Richmond, Va., where she supervised the therapeutic ward. While in training in Memorial Hospital School of Nursing the bride resided with her sister Mrs. Baer, in Frostburg.

The bridegroom has been serving in the United States Marine Corps for the past eight years and is stationed at Jacksonville, N. C.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held for the bridal party, families and out-of-town guests. A buffet supper was served.

BE QUICK To Treat BRONCHITIS

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Thomas H. Shriver 2d Weds Willa Marie Sturgis

Nephew Of Local Men Married In New York

Miss Willa Marie Sturgis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgis, New York, became the bride of Thomas Herbert Shriver, 2d, son of Mrs. Robert Sargent Shriver, New York, and the late Mr. Shriver, formerly of here, January 22. The marriage was solemnized at noon in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Ignatius Loyola by Rev. Raymond M. O'Pray and Rev. Edward J. Hogan was the celebrant of the nuptial mass.

Miss Torrey Sturgis was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Elenita Ziegler, New York, and Miss Elise Kempf, Utica, N. Y., cousins, were bridesmaids. Robert Sargent Shriver, Jr., was his brother's best man. The ushers were John Cantwell Sturgis, Joseph Nicholas Shriver, Baltimore, William R. Knowlton, Washington, and Gregory B. Smith, New York.

The bride wore ivory satin trimmed with heirloom family rosepoint lace, made with square neckline, long sleeves and full skirt with train. Her tulle full length veil was attached to a lace coronet, and she carried an ivory prayerbook with marker of stephanotis.

Her maid of honor wore peacock blue taffeta with a wreath of blue and white flowers and carried a bouquet of matching blossoms. The bridesmaids' gowns were of dusty pink taffeta and their weaths and bouquets were of daisies.

The bride attended Miss Hewitt's Classes and the Nightingale Bamford School, New York. She was introduced to society at the Junior Assembly in 1945. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Cantwell, Utica, and the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgis, New York.

The bridegroom was graduated from Canterbury School, New Milford, Conn., and Yale College. Born in Maryland, where his ancestors were among the first colonists, he is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herbert Shriver, Union Mills, and the late Mr. Henry (Bud) Shriver and Mrs. Shriver, this city. He is a nephew of Van-Lear Shriver, Hot Springs, Va., the late Henry Shriver, former president of the First National Bank here, and the late James C. Shriver, former postmaster here.

During the war the bridegroom served as an officer in the Navy for five years on duty in both the Atlantic and Southwest Pacific, and was placed on inactive duty in December 1945 with the rank of lieutenant commander. Mr. Shriver is with the investment firm of Harriman Ripley and Company Inc., New York.

A reception and breakfast were given at Sherry's.

Honored For Birthday

A party in celebration of her fourth birthday was given for Carol Lee Cioni by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Cioni, LaVale, recently. A cartoon movie featured the entertainment and Eugene Kelly photographed the party.

BE QUICK To Treat BRONCHITIS

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Thomas H. Shriver 2d Weds Willa Marie Sturgis

Nephew Of Local Men Married In New York

Miss Willa Marie Sturgis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgis, New York, became the bride of Thomas Herbert Shriver, 2d, son of Mrs. Robert Sargent Shriver, New York, and the late Mr. Shriver, formerly of here, January 22. The marriage was solemnized at noon in the Roman Catholic Church of St. Ignatius Loyola by Rev. Raymond M. O'Pray and Rev. Edward J. Hogan was the celebrant of the nuptial mass.

Miss Torrey Sturgis was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Elenita Ziegler, New York, and Miss Elise Kempf, Utica, N. Y., cousins, were bridesmaids. Robert Sargent Shriver, Jr., was his brother's best man. The ushers were John Cantwell Sturgis, Joseph Nicholas Shriver, Baltimore, William R. Knowlton, Washington, and Gregory B. Smith, New York.

The bride wore ivory satin trimmed with heirloom family rosepoint lace, made with square neckline, long sleeves and full skirt with train. Her tulle full length veil was attached to a lace coronet, and she carried an ivory prayerbook with marker of stephanotis.

Her maid of honor wore peacock blue taffeta with a wreath of blue and white flowers and carried a bouquet of matching blossoms. The bridesmaids' gowns were of dusty pink taffeta and their weaths and bouquets were of daisies.

The bride attended Miss Hewitt's Classes and the Nightingale Bamford School, New York. She was introduced to society at the Junior Assembly in 1945. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Andrew Cantwell, Utica, and the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sturgis, New York.

The bridegroom was graduated from Canterbury School, New Milford, Conn., and Yale College. Born in Maryland, where his ancestors were among the first colonists, he is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herbert Shriver, Union Mills, and the late Mr. Henry (Bud) Shriver and Mrs. Shriver, this city. He is a nephew of Van-Lear Shriver, Hot Springs, Va., the late Henry Shriver, former president of the First National Bank here, and the late James C. Shriver, former postmaster here.

During the war the bridegroom served as an officer in the Navy for five years on duty in both the Atlantic and Southwest Pacific, and was placed on inactive duty in December 1945 with the rank of lieutenant commander. Mr. Shriver is with the investment firm of Harriman Ripley and Company Inc., New York.

A reception and breakfast were given at Sherry's.

Moorefield State Police Report On 1948 Arrests And Accidents

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Cpl. E. L. Roush and Trooper Jim Davis of the Moorefield Detachment of the State Police, report 301 arrests made during 1948. Of these arrests 20 were for felonies, 148 for road law violations and 133 were miscellaneous arrests for petit larceny, drunkenness and other charges.

A total of $5,122.25 in fines and costs were collected by the justice of peace from the arrests. These funds are turned over to the county treasury and later to the school fund.

The police recovered $2,963 worth of stolen property during the year and one automobile was confiscated for transporting moonshine liquor.

Hardy county had three highway fatalities during the year, all on secondary roads in remote sections of the county. This is the first year in several years a fatality has not occurred on a main highway.

In the 41 motor vehicle accidents investigated, three persons were killed, 20 injured and property damage amounted to $15,058.25.

A total of 1137 warning tickets were issued to the motoring public during the year for minor violations such as defective brakes, lights, horns and windshield wipers.

Corporal Roush stated that some traffic checks would be held on the highways during 1949 and requests the public to carry operator and registration cards where they can readily be inspected. Also they are asked to have their horns, lights, brakes and other minor repairs made periodically. The traffic checks will be made on both primary and secondary roads in the county.

Vernon Beale Weds Miss McCulloh

FROSTBURG — Annoufcement is made of the marriage of Miss Gwladys Beall McCulloh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCulloh, Bowery Street, to Vernon Lee Beale, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lee Beale, 515 Decatur Street, Cumberland.

The double-ring ceremony was performed Friday evening in the Bowery Street Congregational Church by Rev. J. F. Zimmerman, pastor.

The church was decorated with snapdragons and palms.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Connell Chaney sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because," with Mrs. Guy Mallow playing the piano accompaniments.

The attendants were Miss Betty Williams, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, and Gilbert Sanders, cousin of the bridegroom, as best man. Guy Mallow and Samuel Davis were the ushers.

The bride, given in mariage by her father, was attired in a winter green two-piece suit with gray accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Miss Williams wore a beige ensemble with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. McCulloh, mother of the bride, was attired in a brown ensemble and Mrs. Beale, the groom's mother, wore a forest green dress.

The bride, a 1947 graduate of Beall High School, is a staff employe at the Celanes plant. Her husband, a 1948 graduate of Allegany High School, is employed in the shipping department of the Cumberland Undergarment Factory.

The couple are spending their honeymoon in Baltimore and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Thorpe Wants Medals

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 24—In wandering around the outer circle of this snowcapped glacier, whom should we run across but the greatest athlete of them all—Jim Thorpe, the red son of Carlisle.

Why should Jim Thorpe be labelled the greatest of all athletes? Well, as a starter, he won both the Olympic decathlon and pentathlon tests, and he is the only human being that ever did. He could run, jump, take the hurdles, pole vault and put the shot.

He was good enough in baseball to make the big leagues. He was the greatest back football ever knew. Jim could circle an end or rip open a line. He had a baffling hip shift and a killing straight arm.

He could punt, drop kick or place kick with equal ability. He could throw a pass or catch a pass with any star on his day. He was a deadly tackler—when he had to tackle.

Jim was talking about his medals—the Olympic medals he won in Stockholm back in 1912. Before these games, Jim had been discovered playing some bush league baseball for which he just about drew expenses. He had to send his medals back.

"I'd sure like to get those medals," he said, rather wistfully. "I understand they are somewhere in Switzerland now. I won them. They certainly don't belong to anyone else. I happen to be the only one who seems to be interested in getting them back. A lot of people were going to help—but so far, they haven't been able to. I can't quite understand it all."

This seems to be a matter that belongs to our Olympic Committee. It would be no trouble at all for this committee to see that these medals were returned to Jim. I can't believe that our Olympic committee could look with any cold eye on this act.

To let these medals remain abroad would be the limit of unsportsmanlike conduct, a completely indecent act. Thirty-seven years seems long enough to permit such a vandalistic act to remain uncorrected.

Big Jim is looking fine. He has been taking excellent care of himself and could still kick with the best, if given a slight chance to train. But something ought to be done about these medals that were won by Jim Thorpe in the presence of Sweden's king, who led the applause.

It will be interesting to see just how much sportsmanship our Olympic Committee has left.

Some of Jim's Feats

Thorpe left many chapters of legendary lore in his football wake. General Red O'Hare, a fine tackle at West Point, over 200 pounds and fast, was telling me of the time he tackled Jim.

"I nailed him, O'Hare said, "but, when I came to, I was across the sidelines, at the side of the stands. I thought a cyclone had struck. Thorpe was not only extremely fast and slippery, but he was also a hard runner to bring down. He hurt you when you tackled him."

The late Bill Langford had another story to tell. "I was refereeing an Army-Indian game," Bill said. "These games were hard to handle. You usually had about four of five individual fights on your hands.

"In this game, Carlisle was on its own 10-yard line, fourth down. Thorpe dropped back to punt. I fell back with him. They think I'm going to kick,' Thorpe whispered to me. 'But I ain't.'

"Jim faked a punt, stuck the ball under his arm and ran 90 yards for a touchdown. Once he got into the open he was almost impossible to stop. That day he fooled his own team as well as Army's."

There was the day Jim played against Brown. After the game I ran across Mike Thompson, who refereed that afternoon. "I've just seen," Mike told me, "the greatest exhibition of football ever given. Carlisle just beat a good Brown team 32 to 0 and Jim Thorpe did most of it. There'll never be another in his class."

We are pretty sure it was Brown, although Mike told his story over 30 years ago.

Thorpe had another great duel with LeRoy Mercer, now head man of athletics at Pennsylvania. Penn won that day, for Mercer was another great back. But between them, Thorpe and Mercer burnt up the turf all afternoon.

Where are the Indians of yesterday? In Thorpe's day and time we had Wheelock, Mt. Pleasant, Guyon, Calac, Hudson, Victor Kelley, Hauser, Little Bear, Metoxen—a flock of stars, the equal of any in their time.

There have been few quarterbacks the equal of Hudson and Mt. Pleasant. There have been no college backfields the equal of Thorpe, Calac and Guyon—three of the great backs of football.

"I got a big kick out of football," Jim says. "I wasn't kidding when I asked you who could get hurt playing football. I never had a second time taken out in my football career. I can't remember ever getting hurt in anyway."

No wonder Thorpe had a bale of fun, usually outclassing the field. The main point now is this—when does Old Jim get his medals back? If our Olympic Committee can't help him, who can?

Thorpe Wants Medals

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 24—In wandering around the outer circle of this snowcapped glacier, whom should we run across but the greatest athlete of them all—Jim Thorpe, the red son of Carlisle.

Why should Jim Thorpe be labelled the greatest of all athletes? Well, as a starter, he won both the Olympic decathlon and pentathlon tests, and he is the only human being that ever did. He could run, jump, take the hurdles, pole vault and put the shot.

He was good enough in baseball to make the big leagues. He was the greatest back football ever knew. Jim could circle an end or rip open a line. He had a baffling hip shift and a killing straight arm.

He could punt, drop kick or place kick with equal ability. He could throw a pass or catch a pass with any star on his day. He was a deadly tackler—when he had to tackle.

Jim was talking about his medals—the Olympic medals he won in Stockholm back in 1912. Before these games, Jim had been discovered playing some bush league baseball for which he just about drew expenses. He had to send his medals back.

"I'd sure like to get those medals," he said, rather wistfully. "I understand they are somewhere in Switzerland now. I won them. They certainly don't belong to anyone else. I happen to be the only one who seems to be interested in getting them back. A lot of people were going to help—but so far, they haven't been able to. I can't quite understand it all."

This seems to be a matter that belongs to our Olympic Committee. It would be no trouble at all for this committee to see that these medals were returned to Jim. I can't believe that our Olympic committee could look with any cold eye on this act.

To let these medals remain abroad would be the limit of unsportsmanlike conduct, a completely indecent act. Thirty-seven years seems long enough to permit such a vandalistic act to remain uncorrected.

Big Jim is looking fine. He has been taking excellent care of himself and could still kick with the best, if given a slight chance to train. But something ought to be done about these medals that were won by Jim Thorpe in the presence of Sweden's king, who led the applause.

It will be interesting to see just how much sportsmanship our Olympic Committee has left.

Some of Jim's Feats

Thorpe left many chapters of legendary lore in his football wake. General Red O'Hare, a fine tackle at West Point, over 200 pounds and fast, was telling me of the time he tackled Jim.

"I nailed him, O'Hare said, "but, when I came to, I was across the sidelines, at the side of the stands. I thought a cyclone had struck. Thorpe was not only extremely fast and slippery, but he was also a hard runner to bring down. He hurt you when you tackled him."

The late Bill Langford had another story to tell. "I was refereeing an Army-Indian game," Bill said. "These games were hard to handle. You usually had about four of five individual fights on your hands.

"In this game, Carlisle was on its own 10-yard line, fourth down. Thorpe dropped back to punt. I fell back with him. They think I'm going to kick,' Thorpe whispered to me. 'But I ain't.'

"Jim faked a punt, stuck the ball under his arm and ran 90 yards for a touchdown. Once he got into the open he was almost impossible to stop. That day he fooled his own team as well as Army's."

There was the day Jim played against Brown. After the game I ran across Mike Thompson, who refereed that afternoon. "I've just seen," Mike told me, "the greatest exhibition of football ever given. Carlisle just beat a good Brown team 32 to 0 and Jim Thorpe did most of it. There'll never be another in his class."

We are pretty sure it was Brown, although Mike told his story over 30 years ago.

Thorpe had another great duel with LeRoy Mercer, now head man of athletics at Pennsylvania. Penn won that day, for Mercer was another great back. But between them, Thorpe and Mercer burnt up the turf all afternoon.

Where are the Indians of yesterday? In Thorpe's day and time we had Wheelock, Mt. Pleasant, Guyon, Calac, Hudson, Victor Kelley, Hauser, Little Bear, Metoxen—a flock of stars, the equal of any in their time.

There have been few quarterbacks the equal of Hudson and Mt. Pleasant. There have been no college backfields the equal of Thorpe, Calac and Guyon—three of the great backs of football.

"I got a big kick out of football," Jim says. "I wasn't kidding when I asked you who could get hurt playing football. I never had a second time taken out in my football career. I can't remember ever getting hurt in anyway."

No wonder Thorpe had a bale of fun, usually outclassing the field. The main point now is this—when does Old Jim get his medals back? If our Olympic Committee can't help him, who can?

Entry blanks for the South Atlantic Association, A. A. U. boxing championship to be held at the State Armory on three successive Mondays, March 7, 14 and 21, are now available to all amateur boxings desiring to compete in either the open or novice classes, Clifton Van Roby, Western Maryland Boxing Commissioner, announced last night.

Championships will be decided in eight weight classes in the open and novice classes.

The closing date for entries is at midnight March 3.

Entries are being accepted by Commissioner Roby at the Central YMCA and all boxers are being registered by Harry G. Stark, 206 Equitable Building, Baltimore.

Drawings will be made before the bouts by lot under A.A.U. rules.

Bouts in the open class will be three rounds of two-minutes each with one minute between rounds while semi-finals and finals will be three minutes each. In the novice division all of the rounds will be limited to two minutes.

Eight ounce gloves will be used by 147 pounds and under 10 ounce gloves will be used by those 160 pounds and over.

Members of the S. A. A. boxing committee are Joseph F. Harris, chairman; Walter T. O'Brien, vice chairman; Edward W. Chaffman, secretary; Dr. S. A. Tumminello, Dr. Frank A. Pacienza, Robert Wheeler, Joe Yarneth, Tom Kelly, Harry G. Stark, Clifton Van Roby, Harold Ingersole and Matthew J. Keppinger.

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Wilson Hardware Company, Sport Shoppe as well as at the Central YMCA.

THREE ARE WOUNDED AS MOOSE DEFEAT FORTY AND EIGHT

Three players were reported "wounded in action" last night as the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose quint scored its 12th straight victory over the Forty and Eight on SS. Peter and Paul court. The score was 42-37.

Charles Barnes, George Evans and Jim Lease of the "Box Car Society" team suffered cuts about the nose and eyes in the lively battle. "The next time we play we'll ride our horses," one of the members of the Forty Men and Eight Horses quint remarked after the game.

INTERSTATE LEAGUE RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

John J. Long was re-elected president of the Interstate Baseball League at a meeting of the circuit Sunday at Romney, W. Va. This will be his fourth term as head of the circuit.

Frank J. Davis was re-elected vice president and Bob Whip was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Among the new applicants for franchises were reported to be the Tri-Towns and Everett, Pa. Frank Petrone of Westernport will manage the Tri-Towns team. Everett was among the teams mentioned as seeking berths last season but failed to enter the nine-club circuit.

A committee comprising Jesse Riggleman, Roy Clites, Junior Patterson, Bill Bracey and Long and Whip was named to study the league by-laws with the idea of recommending changes at the February meeting of the circuit. There were nine teams in the league last year.

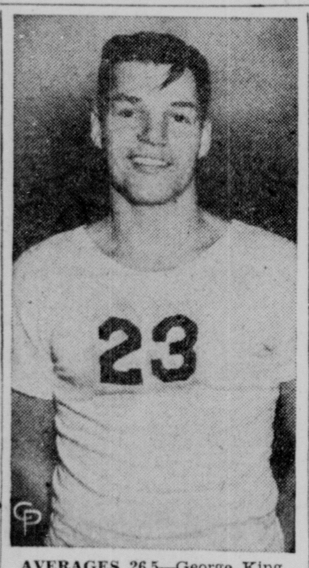

PITTSBURGH UPSETS WHEELING, 67 TO 60, TIES DUKES FOR 3RD

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 24—East Pittsburgh's Pirates provided a surprise in the All-American Professional Basketball League tonight by defeating the pace-setting Wheeling Blues here by the score of 67-60.

It was Wheeling's first league loss at home this season.

The victory tied Wheeling with Cumberland for third place in the league two full games back of the league leaders. Wheeling has won 11 and lost 6. Altoona is second with an 8-6 record and Cumberland and Pittsburgh are third with 8-7 records.

Pittsburgh plays at Cumberland Wednesday night.

AVERAGES 26.5—George King, 20-year-old junior forward of Morris Harvey (W.Va.) College, now heads the scorers of the nation's small college basketball teams. He's made 292 points in 11 games for an average of 26.5 per game. His team has 14 games to play. Potomac State's quint will run into Mr. King when the Catamounts play their only contest with the Golden Eagles at Charleston, February 18.

Morris Harvey's George King Tops Nation's Scorers

Racks Up 292 Points For Average Of 26.5

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—George King of Morris Harvey College at Charleston, W. Va., went on a scoring spree to come from nowhere and take over the individual scoring leadership among the nation's small college basketball teams.

A week ago King was not among the leading 10 in figures prepared by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. In vaulting to the top he ran his record to 292 points in 11 games for an average of 26.5 points per contest. The records include games of Jan. 15.

Running second, well back, is Evan Zlock of Susquehanna, with 120 points in five games for a 24-point average. John Wilson of Anderson (Ind.) College, the leader a week ago, fell to third place with a 23.8 average, representing 262 points in 11 games.

Completing the top 10 are:

Frank Keath, Elizabethtown, 234 points in 10 games for 23.4; Nate Delong, River Falls, 279 in 12 for 23.3; Marv Johnson, Wheaton, 314 in 14 for 22.4; Jim Reilly, Swarthmore, 216 in 10 for 21.6; Francis Walsh, Northeastern, 123 in 6 for 20.5; John Donohue, Rochester, 182 in 9 for 20.2; and Jud Millhon, Ohio Wesleyan, 198 in 10 for 19.8.

Fred Mackey of Alderson-Broaddus College at Philippi, W. Va., took over as the best foul-goal shooter. In 11 games he had dropped in 27 out of 29 for a .931 average. His closet rival, Harold Anderson of Illinois Weslevan, had hit on 37 of 42 attempts; Bob Wood of Northern Illinois State, third, had connected on 24 of 26 free throws.

John Wilson of Anderson, third among the individual scorers, still boasts the biggest single game total —a matter of 46 points he racked up in a game with Adrian.

Most impressive, perhaps, was the feat of Beloit (Wis.) in having maintained an average of 73.3 points through 16 contests. Begins to look like they mean it.

Keller Signs Contract With New York Yankees

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Charley Keller, one of the big "ifs" on the roster of the New York Yankees, has signed his contract, the club announced today. Keller is the eighth player signed thus far by the Yanks.

The Yanks are counting heavily on the 32-year-old slugger to come through in something resembling his old time form this year.

The outfielder, who underwent an operation on his back in '47, seemed on his way to another good season last year until he ran into more bad luck in June. He was hitting at a .316 clip when he fell racing after a fly ball and suffered two broken bones in his left hand. He wound up the season with a .267 mark.

Duquesne Beats Loyola In Extra Period, 52-51

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24 (INS)—Duquesne downed Loyola College, 52 to 51, tonight in an overtime basketball fray.

The teams were tied 43-43 at the end of the regulation period. At the half it was Duquesne 22, Loyola 15.

The victory was the 10th of the season for Duquesne which has lost only one game.

The loss brought Loyola's defeats to three. So far they have won 13.

St. Louis Retains Lead In College Basketball Poll

Billikens Rated Tops Despite Single Loss

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Despite their loss to Oklahoma A. & M., St. Louis' Billikens still are regarded as the top collegiate cagers in the country by the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters.

The Billikens, rated first a week ago when they were unbeaten, nosed out Kentucky's once-beaten Wildcats in the second Associated Press basketball poll of the season.

While the 29-27 overtime defeat on the Oklahoma A. & M. court didn't drop the Billikens, it served to jump the Aggies from fifth to third place ahead of Western Kentucky.

Western Kentucky, one of the four major unbeaten teams left in the country dropped to fourth. Minnesota, fourth a week ago, is fifth, followed by Illinois, Hamline, Villanova, San Francisco and Utah.

These ten teams also were listed as the top ten a week ago although the placings were shuffled somewhat today.

The top ten teams (first place votes in brackets).

1. St. Louis (39)	938
2. Kentucky (33)	896
3. Oklahoma A & M (15)	710
4. Western Kentucky (9)	654

Lower Taxes Are Asked By State's Half-Milers

Ring Boss Cracks Down It's 15 To Go For Dukes

By C. V. BURNS

The Maryland Horse, official publication of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association, reports that county-fair associations of the state have informed the racing commission that they will seek lower taxes at the current session of the legislature.

Present taxes on the county-fair tracks, which includes Cumberland, are:

Daily license fee, $50; one per cent on the first $500,000 wagered, 3 per cent on betting between $500,000 and $1,000,000, 4 per cent on betting over $1,000,000, and one half the breakage.

These rates produced $609,272.71 in 1947 and $576,635.66 in 1948, compared with $320,381.60 in 1946, when the volume of betting was substantially higher.

In 1946 and prior years the half-mile tracks were subject to a daily license fee of $50, a tax of two per cent on money wagered in excess of $500,000 and a tax of five per cent on net revenues.

Taxes on wagering at these tracks are distributed one-half to the State, one-quarter to the counties and Baltimore City and one-quarter to the Maryland State Fair Board. The State Fair Board also gets one-half the breakage.

Spokesmen for the county fair associations, according to the commission's report, "point out that if they are to make needed improvements to their respective properties and maintain their facilities properly, they must be allowed to retain sufficient funds to keep them in a sound financial condition and to justify the investment of additional funds, and that the present margin allowed them after payment of the taxes exacted by the state is inadequate."

"The difficulties of their situation are accentuated by the heavily increased costs now prevailing," the report said.

The racing commission recommends reduction of state taxes on the five half-mile tracks, expressing the hope that some means can be found to adjust receipts without cutting revenue available to the Maryland State Fair Board.

Four Washington, D. C., amateur mittmen who won bouts here will figure in the finals of the capital city's Golden Gloves tournament tomorrow night.

Leo Daughtry, conqueror of "Skeets" Starkey, hurdled Leland Williams on a split decision and will defend his welter title.

Pat Thomas, who trounced Jake Koelker here in 1947, will face Sam Kelsey, victor over Jimmie Catanese here, in the featherweight finale, and Gene Smith, negro flyweight, who trimmed "Sonny" Lafferty and "Socky" Lewis of Pittsburgh here, will battle for the crown in that division.

The National Guard Armory will be the scene of the fireworks.

If you don't believe this is a tough season on the whistle tooters here's what a New York critic got off his chest after a game the other night in Madison Square Garden:

"St. John's built its offense around the officials last night."

● — ● — ●

When the fans cheered Coach Walter Bowers of Allegany and booed Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill for taking exception to some of the decisions made by the imported officials at Friday night's game at Campobello the Sentinels' mentor laughingly remarked:

"Guess they booed me because I wasn't home on the range."

In a move to guard against any more "no contest" affairs, Clifton Van Roby, Cumberland area commissioner of the AAU, has ruled that all unsatisfactory bouts in which one or more boys are at fault, immediate suspension will be recommended for a period of ninety days.

The commissioner also has decreed that coaches must remain quiet during the fighting rounds. They will be warned and after the second violation they will be set down for 60 days.

No boy will be permitted to participate in more than two boxing bouts in a period of seven days.

The A.A.U. physician (Dr. Arthur F. Jones) has the right to forbid and stop any boy from boxing because of his health, condition, or his age. Any boxer knocked out will not be permitted to participate for at least 30 days, then only upon release by the AAU physician.

And here's an important regulation stressed by Roby:

"In cases where final and semi-final bouts are made and advertised in advance, the boys who fail to appear for these bouts will be suspended for 30 days, unless satisfactory proof is given. The commissioner will decide on the importance of the excuse.

One of Cumberland's busiest little preliminary fighters has joined the army.

Jimmie Deetz, bantamweight, has appeared on local cards for the past three seasons and engaged in 24 matches, winning 13 and losing 11.

His brother, Clarence "Tiny" Deetz, who won three out of five matches here last year, is also in the service.

● — ● — ●

Word comes from Camp Hood, Texas, that Rudy Flowers, the clever negro 135-pounder from Pittsburgh won the lightweight championship in the Fourth Army boxing tourney held there last week.

Flowers was one of the best out-of-town amateur boxers to show here last year. He trounced Joe Niland in April and came back the following month to decision "Skeets" Starkey.

Cumberland's Dukes will open the second half of their All-American Pro Basketball League schedule tomorrow night when they play Pittsburgh here.

Of the remaining 15 games on the Dukes' scheduled eight are away and seven at home.

The home games are with Butler (two), Washington (two) and Pittsburgh, Altoona and Wheeling one each. On the road the Klotzmen meet Washington (twice), Altoona (twice), Pittsburgh, (twice) and Wheeling and Butler each once.

The race ends Sunday, March 20, after which the four top teams will engage in a Shaughnessy playoff series to determine the championship.

To date the Dukes' road record is one win and six losses. At home they've won seven and lost one.

The Dukes must finish at least fourth to get in the playoffs. They were fifth last year with a 10-15 record, which included 10 straight defeats away from home.

● — ● — ●

We get it from reliable authority that the reason Ken Haggerty, former Holy Cross star, is not playing with the Dukes is because he advised the local pro team he received a better offer from Richmond, Va.

TO COACH AGAIN — James (Big Jim) Leonard, above, of Mullica Hill, N. J., has been named head football coach at Villanova College to succeed Jordan Oliver who resigned to accept coaching position at Loyola U., Los Angeles. Leonard was a Notre Dame star under the late Knute Rockne and came out of retirement to take the Villanova job. He coached the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1945 and was a former grid mentor at St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa.

Ben Hogan Sinks Twelve Foot Putt And Ties Demaret

Post 272s For 72 Holes, Clash In Playoff Today

By CHUCK PANAMA

International News Service Sports Writer

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 24 (INS)—Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and colorful Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., wound up in a first-place tie today in the final round of the $10,000 Long Beach Open Golf Tournament.

Both golfers carded 272's for the 72-hole grind.

They will play off 18-holes Tuesday over the spacious Lakewood Country Club course.

Their four-day totals were:

Hogan .....68-66-70-68—272
Demaret .....67-70-69-66—272

In one of the most dramatic finishes in tournament golf history, Bantam Ben sank a 12-foot putt on the 18th green to tie up the contest.

A crowd of 5,000 cheered for many minutes after Hogan's payoff putt, worth $600, dropped into the cup.

Jack Burke, of White Plains, N. Y., and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, tied for third, one stroke off the blistering pace, with 274's.

Next for nibs on the $10,000 jackpost was Marty Furgol of North Hollywood, Cal., who turned in a 277, a single stroke in front of Jim Ferrier of San Francisco.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., came home with a 279, followed by Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., with a 280, and Ed Furgol of Royal Oaks, Mich., with a 281.

Bracketed at 282 were Chick Harbert of Detroit; Glenn Teal of Jacksonville, Fla., and Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans.

Ivan Williamson Named Wisconsin Football Mentor

Takes Post Given Up By Harry Stuhldreher

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The University of Wisconsin picked Ivan (Red) Williamson of Lafayette for its head football coach today and it assured him he'll be running his own show in the stormy post vacated by Harry Stuhldreher.

Williamson, who is in the second year of a three year contract at the Easton, Pa., school, was named at a special meeting of the board of regents. He is to report at Madison Feb. 1. His salary will be $10,000 a year and he will have the rank of full professor.

At Wisconsin, that means he can't be fired except by the regents after a public hearing.

Former Michigan Captain

The former Michigan star, who captained the Wolverines in 1932 after three seasons at end, also was assured by university president E. B. Fred that he was to choose his own assistants.

"Williamson will be in full control of all football activities in the athletic department," Dr. Fred said after the meeting.

The choice came after a busy six weeks for the university athetic board, which made the final recommendation to the regents. The board made up a list of "about 50" outstanding coaches, and shortly after New Year's Day began interviewing top candidates.

Charles (Bud) Wilkinson of Oklahoma, frankly the board's first choice, flew out to look over the setup but returned to Norman to sign a new contract as head coach and athletic director with a salary boost to $15,000.

"Rip" Engle Withdraws

Charles (Rip) Engle, head coach at Brown University, also made a trip to Madison, but announced Saturday night at Providence that he had withdrawn from consideration.

Stuhldreher, the "Little General" who quarterbacked Notre Dame's Four Horsemen through their legendary feats for Knute Rockne in the twenties, stepped down as football mentor Dec. 11.

He took action as he ended 13 years of piloting Badger grid squads, longest current unbroken stint in the Western Conference. His resignation, officially so he could devote full time to his post as athletic director, ended a storm of controversy which broke into public view in mid-season.

Then, during the Yale game (which a favored Wisconsin team lost), a banner emblazoned "Good-Bye Harry" was unfurled in the student section. It was a slogan first used by "Good-Bye Harry" clubs on the campus two years ago, at the end of another unsuccessful season.

Came Close In 1942

The Badgers never won a Big Nine football championship for Stuhldreher. They came close in 1942 but dropped a game to Iowa. The 1948 squad, highly regarded by students and fans before the campaign, floundered through a dismal season, losing seven of nine games.

In one sidelight to the situation, Mrs. Stuhldreher made a bid as a seer by magazine article written about a year ago, but published during last fall's football season. In it she counted the roll of the Big Nine, wondering where "the ax would fall"—and eliminated every school but Wisconsin.

DePaul Coach Praises Work Of Officials

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (INS)—Man bit dog at the weekly meeting of the Chicago Basketball Writers' Association today.

Ray Meyer, coach of De Paul, stood up and declared:

"I want to say one thing about the officiating at our game with Oklahoma A. & M. in Stillwater, Okla., a couple of weeks ago.

"It was the finest job of officiating I've ever seen."

The names of the officials at that game, which De Paul won 39 to 32 after trailing by eight points at the half, were Ab Curtis and Ted O'Sullivan.

League Will Meet

Officers will be elected at a meeting of the County Softball League tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Corriganville American Legion Home.

Fort Hill Five At Hagerstown For Game At 7

Romney At Ridgeley, Barton Visits LaSalle

The tri-state district's top teams —Fort Hill and Ridgeley—will be out to extend their winning streaks in games tonight with Hagerstown High School and Romney High School.

Fort Hill's undefeated quint will be gunning for victory No. 12 when it tangles with Coach Paul Burger's Hagerstown High cagers in Hagerstown. The Hub City passers have won three and lost three games to date.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh of the Sentinels last night advised Fort Hill followers planning to attend tonight's game at Hagerstown to get there early as the contest will get under way at 7 o'clock promptly instead the usual 8 o'clock starting time. The Fort Hill squad will leave here at 4:30. A special bus will take Fort Hill students to the game.

"Vic" Barnhart and W. G. Eismon will officiate.

Romney At Ridgeley

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Blackhawks will be shooting for their fifth straight triumph as well as their fourth successive victory in Potomac Valley Conference competition when they face Dick McElwee's Pioneers on the Ridgeley High court at 8 o'clock.

Three other P. V. C. contest are on tap for tonight. Moorefield's Yellow Jackets (5-1) invades Wardensville (0-4), Franklins Panthers (4-1) will play hosts to the Petersburg Vikings (3-3) and Fort Ashby (1-2) tests Elk Garden's (2-2) in Elk Garden.

Barton Meets LaSalle Here

LaSalle will make an effort to break a four-game losing streak when it faces Barton tonight at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court. It will be the first meeting of the Braves and Explorers in several years.

The W. M. I. League lowers the curtain on its first half race tonight when Central and Bruce tangle on the Westernport school court. One of these schools will represent the county in the state Class "C" tourney and they'll be tied for third place in the circuit with 2-3 records if Bruce wins the opener on its home court.

Beall Goes To Keyser

In other scholastic tilts Beall goes to Keyser High, Oakland's Highlanders are hosts to Aurora, the Davis High Wildcast will entertain Masontown, Friendsville invades Bayard, Circleville's Indians are hosts to Greenbank and Bedford's Bisons journey to Johnstown, Pa., to play Ferndale.

BOB WILSON HANGS UP TWO BOWLING RECORDS IN BI-STATE LEAGUE

Maple Lanes of Westernport, supplanting Piedmont Dual Lanes, made its debut in the Bi-State Junior Bowling League by taking three games from Midland.

Bob Wilson was the "big gun" for Maple Lanes as he rolled consecutive games of 211, 229 and 230 for a 670 set. His game and set marks are league highs in both departments. "Lefty" O'Brien headed Midland with 475. Maple Lanes spilled a grand total of 2,601 pins and had high game of 905.

The Bowl-Mor Juniors of Barton, dropped three games to the Keyser Juniors at Keyser. Dye led Keyser with a 171-440 while Tom Warnick was high man for Barton with 161-425. The standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Bowl Mor Juniors	19	8
Keyser	11	10
Midland	11	13
Maple Lanes	7	14

Yankee-Dodger Team May Get Ratterman

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—The new Yankee-Dodger combine of the all American Football Conference will soon sign George Ratterman, quarterback of the Buffalo Bills, the New York Daily Mirror reported tonight.

The paper said Dan Topping, president of the New York team, declined to confirm or deny the report but acknowledged "a deal for an outstanding T-quarterback is in the process." The Bills are determined to sign Notre Dame's Frank Tripucka, the Mirror added.

Officials of the team were not available for comment.

Weiden Whips Hafer

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 24 (INS)—Austrian Heavyweight Joe Wieden won an easy unanimous decision tonight over Walter Hafer of Maysville, Ky., in the feature bout of a boxing card at Cincinnati's Music Hall.

Weiden knocked Hafer down seven times during the 10 round match, once in the second round; twice in the fifth; twice in the sixth; once in the seventh and once in the eighth.

Weiden weighed in at 207 pounds, and Hafer at 209.

Cresap Tavern Scores

Scoring 102 points to 65 for the opposition, the women's shuffleboard team of Cresap Tavern annexed two out of three games from the Owls last night at Cresap Tavern. Mrs. Balnche Lee paced the victors with 24 points and Mrs. Ruth Durkin was high scorer for the Owls with 22.

INTERSTATE LEAGUE RE-ELECTS OFFICERS

John J. Long was re-elected president of the Interstate Baseball League at a meeting of the circuit Sunday at Romney, W. Va. This will be his fourth term as head of the circuit.

Frank J. Davis was re-elected vice president and Bob Whip was renamed secretary-treasurer.

Among the new applicants for franchises were reported to be the Tri-Towns and Everett, Pa. Frank Petrone of Westernport will manage the Tri-Towns team. Everett was among the teams mentioned as seeking berths last season but failed to enter the nine-club circuit.

A committee comprising Jesse Riggleman, Roy Clites, Junior Patterson, Bill Bracey and Long and Whip was named to study the league by-laws with the idea of recommending changes at the February meeting of the circuit. There were nine teams in the league last year.

PITTSBURGH UPSETS WHEELING, 67 TO 60, TIES DUKES FOR 3RD

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 24—East Pittsburgh's Pirates provided a surprise in the All-American Professional Basketball League tonight by defeating the pace-setting Wheeling Blues here by the score of 67-60.

It was Wheeling's first league loss at home this season.

The victory tied Wheeling with Cumberland for third place in the league two full games back of the league leaders. Wheeling has won 11 and lost 6. Altoona is second with an 8-6 record and Cumberland and Pittsburgh are third with 8-7 records.

Pittsburgh plays at Cumberland Wednesday night.

AVERAGES 26.5—George King, 20-year-old junior forward of Morris Harvey (W.Va.) College, now heads the scorers of the nation's small college basketball teams. He's made 292 points in 11 games for an average of 26.5 per game. His team has 14 games to play. Potomac State's quint will run into Mr. King when the Catamounts play their only contest with the Golden Eagles at Charleston, February 18.

Morris Harvey's George King Tops Nation's Scorers

Racks Up 292 Points For Average Of 26.5

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—George King of Morris Harvey College at Charleston, W. Va., went on a scoring spree to come from nowhere and take over the individual scoring leadership among the nation's small college basketball teams.

A week ago King was not among the leading 10 in figures prepared by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau. In vaulting to the top he ran his record to 292 points in 11 games for an average of 26.5 points per contest. The records include games of Jan. 15.

Running second, well back, is Evan Zlock of Susquehanna, with 120 points in five games for a 24-point average. John Wilson of Anderson (Ind.) College, the leader a week ago, fell to third place with a 23.8 average, representing 262 points in 11 games.

Completing the top 10 are:

Frank Keath, Elizabethtown, 234 points in 10 games for 23.4; Nate Delong, River Falls, 279 in 12 for 23.3; Marv Johnson, Wheaton, 314 in 14 for 22.4; Jim Reilly, Swarthmore, 216 in 10 for 21.6; Francis Walsh, Northeastern, 123 in 6 for 20.5; John Donohue, Rochester, 182 in 9 for 20.2; and Jud Millhon, Ohio Wesleyan, 198 in 10 for 19.8.

Fred Mackey of Alderson-Broaddus College at Philippi, W. Va., took over as the best foul-goal shooter. In 11 games he had dropped in 27 out of 29 for a .931 average. His closet rival, Harold Anderson of Illinois Weslevan, had hit on 37 of 42 attempts; Bob Wood of Northern Illinois State, third, had connected on 24 of 26 free throws.

John Wilson of Anderson, third among the individual scorers, still boasts the biggest single game total —a matter of 46 points he racked up in a game with Adrian.

Most impressive, perhaps, was the feat of Beloit (Wis.) in having maintained an average of 73.3 points through 16 contests. Begins to look like they mean it.

Keller Signs Contract With New York Yankees

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Charley Keller, one of the big "ifs" on the roster of the New York Yankees, has signed his contract, the club announced today. Keller is the eighth player signed thus far by the Yanks.

The Yanks are counting heavily on the 32-year-old slugger to come through in something resembling his old time form this year.

The outfielder, who underwent an operation on his back in '47, seemed on his way to another good season last year until he ran into more bad luck in June. He was hitting at a .316 clip when he fell racing after a fly ball and suffered two broken bones in his left hand. He wound up the season with a .267 mark.

Duquesne Beats Loyola In Extra Period, 52-51

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24 (INS)—Duquesne downed Loyola College, 52 to 51, tonight in an overtime basketball fray.

The teams were tied 43-43 at the end of the regulation period. At the half it was Duquesne 22, Loyola 15.

The victory was the 10th of the season for Duquesne which has lost only one game.

The loss brought Loyola's defeats to three. So far they have won 13.

St. Louis Retains Lead In College Basketball Poll

Billikens Rated Tops Despite Single Loss

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Jan. 24. (AP)—Despite their loss to Oklahoma A. & M., St. Louis' Billikens still are regarded as the top collegiate cagers in the country by the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters.

The Billikens, rated first a week ago when they were unbeaten, nosed out Kentucky's once-beaten Wildcats in the second Associated Press basketball poll of the season.

While the 29-27 overtime defeat on the Oklahoma A. & M. court didn't drop the Billikens, it served to jump the Aggies from fifth to third place ahead of Western Kentucky.

Western Kentucky, one of the four major unbeaten teams left in the country dropped to fourth. Minnesota, fourth a week ago, is fifth, followed by Illinois, Hamline, Villanova, San Francisco and Utah.

These ten teams also were listed as the top ten a week ago although the placings were shuffled somewhat today.

The top ten teams (first place votes in brackets).

1. St. Louis (39)	938
2. Kentucky (33)	896
3. Oklahoma A & M (15)	710
4. Western Kentucky (9)	654

Lower Taxes Are Asked By State's Half-Milers

Ring Boss Cracks Down It's 15 To Go For Dukes

By C. V. BURNS

The Maryland Horse, official publication of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association, reports that county-fair associations of the state have informed the racing commission that they will seek lower taxes at the current session of the legislature.

Present taxes on the county-fair tracks, which includes Cumberland, are:

Daily license fee, $50; one per cent on the first $500,000 wagered, 3 per cent on betting between $500,000 and $1,000,000, 4 per cent on betting over $1,000,000, and one half the breakage.

These rates produced $609,272.71 in 1947 and $576,635.66 in 1948, compared with $320,381.60 in 1946, when the volume of betting was substantially higher.

In 1946 and prior years the half-mile tracks were subject to a daily license fee of $50, a tax of two per cent on money wagered in excess of $500,000 and a tax of five per cent on net revenues.

Taxes on wagering at these tracks are distributed one-half to the State, one-quarter to the counties and Baltimore City and one-quarter to the Maryland State Fair Board. The State Fair Board also gets one-half the breakage.

Spokesmen for the county fair associations, according to the commission's report, "point out that if they are to make needed improvements to their respective properties and maintain their facilities properly, they must be allowed to retain sufficient funds to keep them in a sound financial condition and to justify the investment of additional funds, and that the present margin allowed them after payment of the taxes exacted by the state is inadequate."

"The difficulties of their situation are accentuated by the heavily increased costs now prevailing," the report said.

The racing commission recommends reduction of state taxes on the five half-mile tracks, expressing the hope that some means can be found to adjust receipts without cutting revenue available to the Maryland State Fair Board.

Four Washington, D. C., amateur mittmen who won bouts here will figure in the finals of the capital city's Golden Gloves tournament tomorrow night.

Leo Daughtry, conqueror of "Skeets" Starkey, hurdled Leland Williams on a split decision and will defend his welter title.

Pat Thomas, who trounced Jake Koelker here in 1947, will face Sam Kelsey, victor over Jimmie Catanese here, in the featherweight finale, and Gene Smith, negro flyweight, who trimmed "Sonny" Lafferty and "Socky" Lewis of Pittsburgh here, will battle for the crown in that division.

The National Guard Armory will be the scene of the fireworks.

If you don't believe this is a tough season on the whistle tooters here's what a New York critic got off his chest after a game the other night in Madison Square Garden:

"St. John's built its offense around the officials last night."

When the fans cheered Coach Walter Bowers of Allegany and booed Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh of Fort Hill for taking exception to some of the decisions made by the imported officials at Friday night's game at Campobello the Sentinels' mentor laughingly remarked:

"Guess they booed me because I wasn't home on the range."

In a move to guard against any more "no contest" affairs, Clifton Van Roby, Cumberland area commissioner of the AAU, has ruled that all unsatisfactory bouts in which one or more boys are at fault, immediate suspension will be recommended for a period of ninety days.

The commissioner also has decreed that coaches must remain quiet during the fighting rounds. They will be warned and after the second violation they will be set down for 60 days.

No boy will be permitted to participate in more than two boxing bouts in a period of seven days.

The A.A.U. physician (Dr. Arthur F. Jones) has the right to forbid and stop any boy from boxing because of his health, condition, or his age. Any boxer knocked out will not be permitted to participate for at least 30 days, then only upon release by the AAU physician.

And here's an important regulation stressed by Roby:

"In cases where final and semi-final bouts are made and advertised in advance, the boys who fail to appear for these bouts will be suspended for 30 days, unless satisfactory proof is given. The commissioner will decide on the importance of the excuse.

●—●—●

One of Cumberland's busiest little preliminary fighters has joined the army.

Jimmie Deetz, bantamweight, has appeared on local cards for the past three seasons and engaged in 24 matches, winning 13 and losing 11.

His brother, Clarence "Tiny" Deetz, who won three out of five matches here last year, is also in the service.

Word comes from Camp Hood, Texas, that Rudy Flowers, the clever negro 135-pounder from Pittsburgh won the lightweight championship in the Fourth Army boxing tourney held there last week.

Flowers was one of the best out-of-town amateur boxers to show here last year. He trounced Joe Niland in April and came back the following month to decision "Skeets" Starkey.

Cumberland's Dukes will open the second half of their All-American Pro Basketball League schedule tomorrow night when they play Pittsburgh here.

Of the remaining 15 games on the Dukes' scheduled eight are away and seven at home.

The home games are with Butler (two), Washington (two) and Pittsburgh, Altoona and Wheeling one each. On the road the Klotzmen meet Washington (twice), Altoona (twice), Pittsburgh, (twice) and Wheeling and Butler each once.

The race ends Sunday, March 20, after which the four top teams will engage in a Shaughnessy playoff series to determine the championship.

To date the Dukes' road record is one win and six losses. At home they've won seven and lost one.

The Dukes must finish at least fourth to get in the playoffs. They were fifth last year with a 10-15 record, which included 10 straight defeats away from home.

●—●—●

We get it from reliable authority that the reason Ken Haggerty, former Holy Cross star, is not playing with the Dukes is because he advised the local pro team he received a better offer from Richmond, Va.

Ben Hogan Sinks Twelve Foot Putt And Ties Demaret

Post 272s For 72 Holes, Clash In Playoff Today

By CHUCK PANAMA

International News Service Sports Writer

LONG BEACH, Cal., Jan. 24 (INS)—Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and colorful Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., wound up in a first-place tie today in the final round of the $10,000 Long Beach Open Golf Tournament.

Both golfers carded 272's for the 72-hole grind.

They will play off 18-holes Tuesday over the spacious Lakewood Country Club course.

Their four-day totals were:

Hogan .....68-66-70-68—272
Demaret .....67-70-69-66—272

In one of the most dramatic finishes in tournament golf history, Bantam Ben sank a 12-foot putt on the 18th green to tie up the contest.

A crowd of 5,000 cheered for many minutes after Hogan's payoff putt, worth $600, dropped into the cup.

Jack Burke, of White Plains, N. Y., and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, tied for third, one stroke off the blistering pace, with 274's.

Next for nibs on the $10,000 jackpost was Marty Furgol of North Hollywood, Cal., who turned in a 277, a single stroke in front of Jim Ferrier of San Francisco.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., came home with a 279, followed by Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., with a 280, and Ed Furgol of Royal Oaks, Mich., with a 281.

Bracketed at 282 were Chick Harbert of Detroit; Glenn Teal of Jacksonville, Fla., and Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans.

TO COACH AGAIN—James (Big Jim) Leonard, above, of Mullica Hill, N. J., has been named head football coach at Villanova College to succeed Jordan Oliver who resigned to accept coaching position at Loyola U., Los Angeles. Leonard was a Notre Dame star under the late Knute Rockne and came out of retirement to take the Villanova job. He coached the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1945 and was a former grid mentor at St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa.

Ivan Williamson Named Wisconsin Football Mentor

Takes Post Given Up By Harry Stuhldreher

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The University of Wisconsin picked Ivan (Red) Williamson of Lafayette for its head football coach today and it assured him he'll be running his own show in the stormy post vacated by Harry Stuhldreher.

Williamson, who is in the second year of a three year contract at the Easton, Pa., school, was named at a special meeting of the board of regents. He is to report at Madison Feb. 1. His salary will be $10,000 a year and he will have the rank of full professor.

At Wisconsin, that means he can't be fired except by the regents after a public hearing.

Former Michigan Captain

The former Michigan star, who captained the Wolverines in 1932 after three seasons at end, also was assured by university president E. B. Fred that he was to choose his own assistants.

"Williamson will be in full control of all football activities in the athletic department," Dr. Fred said after the meeting.

The choice came after a busy six weeks for the university athletic board, which made the final recommendation to the regents. The board made up a list of "about 50" outstanding coaches, and shortly after New Year's Day began interviewing top candidates.

Charles (Bud) Wilkinson of Oklahoma, frankly the board's first choice, flew out to look over the setup but returned to Norman to sign a new contract as head coach and athletic director with a salary boost to $15,000.

"Rip" Engle Withdraws

Charles (Rip) Engle, head coach at Brown University, also made a trip to Madison, but announced Saturday night at Providence that he had withdrawn from consideration.

Stuhldreher, the "Little General" who quarterbacked Notre Dame's Four Horsemen through their legendary feats for Knute Rockne in the twenties, stepped down as football mentor Dec. 11.

He took action as he ended 13 years of piloting Badger grid squads, longest current unbroken stint in the Western Conference. His resignation, officially so he could devote full time to his post as athletic director, ended a storm of controversy which broke into public view in mid-season.

Then, during the Yale game (which a favored Wisconsin team lost), a banner emblazoned "Good-Bye Harry" was unfurled in the student section. It was a slogan first used by "Good-Bye Harry" clubs on the campus two years ago, at the end of another unsuccessful season.

Came Close In 1942

The Badgers never won a Big Nine football championship for Stuhldreher. They came close in 1942 but dropped a game to Iowa. The 1948 squad, highly regarded by students and fans before the campaign, floundered through a dismal season, losing seven of nine games.

In one sidelight to the situation, Mrs. Stuhldreher made a bid as a seer by magazine article written about a year ago, but published during last fall's football season. In it she counted the roll of the Big Nine, wondering where "the ax would fall"—and eliminated every school but Wisconsin.

DePaul Coach Praises Work Of Officials

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (INS)—Man bit dog at the weekly meeting of the Chicago Basketball Writers' Association today.

Ray Meyer, coach of De Paul, stood up and declared:

"I want to say one thing about the officiating at our game with Oklahoma A. & M. in Stillwater, Okla., a couple of weeks ago.

"It was the finest job of officiating I've ever seen."

The names of the officials at that game, which De Paul won 39 to 32 after trailing by eight points at the half, were Ab Curtis and Ted O'Sullivan.

League Will Meet

Officers will be elected at a meeting of the County Softball League tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Corriganville American Legion Home.

Fort Hill Five At Hagerstown For Game At 7

Romney At Ridgeley, Barton Visits LaSalle

The tri-state district's top teams —Fort Hill and Ridgeley—will be out to extend their winning streaks in games tonight with Hagerstown High School and Romney High School.

Fort Hill's undefeated quint will be gunning for victory No. 12 when it tangles with Coach Paul Burger's Hagerstown High cagers in Hagerstown. The Hub City passers have won three and lost three games to date.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh of the Sentinels last night advised Fort Hill followers planning to attend tonight's game at Hagerstown to get there early as the contest will get under way at 7 o'clock promptly instead the usual 8 o'clock starting time. The Fort Hill squad will leave here at 4:30. A special bus will take Fort Hill students to the game.

"Vic" Barnhart and W. G. Eismon will officiate.

Romney At Ridgeley

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Blackhawks will be shooting for their fifth straight triumph as well as their fourth successive victory in Potomac Valley Conference competition when they face Dick McElwee's Pioneers on the Ridgeley High court at 8 o'clock.

Three other P. V. C. contest are on tap for tonight. Moorefield's Yellow Jackets (5-1) invades Wardensville (0-4). Franklins Panthers (4-1) will play hosts to the Petersburg Vikings (3-3) and Fort Ashby (1-2) tests Elk Garden's (2-2) in Elk Garden.

Barton Meets LaSalle Hero

LaSalle will make an effort to break a four-game losing streak when it faces Barton tonight at 8 o'clock on SS. Peter and Paul court. It will be the first meeting of the Braves and Explorers in several years.

The W. M. I. League lowers the curtain on its first half race tonight when Central and Bruce tangle on the Westernport school court. One of these schools will represent the county in the state Class "C" tourney and they'll be tied for third place in the circuit with 2-3 records if Bruce wins the opener on its home court.

Beall Goes To Keyser

In other scholastic tilts Beall goes to Keyser High, Oakland's Highlanders are hosts to Aurora, the Davis High Wildcast will entertain Masontown, Friendsville invades Bayard, Circleville's Indians are hosts to Greenbank and Bedford's Bisons journey to Johnstown, Pa., to play Ferndale.

BOB WILSON HANGS UP TWO BOWLING RECORDS IN BI-STATE LEAGUE

Maple Lanes of Westernport, supplanting Piedmont Dual Lanes, made its debut in the Bi-State Junior Bowling League by taking three games from Midland.

Bob Wilson was the "big gun" for Maple Lanes as he rolled consecutive games of 211, 229 and 230 for a 670 set. His game and set marks are league highs in both departments. "Lefty" O'Brien headed Midland with 475. Maple Lanes spilled a grand total of 2,601 pins and had high game of 905.

The Bowl-Mor Juniors of Barton, dropped three games to the Keyser Juniors at Keyser. Dye led Keyser with a 171-440 while Tom Warnick was high man for Barton with 161-425. The standings:

Team	Won	Lost
Bowl Mor Juniors	19	8
Keyser	11	10
Midland	11	13
Maple Lanes	7	14

Yankee-Dodger Team May Get Ratterman

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—The new Yankee-Dodger combine of the all American Football Conference will soon sign George Ratterman, quarterback of the Buffalo Bills, the New York Daily Mirror reported tonight.

The paper said Dan Topping, president of the New York team, declined to confirm or deny the report but acknowledged "a deal for an outstanding T-quarterback is in the process." The Bills are determined to sign Notre Dame's Frank Tripucka, the Mirror added.

Officials of the team were not available for comment.

Weiden Whips Hafer

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 24 (INS)—Austrian Heavyweight Joe Wieden won an easy unanimous decision tonight over Walter Hafer of Maysville, Ky., in the feature bout of a boxing card at Cincinnati's Music Hall.

Weiden knocked Hafer down seven times during the 10 round match, once in the second round; twice in the fifth; twice in the sixth; once in the seventh and once in the eighth.

Weiden weighed in at 207 pounds, and Hafer at 209.

Cresap Tavern Scores

Scoring 102 points to 65 for the opposition, the women's shuffleboard team of Cresap Tavern annexed two out of three games from the Owls last night at Cresap Tavern. Mrs. Balnche Lee paced the victors with 24 points and Mrs. Ruth Durkin was high scorer for the Owls with 22.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, Jesse S. Meyers. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and donated the use of their cars for the funeral. We especially want to thank Rev. Mead and Rev. Wright for conducting the services.

Nettie Myers and Daughters

We take this means of expressing our deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Christopher J. Walbert. We are deeply grateful to those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral. We especially want to thank the Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, Farrady Post No. 24 American Legion, John R. Fairgreive Post No. 2462 Veterans of Foreign Wars, and all other organizations.

His Wife And Children

We wish to express our deepest thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of our darling Mother, Mrs. Bridget V. Rafferty, Nikep, Md. We especially wish to thank the choir of St. Peter's Catholic Church of Westernport, those who sent floral offerings and Mass Intentions, and those who donated their cars for the funeral.

The Family.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors who helped us during our bereavement due to the death of Mr. William Harley Vandegrift, husband and father. We wish to thank all those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars.

Mrs. W. H. Vandegrift & Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and Mother, Mrs. Sarah B. Mahaney, who died January 25, 1947.

There is not a day that passes
We do not think of you.
Your face is in our memories still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.
If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more.
To see the face of our dear Mother
Come smiling through the door.
A token of love and remembrance
Of a Mother we shall never forget,
Her memory to us is a treasure
For only God knows best.

Sadly missed by her husband,
Mr. James W. Mahaney,
Children and Sisters.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, Jesse S. Meyers. We also wish to thank those who sent flowers and donated the use of their cars for the funeral. We especially want to thank Rev. Mead and Rev. Wright for conducting the services.

Nettie Myers and Daughters

We take this means of expressing our deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Christopher J. Walbert. We are deeply grateful to those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral. We especially want to thank the Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, Farrady Post No. 24 American Legion, John R. Fairgreive Post No. 2462 Veterans of Foreign Wars, and all other organizations.

His Wife And Children

We wish to express our deepest thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of our darling Mother, Mrs. Bridget V. Raferty, Nukep, Md. We especially wish to thank the choir of St. Peter's Catholic Church of Westernport, those who sent floral offerings and Mass Intentions, and those who donated their cars for the funeral.

The Family.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors who helped us during our bereavement due to the death of Mr. William Harley Vandegrift, husband and father. We wish to thank all those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars.

Mrs. W. H. Vandegrift & Family.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and Mother, Mrs. Sarah B. Mahaney, who died January 25, 1947.

There is not a day that passes
We do not think of you.
Your face is in our memories still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.
If all the world were ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more,
To see the face of our dear Mother
Come smiling through the door.
A token of love and remembrance
Of a Mother we shall never forget,
Her memory to us is a treasure
For only God knows best.

Sadly missed by her husband,
Mr. James W. Mahaney,
Children and Sisters.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24—(INS)—John Ford steps temporarily out of making his own pictures to direct "Pinky" for Darryl Zanuck, who is just back from Sun Valley, went into an immediate huddle with Ford for this movie, which has to do with social conditions in the south.

Greta Garbo

It's not "quality," but an original story by Dudley Nichols, which Valentine Davies has prepared for the screen. Valentine Davies wrote "Miracle On 34th Street," and "Apartment for Peggy."

The combination of Zanuck and Ford is an interesting one, for together their "How Green Was My Valley" won an Oscar, and then "Grapes of Wrath" won the critics award.

Roberto Rossellini gets into Hollywood Friday and Ingrid Bergman is setting aside the complete weekend to play hostess to the Italian director and huddle with him about a movie.

Yes, I mean the same I told you about—when Ingrid was "embarrassed" following a compliment she paid the man who directed "Open City." Ingrid said she "would love to make a picture with him some time" and Rossellini took this to mean a definite contract.

At that time, Bergman thought she would be too tied up on previous commitments to make a picture with Rossellini. But now she is definitely interested.

The biggest American talent raid in a long time is being conducted by Pierre Louis-Guerin, sometimes called the Ziegfeld of France. He owns the famous Paris cafes, Lido and Les Ambassadeurs, both of which seat 1,000 persons. He is signing up stars for both these big night clubs.

He has offered Sonja Henie a fabulous amount for her ice show, and when he comes here to Hollywood February 2, hell contact Carmen Miranda to try to sign her for the Lido. He's also going to try to interest Danny Kaye and Eleanor Powell for a split week appearance when they are at Palladium in London this spring.

Elizabeth Taylor, who is in London making "The Conspirator" with Bob Taylor, took advantage of a day off to drive down to Seven Oaks to look at her old family home.

Imagine her surprise when the door was opened by Queen Alexandria of Yugoslavia, mother of the exiled King Peter! The queen has been living there and keeping house in a simple style for over a year.

"She is the most charming lady," Elizabeth writes. "Mother and I were delighted when she invited us to tea and to stay for dinner. When we lived there we never dreamed that the house would one day have a queen under the roof."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Greta Garbo has reservations at the new Monte Cristo Hotel in Palm Beach under her favorite nom de plume, Harriet Brown.

Charlene Wrightsman sails for home the 20th, and despite all those rumors, her husband, Helmut Dantine, will be right with her. According to a letter they have had no trouble. When they return her sister, Irene, who has kept the Christmas tree standing for the Dantines, will have a belated Christmas dinner for the travelers.

Mervyn Leroy and Kitty, of course, are sailing for Europe as soon as Merv finishes Clark Gable's picture, "Any Number Can Play." It's a holiday and he certainly deserves one after working so hard and making as good a movie as "Little Women."

Peter Lawford is giving Jimmie Stewart some competition for Gloria Hatrick McLean's attentions. He is seeing her almost as often as Jimmie.

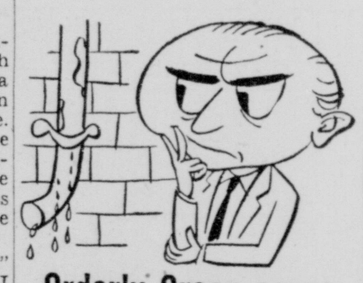

Carl Brisson goes to Denmark in August to give a command performance for the King and Queen. While there he will do a series of fifteen concerts. If possible, Rosalind Russell and Freddie Brisson will join them.

The Nelson Eddys celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary tonight. Congratulations to both Ann and Nelson.

Sydney Greenstreet, I am delighted to tell the world, has accepted a role in "Operation Malaya" at MGM, and is feeling tiptop.

That's all today.

The Republican party was founded in 1854, organizing on the basis of open opposition to slavery extension.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

G D Y U Y R U A P T B Y O V P D R T E L Z Z P W P L O, U D D Y P V A E B O E Y M G D Y V E Y L E M T I P L O—J R U M O Y.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: LIFE IS BUT A DAY AT MOST, SPRUNG FROM NIGHT, IN DARKNESS LOST—BURNS.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

OLDEST RESIDENT DIES — Isaac Newton Gerard, 103, oldest resident of Keyser, W. Va., and one of the oldest residents in this area, died yesterday at his D Street Home. He is pictured with one of his 22 great-grandchildren, James Leatherman, son of Cecil Leatherman, who is now 16 years old. He is survived by two sons, Isaac N. Gerard Jr., Keyser, and John Gerard, Piedmont; four daughters, Mrs. Lylian Lee Boehmes and Mrs. Nellie Barrett, both of Keyser, and Mrs. C. F. Carnell and Mrs. Freda Caster, both of Cumberland; 38 grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren. Mr. Gerard was born at Little Capon in 1845. He has lived in Keyser since 1866 and was a B. and O. freight conductor. A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Pentecostal Church, West Piedmont Street, with Rev. Pete Salesky, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Queen's Point Cemetery.

YMCA Is "Melting

As an illustration of YMCA social service, Dr. Quay described his work in establishing a boys' club in Cairo to aid neglected children who roamed the streets, stealing or begging food.

Revenue Increases

Blunk pointed out that membership revenue exceeded $7,000 last year, as compared to an average of about $5,600 in previous years. The increase indicates renewed interest in the YMCA, he said.

Winfield H. Adam, general secretary, reported that over 321,000 individuals were served last year, including over 100 community groups which use the YMCA building regularly.

"The Cumberland YMCA will enter its 75th year of service determined to make it better than the years past," Adam said.

He introduced a number of staff members, including Clifton Van Roby, physical director; Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, business secretary; Mrs. M. Arline Knotts, desk clerk; George W. Hendrickson, night desk clerk; Charles O. Sperow, building superintendent; Ralph E. Garlick and Charles E. Miller, janitors; Mrs. Pauline Kearchner, matron; Mrs. Ida M. Lindsay, supervisor of the ladies' lounge, and James Alderton, youth division desk clerk.

Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, gave the invocation, while the benediction was given by Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Dinner music was provided by the Duke Memorial Bible Class Orchestra, directed by Lloyd Rawlings. The YMCA Ladies Auxiliary was in charge of serving.

Bishop headed the committee on arrangements, assisted by Mrs. George N. Phillippi, Mrs. William M. Somerville and Edgar Vandegrift.

Music Course To Be Offered Here

A course in instrumental music will be offered during the second tearm of the county's public night school adult education program if enough persons register, Jack E. Platt, director of music education, announced yesterday.

"We have received a number of requests from adults interested in learning to play musical instruments," Platt said, "and have decided to place the course on the program for the second term."

Present plans call for the class to meet on Tuesday or Thursday night, depending on the registration, at Fort Hill High School. A similar course will be held at Beall High School, Frostburg, if sufficient interest is shown.

Registration for the proposed course will be tonight and Thursday night at Fort Hill and Beall, Platt added. The instrumental program will included instruction covering clarinet, trumpet, trombone, violin, cello and the like.

The only requirement for the course, according to Platt, is that each person enrolled either own or arrange to rent the instrument of his choice.

It is not necessary for persons enrolling to have had experience, Platt added, as it is planned to have classes for both beginners and those more advanced in the playing of musical instruments.

Trades Council Officers To Be Installed Tonight

Newly-elected officers of Allegany Trades Council will be installed tonight at 7:30 at Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street, by W. C. Deitrich, Pittsburgh, international organizer for the Teamsters Union.

Officers are C. E. Stutzman, president; Paul Burley, first vice president; C. W. Robinette, second vice president; J. T. Defibaugh, secretary; Miss Azelma Frantz, treasurer, and R. C. Summers, sergeant at arms.

Trustees are R. S. Simmons, J. J. Eirich and R. A. Creighton. Members of the executive board are W. J. Jones, E. C. Yaider, L. L. Grim and R. C. Wilson.

A social will follow the installation.

Bane Pleads

William and Cecil Rohrbaugh, neighbors of the Bane family, told of seeing Bane near his home on October 14 and stated that Bane asked them not to tell that they had seen him there.

After seeing Bane they returned to their home and told their mother of Bane's actions and remarks. Mrs. Rohrbaugh then went to the Bane home and upon looking through a window saw Mrs. Bane on the kitchen floor. Returning to her home she said she sent the boys to Keyser for help. They returned a short time later with James A. Dixon, former sheriff of Mineral County.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Noah Rohrbaugh, parents of the two boys, testified in behalf of the state. Mr. Rohrbaugh said he heard Bane make the remark that Mrs. Bane must have fallen from the chair. Later he said Bane said, "'I did it, I'll take the rap for it.'"

Another neighbor at the home the afternoon of the incident was Mrs. Nannie Rogers who testified that she heard Bane say, "'I don't care if they put a black hood over my head and tie a rope around my neck.'"

Former Sheriff Testifies

James A. Dixon, former sheriff, stated on the stand that after receiving the call, to go to the Bane home, while he was sheriff, he attempted to find a doctor to take with him but that none was available. On leaving Keyser to go to the Bane home he said he met James "Ike" Bane, the defendant, crossing Armstrong Street, stopped and told him where he was going and asked him to go along.

Dixon said he found Mrs. Bane lying on the kitchen floor with a chair across her legs. The dining table, he said, was set with dishes and food for one person. While at the Bane home Dixon said that Bane made the statement "'I am guilty but you'll have to prove it.'"

Others testifying for the state included Roy Haines, a resident of Limestone Road, who said he passed Bane on his way into Keyser the morning of October 14 between 8 and 10 o'clock.

Earl Boyce, 97 South Main Street, told of seeing Bane on South Main Street about 2 p. m. that day.

Madalyn Bazzle, justice of the peace, told of Bane pleading guilty to a warrant charging him with threatening the life of Sarah V. Bane.

Bane was arested in September on the above charge and remained in Mineral County jail after pleading guilty to the charge because he refused to sign a peace bond. While in jail he attempted to take his life by slashing his wrist with a razor and was hospitalized in Potomac Valley Hospital several days. He was released from jail several days prior to October 14 after signing a peace bond.

Divorce Action Filed

C. Frank Rice, clerk of Mineral County Circuit Court, testified that a divorce case was filed in Mineral County Circuit Court September 24, 1948, with Sarah V. Bane as the plaintiff.

The trial was delayed yesterday morning when 25 of the 48 jurors called stated they were opposed to capital punishment and eight declared they had formed opinions in the case. Twenty-four more men were called to draw the remaining three needed jurors. Testimony got underway shortly before 2 o'clock. Only three witnesses have been summoned for the defense.

The case will resume at 10:30 a. m. today.

Four Officers

as an advisory committee of the Lonaconing branch of the bank.

Officers were elected at a meeting of the directors following a meeting of stockholders at which all the directors were re-elected.

City To Appeal Zoning Dispute

The Mayor and Council decided yesterday to continue its appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals in the case of Angus L. Brown vs. the Zoning Appeals Board.

The action was urged in a letter from L. E. Adams, 416 Warnick Avenue, one of the persons who opposed granting of Brown's permit by the zoning board.

Brown, operator of an auto paint shop at Johnson Heights, appeared before the council last week and asked that the appeal be dropped. He said he did not believe it fair that he should be required to pay legal fees while those who protested pay nothing, the city taking on the expense.

Residents of the area had petitioned the city against Brown's enlarging his business and the Zoning Board gave no decision on his permit application. Brown won his case in an opinion handed down in Circuit Court here.

In deciding to press the appeal, the Mayor and Council pointed out that the action is taken to protect the zoning board. The appeal is listed as Brown vs the Zoning Appeals Board and not the city, records show.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said briefs on the appeal have been completed and will probably be forwarded to the Court of Appeals tonight or tomorrow.

Mayor Thomas S. Post ordered filed a letter from the Woman's Civic Club inviting the Mayor and Council to a general meeting February 17 at Emmanuel Episcopal Church. A symposium on "City Manager Plan of Government" with Edwin E. Hinkle, program director of Station WTBO as moderator, will be held, according to Marguerite B. Deetz, the club's corresponding secretary.

DEATHS

JAMES G. GIBBS

James G. Gibbs, 77, husband of Mrs. Mary Scott Gibbs, Route 3, Bowman's Addition, died early yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient since December 30. He had been in failing health for five years.

He was a former electrician for the Western Union Teleghaph Company and a member of the Methodist Church.

Besides his widow, he is survived by three stepsons, William Appold, Clyde Appold and Clarence Appold, all of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Fiscel, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Margaret Hetzer, Hagerstown, and Mrs. Catherine Weiler, Washington, D. C.

A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. at the George Funeral Home. Rev. Edward H. Davis, Methodist minister, will officiate and burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery, Hagerstown.

Leonard Leslie Davis, 52, of 401 Oldtown Road, died Sunday afternoon at Allegany Hospital.

He was the son of Mrs. Cora May Valentine Davis and the late Edward B. Davis. A native of Cumberland, Davis had been employed as a tire builder at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Besides his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Ethelbert and Frank H. Davis, both of Cumberland, and three sisters, Mrs. Loey Hoff, Akron, Ohio; Mrs. Laymon Riley, Miami, Fla., and Mrs. Ambrose Buckley, city.

The body is at the home of his sister, Mrs. Buckley, 25 Hawthorne Avenue, where a service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

JOSEPH RAFLO

Joseph Raflo, 68, brother of Mrs. Samuel Kaplon, this city and former Cumberland resident died Saturday at his home in Leesburg, Va., after a month's illness.

He operated a ladies ready-to-wear shop in Leesburg, and was once associated with his brother-in-law, Samuel Kaplon, in the men's clothing business in Cumberland.

Besides Mrs. Kaplon, he is survived by his widow, Fannie Raflo; two sons, Frank Raflo, editor of the Loudon Times, Leesburg, and Harry Raflo, Cincinnati, Ohio; one brother, Louis Raflo, Bedford, Va., and three other sisters, Mrs. Hannah Kessler and Mrs. Emma Goldberg, both of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. Bessie Kaplon, Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

The funeral service and burial took place yesterday in Philadelphia.

MRS. NORA E. JOLLY

Mrs. Nora E. Jolly, 65, widow of George J. Jolly, 101 Park Street, died yesterday at 9:55 p. m. in Allegany Hospital where she had been a patient for several days.

She was born in Mt. Savage, a daughter of Michael J. and Sarah Jane Kelley Jolly. She was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Mrs. Jolly is survived by two daughters, Miss Margaret A. Jolly, at home, and Mrs. Edward Burkey, this city; one son, George J. Jolly, this city; one sister, Mrs. John P. Schellhaus, and two brothers, James M. E. Kelley, this city, and J. Joseph Kelley, Baltimore.

Road Accident Victim Dies

A Rockingham, Pa., man who suffered a broken back in an auto accident January 15 died yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital. He was Frank Fatich, 29.

Fatich was injured on Route 96 between Hyndman and Cumberland when the car in which he was riding overturned while making a left turn, pinning him beneath the wreckage.

State Police identified the driver as Charles W. Sellers, Central City, Pa. According to the driver, he and Fatich were enroute to Cumberland when the brakes apparently locked on his 1939 Plymouth while rounding a curve south of Hyndman. The vehicle crashed into an embankment and upset. Sellers said that he was forced to break the windshield to free himself and that Fatich apparently fell out of the machine when a door opened. Fatich remained pinned under the wreckage for about half an hour until passing motorists helped him out.

Fatich was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Fatich, Rockingham.

Gibson To Speak At Jackson Day Dinner

Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson will be the main speaker at the "Jackson Day" dinner tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

About 200 persons are expected at the affair sponsored by the Allegany County Democratic State Central Committee and the Young Democratic Club of Allegany County assisted by the United Democratic Women's Club.

William C. Walsh, former Maryland attorney general, will be toastmaster. Among the guests will be David J. Lewis, former congressman, and F. Byrne Austin, Montgomery County, Democratic candidate for Congress in the last election.

VFW Holds Try-Outs For Corps Majorettes

Eleven girls participated in try-outs last night for majorettes of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars Drum Corps.

Carl Ryan, president of the drum corps said additional try-outs will be held next Monday night at the VFW home, after which a number of majorettes will be selected.

The drum and bugle corps has vacancies for several drummers and buglers, Ryan said. Rehearsals are held each Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Trio Accused Of Spotlighting Deer Near Keyser

Men Had Foreign Make 3-Barrel Gun

Three Mineral County men, Ernest Miller, James Walker and Harold Parrish, were arrested at about 9:30 o'clock last night on the Headsville-Keyser road by Conservation Officer Claude E. Wright on a charge of "spotlighting deer."

They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Madeline Bazzle at about 10:30 p. m., with Prosecuting Attorney Donald Hott appearing for the state.

Before they could be tried, however, Walker and Parrish were sentenced to serve five days in the County Jail on a charge of contempt of court. Officer Wright said the men "got smart" in front of the magistrate.

Miller was fined $60 and costs to total in all $73.50 on three charges, "spotlighting deer," "having an uncased gun in an automobile," and "hunting out of season."

Officer Wright said Walker and Parrish will probably be arraigned on similar charges after serving their five-day sentences for contempt.

The conservation officer explained there have been a number of cases of "spotlighting" in Mineral County and six deer were killed by that method in the past week or 10 days. He has been patrolling various areas in an effort to apprehend the hunters.

He said he followed the trio, who live near Headsville, and when they turned on a spotlight he apprehended them. The men had in their car a foreign make gun with three barrels. The gun was a double-barreled .16 guage shot gun with a 9.3x72 millimeter rifle barrel underneath. The two shotgun barrels were loaded with slugs, Wright said, and the rifle barrel was loaded with a long-type rifle bullet, similar to a 45-70.

Wright said he is continuing his campaign against illegal spotlight hunting in the entire county.

Airway Approves Office Drawings

Jere V. Chain, superintendent of stations for All American Airways, Inc., has congratulated the city on its drawings for a proposed office and loading space at Cumberland Municipal Airport, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

All American expects to start passenger and freight pickups here about February 15.

In a letter to Mayor Post, Chain said return of the drawings had been delayed because that department had been moved from Wilmington, Del., to Washington, D. C. Several minor changes were suggested.

Chain suggested that the wall of the present building at the airport be extended nine inches allowing unrestricted access to the doorway on the porch. The porch, he said, should be four by five feet to allow when necessary during rainy weather or snow, for the loading of baggage from the counter area directly to the baggage cart. The space required by All American, Chain said, will be 13 by 12 feet two inches.

Mayor Post said City Attorney Thomas B. Finan has written a letter to Chain urging him to come here as soon as possible to negotiate a contract. No construction will be started, until the contract is signed, the Mayor said.

Three Men Held In Juvenile Case

Three men are being held in jail here for investigation on charges involving a 16-year-old Mt. Savage girl, and will be arraigned in Juvenile Court this morning, accused of contributing to the delinquency of a mi..or, authorities said last night.

The men were identified by police as Carl M. Brown, Frostburg, Harold Knepp, Eckhart, and Dale Shockey, Finzel.

State Troopers W. F. Baker and H. S. Bosley arrested Brown and Knepp Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, and Shockey was picked up by Pennsylvania police at Somerset, Pa., yesterday.

Two Held After Fight On Front Street

Two local men were being held in City Jail late last night after they were arrested as a result of an alleged fight on Front Street.

They are scheduled for hearings in Police Court this morning.

He has lived in Keyser since 1866 and was a B. and O. freight conductor. A funeral service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Pentecostal Church, West Piedmont Street, with Rev. Pete Salesky, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Queen's Point Cemetery.

YMCA Is "Melting

As an illustration of YMCA social service, Dr. Quay described his work in establishing a boys' club in Cairo to aid neglected children who roamed the streets, stealing or begging food.

Revenue Increases

Blunk pointed out that membership revenue exceeded $7,000 last year, as compared to an average of about $5,600 in previous years. The increase indicates renewed interest in the YMCA, he said.

Winfield H. Adam, general secretary, reported that over 321,000 individuals were served last year, including over 100 community groups which use the YMCA building regularly.

"The Cumberland YMCA will enter its 75th year of service determined to make it better than the years past," Adam said.

He introduced a number of staff members, including Clifton Van Roby, physical director; Mrs. Thelma Swartzwelder, business secretary; Mrs. M. Arline Knotts, desk clerk; George W. Hendrickson, night desk clerk; Charles O. Sperow, building superintendent; Ralph E. Garlick and Charles E. Miller, janitors; Mrs. Pauline Kearchner, matron; Mrs. Ida M. Lindsay, supervisor of the ladies' lounge, and James Alderton, youth division desk clerk.

Rev. Norman O. Scribner, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, gave the invocation, while the benediction was given by Rev. William A. Eisenberger, pastor of First Presbyterian Church.

Dinner music was provided by the Duke Memorial Bible Class Orchestra, directed by Lloyd Rawlings. The YMCA Ladies Auxiliary was in charge of serving.

Bishop headed the committee on arrangements, assisted by Mrs. George N. Phillippi, Mrs. William M. Somerville and Edgar Vandegrift.

Music Course To Be Offered Here

A course in instrumental music will be offered during the second tearm of the county's public night school adult education program if enough persons register, Jack E. Platt, director of music education, announced yesterday.

"We have received a number of requests from adults interested in learning to play musical instruments," Platt said, "and have decided to place the course on the program for the second term."

Present plans call for the class to meet on Tuesday or Thursday night, depending on the registration, at Fort Hill High School. A similar course will be held at Beall High School, Frostburg, if sufficient interest is shown.

Registration for the proposed course will be tonight and Thursday night at Fort Hill and Beall, Platt added. The instrumental program will included instruction covering clarinet, trumpet, trombone, violin, cello and the like.

The only requirement for the course, according to Platt, is that each person enrolled either own or arrange to rent the instrument of his choice.

It is not necessary for persons enrolling to have had experience, Platt added, as it is planned to have classes for both beginners and those more advanced in the playing of musical instruments.

Trades Council Officers To Be Installed Tonight

Newly-elected officers of Allegany Trades Council will be installed tonight at 7:30 at Trades Council Hall, Frederick Street, by W. C. Deitrich, Pittsburgh, international organizer for the Teamsters Union.

Trustees are R. S. Simmons, J. J. Eirich and R. A. Creighton. Members of the executive board are W. J. Jones, E. C. Yaider, L. L. Grim and R. C. Wilson.

A social will follow the installation.

Bane Pleads

William and Cecil Rohrbaugh, neighbors of the Bane family, told of seeing Bane near his home on October 14 and stated that Bane asked them not to tell that they had seen him there.

After seeing Bane they returned to their home and told their mother of Bane's actions and remarks. Mrs. Rohrbaugh then went to the Bane home and upon looking through a window saw Mrs. Bane on the kitchen floor. Returning to her home she said she sent the boys to Keyser for help. They returned a short time later with James A. Dixon, former sheriff of Mineral County.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Noah Rohrbaugh, parents of the two boys, testified in behalf of the state. Mr. Rohrbaugh said he heard Bane make the remark that Mrs. Bane must have fallen from the chair. Later he said Bane said, "'I did it, I'll take the rap for it.'"

Another neighbor at the home the afternoon of the incident was Mrs. Nannie Rogers who testified that she heard Bane say, "'I don't care if they put a black hood over my head and tie a rope around my neck.'"

Former Sheriff Testifies

James A. Dixon, former sheriff, stated on the stand that after receiving the call, to go to the Bane home, while he was sheriff, he attempted to find a doctor to take with him but that none was available. On leaving Keyser to go to the Bane home he said he met James "Ike" Bane, the defendant, crossing Armstrong Street, stopped and told him where he was going and asked him to go along.

Dixon said he found Mrs. Bane lying on the kitchen floor with a chair across her legs. The dining table, he said, was set with dishes and food for one person. While at the Bane home Dixon said that Bane made the statement "'I am guilty but you'll have to prove it.'"

Others testifying for the state included Roy Haines, a resident of Limestone Road, who said he passed Bane on his way into Keyser the morning of October 14 between 8 and 10 o'clock.

Earl Boyce, 97 South Main Street, told of seeing Bane on South Main Street about 2 p. m. that day.

Madalyn Bazzle, justice of the peace, told of Bane pleading guilty to a warrant charging him with threatening the life of Sarah V. Bane.

Bane was arested in September on the above charge and remained in Mineral County jail after pleading guilty to the charge because he refused to sign a peace bond. While in jail he attempted to take his life by slashing his wrist with a razor and was hospitalized in Potomac Valley Hospital several days. He was released from jail several days prior to October 14 after signing a peace bond.

Divorce Action Filed

C. Frank Rice, clerk of Mineral County Circuit Court, testified that a divorce case was filed in Mineral County Circuit Court September 24, 1948, with Sarah V. Bane as the plaintiff.

The trial was delayed yesterday morning when 25 of the 48 jurors called stated they were opposed to capital punishment and eight declared they had formed opinions in the case. Twenty-four more men were called to draw the remaining three needed jurors. Testimony got underway shortly before 2 o'clock. Only three witnesses have been summoned for the defense.

The case will resume at 10:30 a. m. today.

Four Officers

as an advisory committee of the Lonaconing branch of the bank.

Officers were elected at a meeting of the directors following a meeting of stockholders at which all the directors were re-elected.

City To Appeal Zoning Dispute

The Mayor and Council decided yesterday to continue its appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals in the case of Angus L. Brown vs. the Zoning Appeals Board.

The action was urged in a letter from L. E. Adams, 416 Warnick Avenue, one of the persons who opposed granting of Brown's permit by the zoning board.

Brown, operator of an auto paint shop at Johnson Heights, appeared before the council last week and asked that the appeal be dropped. He said he did not believe it fair that he should be required to pay legal fees while those who protested pay nothing, the city taking on the expense.

Residents of the area had petitioned the city against Brown's enlarging his business and the Zoning Board gave no decision on his permit application. Brown won his case in an opinion handed down in Circuit Court here.

In deciding to press the appeal, the Mayor and Council pointed out that the action is taken to protect the zoning board. The appeal is listed as Brown vs the Zoning Appeals Board and not the city, records show.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said briefs on the appeal have been completed and will probably be forwarded to the Court of Appeals tonight or tomorrow.

Mayor Thomas S. Post ordered filed a letter from the Woman's Civic Club inviting the Mayor and Council to a general meeting February 17 at Emmanuel Episcopal Church. A symposium on "City Manager Plan of Government" with Edwin E. Hinkle, program director of Station WTBO as moderator, will be held, according to Marguerite B. Deetz, the club's corresponding secretary.

Road Accident Victim Dies

A Rockingham, Pa., man who suffered a broken back in an auto accident January 15 died yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital. He was Frank Fatich, 29.

Fatich was injured on Route 96 between Hyndman and Cumberland when the car in which he was riding overturned while making a left turn, pinning him beneath the wreckage.

State Police identified the driver as Charles W. Sellers, Central City, Pa. According to the driver, he and Fatich were enroute to Cumberland when the brakes apparently locked on his 1939 Plymouth while rounding a curve south of Hyndman. The vehicle crashed into an embankment and upset. Sellers said that he was forced to break the windshield to free himself and that Fatich apparently fell out of the machine when a door opened. Fatich remained pinned under the wreckage for about half an hour until passing motorists helped him out.

Fatich was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Fatich, Rockingham.

Gibson To Speak At Jackson Day Dinner

Trio Accused Of Spotlighting Deer Near Keyser

Men Had Foreign Make 3-Barrel Gun

Three Mineral County men, Ernest Miller, James Walker and Harold Parrish, were arrested at about 9:30 o'clock last night on the Headsville-Keyser road by Conservation Officer Claude E. Wright on a charge of "spotlighting deer."

They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Madeline Bazzle at about 10:30 p. m., with Prosecuting Attorney Donald Hott appearing for the state.

Before they could be tried, however, Walker and Parrish were sentenced to serve five days in the County Jail on a charge of contempt of court. Officer Wright said the men "got smart" in front of the magistrate.

Miller was fined $60 and costs to total in all $73.50 on three charges, "spotlighting deer," "having an uncased gun in an automobile," and "hunting out of season."

Officer Wright said Walker and Parrish will probably be arraigned on similar charges after serving their five-day sentences for contempt.

The conservation officer explained there have been a number of cases of "spotlighting" in Mineral County and six deer were killed by that method in the past week or 10 days. He has been patrolling various areas in an effort to apprehend the hunters.

He said he followed the trio, who live near Headsville, and when they turned on a spotlight he apprehended them. The men had in their car a foreign make gun with three barrels. The gun was a double-barreled .16 guage shot gun with a 9.3x72 millimeter rifle barrel underneath. The two shotgun barrels were loaded with slugs, Wright said, and the rifle barrel was loaded with a long-type rifle bullet, similar to a 45-70.

Wright said he is continuing his campaign against illegal spotlight hunting in the entire county.

Airway Approves Office Drawings

Jere V. Chain, superintendent of stations for All American Airways, Inc., has congratulated the city on its drawings for a proposed office and loading space at Cumberland Municipal Airport, Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday.

All American expects to start passenger and freight pickups here about February 15.

In a letter to Mayor Post, Chain said return of the drawings had been delayed because that department had been moved from Wilmington, Del., to Washington, D. C. Several minor changes were suggested.

Chain suggested that the wall of the present building at the airport be extended nine inches allowing unrestricted access to the doorway on the porch. The porch, he said, should be four by five feet to allow when necessary during rainy weather or snow, for the loading of baggage from the counter area directly to the baggage cart. The space required by All American, Chain said, will be 13 by 12 feet two inches.

Mayor Post said City Attorney Thomas B. Finan has written a letter to Chain urging him to come here as soon as possible to negotiate a contract. No construction will be started, until the contract is signed, the Mayor said.

Three Men Held In Juvenile Case

Three men are being held in jail here for investigation on charges involving a 16-year-old Mt. Savage girl, and will be arraigned in Juvenile Court this morning, accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, authorities said last night.

The men were identified by police as Carl M. Brown, Frostburg, Harold Knepp, Eckhart, and Dale Shockey, Finzel.

State Troopers W. F. Baker and H. S. Bosley arrested Brown and Knepp Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, and Shockey was picked up by Pennsylvania police at Somerset, Pa., yesterday.

Two Held After Fight On Front Street

Two local men were being held in City Jail late last night after they were arrested as a result of an alleged fight on Front Street.

Ben Smith, Bowman's Addition, was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct and George Mayers, 50 Cresap Street, was charged with disorderly conduct.

They are scheduled for hearings in Police Court this morning.

Local Girl Invited To Inaugural Events

Miss Phyllis Webb, student nurse at Garfield Hospital, Washington, and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Nile Webb, 44 North Centre Street, received official invitations to five activities in connection with the inauguration of President Harry S. Truman and Vice President Alben W. Barkley.

Miss Webb is a graduate of Allegany High School where she was a member of the school band. Prior to studying nursing she was employed in the Statistical department of the Celanese Corporation.

Explosion Kills 2 Men In Mine Near Westernport

Investigation Will Open This Morning, Rowe Says

Miners Are Killed Instantly Near Mouth Of Mine

Two miners were killed instantly yesterday in an "explosion of explosives" at the Brashear mine on Stoney Run Road, two miles north of Westernport. A third man in the operation escaped injury.

Listed as dead were Fred William Knisley, 23, Eckhart, and Kenneth Brown Riggleman, 33, Westernport. Both men died from loss of blood, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Clyde J. Rowe, state mine inspector, said the disaster was caused by explosives but declared the type was not determined last night. He will begin an investigation today along with federal mining inspectors and Maryland State Police.

William Brashear, owner of the mine, placed the time of the explosion at between 3 and 3:15 o'clock and said the two victims were only 30 feet from the mouth of the opening which they began digging in late December. Brashear's son, Billie, 19, was the third person in the mine.

Near Explosion

Neither Brashear nor Rowe gave any explanation of what the two men were doing at the time of the blast, but Brashear said it appeared both men were very near the spot of the explosion.

While neither the inspector nor owner could immediately identify the type of explosive responsible for the disaster, Brashear declared that the "concussion apparently was caused from a different type and greater quantity than is permitted in the mine. He explained:

"From the damage done it would appear that at least 10 sticks of 90 per cent dynamite caused the explosion, but regulations limit the type of explosive to black power and never more than a stick and a half at a time is permitted in the operation."

Rowe would not comment on Brashear's statement but said he had not yet investigated the conditions. The inspector said "it is impossible to tell what the men were doing from the initial inspection."

Brashear said his son was working about 30 feet farther in the mine when the explosion occurred. The youth saw Knisley lying in a ray of light from the opening and dragged him to the outside.

Body Not Moved

Two other men, Carl Blizzard and John Morris, both working outside the mine, then entered with the youthful Brashear and found Riggleman's body. "The man was dead and they did not move the body," the owner declared.

Dr. Deming said both men were badly mangled.

The injuries could have been caused by a powder explosion or flying misseles, the examiner declared. Both bodies were removed to a Westernport funeral home by truck and ambulance. The truck carried the bodies over rough road to the waiting ambulance.

Brashear said Knisley, his son-in-law, had worked the day shift and would have quit in about an hour. Riggleman, he said, reported for work on the second shift, about an hour earlier. He had been in the mine only a short time.

The operation was not yet producing coal, according to the owner, who also has a mine on the West Virginia side of the line in the Tri-Towns area. He explained that the men had been working only part time at the Stoney Run operation and the rest of the time at the West Virginia mine.

The owner said he was attempting to get the mine open before the operation stopped producing. Authorities said Brashear leased the Stoney Run property from the Campbell Coal Company and lived on a farm nearby.

Five Props Knocked Out

Brashear said the "drift" where the explosion occurred was about 10 feet high and eight feet wide. The concussion knocked five props out but did not damage the roof, he explained.

Riggleman's body was discovered about 35 feet from where the explosion is believed to have originated, Brasher said, and Knisley's body was lying about 15 feet from the spot. Both had been blown to where they lay, the mine owner declared.

Both victims were veterans of World War II and were experienced miners.

Knisley, a native of Tatesville, Pa., was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Williams Knisley, Midlothian. He had resided in Eckhart since marrying Brashear's daughter, Betty. Besides his widow and parents, two children survive. They are Connie Ann, age 2½, and Ginger Carroll, age 4. Three sisters, Mrs. Gilbert Barnes, and Mrs. Bertha McDonald, both of Midlothian, and Mrs. Maria Border, Vocke Road, near Allegany Grove, also survive. He was a member of the Pentecostal Church, Midlothian.

Riggleman, a native of Westernport and son of the late Wilber and Minnie Lambert Riggleman, is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Arnold, two children, David Gerald, 14 months, and Roy Kenneth, 6 years; one stepson, Luther Arnold, 10, two brothers, Leo Riggleman, Barton, and Lloyd Riggleman, Keyser, W. Va.; and a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Logsdon, Franklin.

Riggleman was a member of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, the Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club and First Baptist Church, Westernport.

Local Man Held On Manslaughter In Shank Death

Kabosky Freed On Bond Of $1,000

A Cumberland motorist whose car police said struck and fatally injured Dougal Shank, 78, on a Romney, W. Va., street last Thursday, was ordered held under $1,000 bond on a manslaughter charge at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell yesterday at Romney.

Three state witnesses presented evidence at the hearing, but the defendant, Henry Kabosky, 419 Arch Street, did not testify. He was represented by G. K. Kump, Romney attorney.

Shank, a Romney municipal employe, died in Memorial Hospital, this city from injuries which police said were suffered when he was struck by a car while repairing High Street.

One of the state witnesses who took the stand was W. R. Shank, a cousin, who was working with the victim at the time he was struck by the automobile. Donald Pyle, Fort Ashby, a motorist who witnessed the accident, and Trooper F. H. Tribett, West Virginia State Police, who investigated, were the other witnesses.

At the time of the accident, Trooper Tribett said, Shank was working in a well-marked zone. He declared the visibility was good for 600 feet from the "Men working" sign to where Shank was struck.

Kabosky, according to authorities, was enroute to Washington from Cumberland to visit relatives at the time of the accident. He was quoted by police as saying that Shank's action indicated he was going to wait until the vehicle was past before he crossed the road.

After hearing the testimony, Justice of the Peace Russell released Kabosky on $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury which is scheduled to convene the first Monday in March.

Weather

Anything can happen in Cumberland's weather and pretty nearly everything did yesterday. The morning started off dismally with showers that netted .42 inches of rainfall and a thermometer which read a right cold 31 degrees. The temperature suddenly zoomed up more than 20 degrees from noon until 5 p. m. to give a maximum of 64 degrees. Night crawlers were out in force and a moth flying around a light intrigued many North End residents. It was getting gradually cooler last night with the latest official reading giving 59. Predictions for today are mild with cooler winds bringing snow flurries toward evening.

Bane Pleads Innocent At Murder Trial

Pathologist Tells Cause Of Death

KEYSER, W. Va.—James "Ike" Bane, 77-year-old Mineral County farmer began his legal battle in Mineral County Circuit Court here yesterday to prove his innocence of a charge of murdering his 75-year-old wife, Mrs. Sarah V. Bane. The aged woman died in Potomac Valley Hospital last October 20 after being unconscious from head injuries for six days.

Internal Injuries

An internal examination, Dr. Skitarelic testified, showed all valves of the heart to be normal but beginning to harden, characteristic of older people. Internal examination of the head showed a hemorrhage extending down both sides of the head back of the ears, a diffuse hemorrhage under the covering of the brain and three ounces of clotted blood over that region, he stated.

Dr. Skitarelic told the jury that no tumors or internal hemorrhages of the brain were found but a small bruise was discovered on the mid portion of the brain.

The physician concluded that death was due to bleeding between the brain and covering of the brain. Such a condition, he said, was caused by an injury that in his opinion was not likely to have been self-inflicted.

Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Hott, who asked the jury for a verdict of first degree murder, rested his case as court recessed yesterday after he had called 12 witnesses to the stand.

In his opening statement to the jury, Attorney Hott said the state would show that Mrs. Bane's death had been the result of a blow on the head which caused a cerebral hemorrhage. He also alleged the state would show that Bane admitted on several occasions that he had caused Mrs. Bane's death.

Innocent Plea

H. R. Athey and Howard P. Shores are attorneys for the defendant. In his opening statement to the jury, Athey said Bane is a victim of circumstances and had nothing to do with his wife's death, or the injuries which resulted in her death.

He told the jury the defense would prove that Mrs. Bane was known to be subjected to fainting spells and her death was caused from a blow received on her head when she fell from a chair in the kitchen of her home.

Athey said the couple lived together 54 years. He said Bane was permanently disabled while working for a railroad company and money received for the disability had been paid on their farm. Athey said everything Bane had was in Mrs. Bane's name.

Bane, appearing highly nervous in court, sobbed audibly as Athey made his opening statement to the jury.

Other State Witnesses

Also presenting testimony for the state was Dr. Robert T. Coffman, of Potomac Valley Hospital, who related that Mrs. Bane was unconscious at time of admittance and died without regaining consciousness.

Frank Milton Page, 32-year-old negro, yesterday was ordered held without bond for grand jury action on a charge of statutory rape involving his 14-year-old daughter, the oldest of six children. He was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti in Trial Magistrates Court.

The charge specified that the alleged offense occurred "on or about" November 1, 1948, before the girl became 14 years-of-age.

Three New Teachers Are Appointed To Allegany County School Staffs

WILLIAM J. DONAHUE

EDWARD A. MECONI

Three new teachers were assigned to Allegany County schools, effective February 1, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday. They will replace present members of the faculty who have been granted leaves of absence.

The new appointments are Edward A. Meconi, 210 Fulton Street; William J. Donahue, Eckhart, and Andrew DiUbaldo, Luke. All will be graduated from college at the end of the present term and begin teaching immediately.

Meconi, presently a student at Columbia University, New York, N. Y., has been assigned to Beall High School, Frostburg, where he will succeed Miss Ina K. Spitznas in the English Department.

Donahue, who will be graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College at the end of this month, will join the faculty at Allegany High School, where he will succeed Mrs. Elizabeth H. Burley.

DiUbaldo, also a student at State Teachers College who will receive his degree this month, will succeed Miss Naomi R. Teter at Johnson Heights.

The three men, Dr. Kopp said, are veterans of World War II. They will assume their duties on the first day of the second semester which commences in the public high and elementary schools on February 1.

Meconi is a former high school athlete in the Cumberland area where he starred as a basketball player at LaSalle High School. He later played on teams at St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa.

Reed Introduces Bill To Lift Ban On Sunday Movies

Measure Applies To Unincorporated Areas

Carrying out a promise he made several months ago at a public meeting in Mt. Savage, Lester B. Reed (R-Allegany) yesterday introduced a bill in the House of Delegates to legalize Sunday motion picture shows in unincorporated areas of this county.

The bill is designated as HB134 and would repeal a portion of law now making Sunday movies in unincorporated areas illegal, and enacting law to legalize and properly regulate such activities.

The bill was promised by Delegate Reed after the Potomac Drive- In at Cresaptown and the Mt. Savage motion picture house were ordered closed on Sunday.

Operators of the Drive-In were arrested and taken to court but the case was dismissed in Circuit Court here.

No charges were placed against the operators of the Mt. Savage picture house, although officials ordered the place closed and threatened arrest if movies were shown on Sunday.

A public meeting was held in Mt. Savage, addressed by a number of citizens including Delegate Reed. At that time he told the assemblage he felt the existing law was discriminatory and unfair, and promised to introuduce legislation to permit all picture houses to operate on Sunday, or close them all.

Among other House Bills introduced yesterday were the following:

HB227, By Beckwith, to require that corporations engaged in mining, manufacturing, operating an electrical railroad, street railway, telegraph, telephone or express service to pay their employes weekly. Present law requires semi-monthly pay envelopes.

HB128, By Sybert, to set up a new system for licensing retail dealers in petroleum products and to provide that dealers exhibit signs clearly showing the retail price of their products.

HB132, By McGrath, to make it grounds for divorce when the defendant has been convicted of a felony and had been sentenced to serve at last two years in the penitentiary or house of correction.

HB133, By McGrath, to give the accused at a magistate's hearing the right to examine any witnesses who may appear against him whether or not the accused elects to testify in his own behalf.

In the Senate, Turnbull and Ellison introduced SB136, to amend the state income tax law that a $400 exemption may be taken for each foster child of a taxpayer.

Bills passed by the Senate include the following:

SB7, by the President, to permit probationary period to merit system employes to be extended to one year in unusual cases, instead of the present six-month period.

SB28, by the President, to increase the maximum penalty for assault with intent murder from 10 years to 15 years imprisonment.

SB80, by the president, Sothorn and Kimble, to change the law to permit the director of the Department of Legislative Reference to continue in office after the retirement age of 70.

Chest Clinic Scheduled

Approximately 50 appointments have been made for a chest clinic to be held in City Hall basement tomorrow and Thursday by Dr. I. B. Lyon, superintendent of the state sanitorium at Salilllasville.

Clinic hours will be from 9 a. m. until 2 p. m. each day.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William Founds, McMullen Highway, Rawlings, a son.

YMCA Is "Melting Pot" For Middle East, Quay Says

Adolf Blunk Heads "Y" Board Again

Greater understanding between different races, nations and peoples is one of the most important contributions of the YMCA's world service program, Dr. James K. Quay said last night.

Dr. Quay addressed 175 persons at the annual dinner meeting of Central YMCA, held in the "Y" gymnasium. He became vice president of Princeton Theological Seminary last year after serving for 28 years in the Middle East as a Presbyterian missionary and YMCA world service secretary.

Adolph Blunk was re-elected president of the YMCA board of directors at a special session following the meeting.

Other Officers Named

Other officers for the ensuing year are Edgar D. Vandegrift, first vice president; Edward R. Allan, second vice president; Roy W. Eves, treasurer, and James W. Bishop, recording secretary.

Allan and Eves were also re-elected. Bishop served as first vice president last year.

Dr. Quay pointed out that the YMCA is serving as a "melting pot" in the Middle East, where it has been operating for a quarter of a century, by providing a common meeting ground for all nations and religions.

It is aiding in development of a new social life in the old, conservative Orient by providing recreational activities for both boys and girls in countries where for centuries men and women have been segregated socially, the speaker said.

The club, located in a rented building, could hold only 100 boys, but 250 swarmed in on the opening day while 250 others climbed on a fence outside and waved their free membership tickets, shouting to get in, Dr. Quay said.

The program proved so popular that the club now numbers 500 boys, and 20 similar groups have been formed elsewhere in Cairo as well as in other Egyptian cities.

Dr. Quay pointed out that the Middle East is the potential starting point for another world conflict, because of the lure of vast oil resources in Saudi Arabia, gradual "fading out" of the stabilizing British influence, and racial unrest in Palestine.

Program Reaches Youth

YMCA work serves to counteract such conflicts because its program reaches the youth of all nations, Dr. Quay concluded.

Dr. Quay was introduced by F. W. Stahl, Newark, N. J., associate secretary of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs. Blunk presided.

Directors elected at the annual meeting to serve for three years are James W. Bishop, Edmund S. Burke, Mrs. John S. Cook, Robert Little Ebert, Roy W. Eves, C. William Gilchrist, John J. Robinson, Simon Rosenbaum, II, Mrs. Jane Gilchrist Stair and James L. Weber.

All were re-elected except Mrs. Cook, Ebert, Rosenbaum and Weber. Lewis C. Ort was elected for two years to fill the unexpired term of Miles G. Thompson, who resigned last year.

A. Florian Wilson, chairman of the nominating committee, read the committee's report at the meeting.

In the annual financial report, Eves said that expenditures during 1948 amounted to $68,722.23, including $3,384.15 for replacing the hot water heating system and $470 for painting the gymnasium.

Receipts during the year totaled $68,727.98, with a bank balance as of December 31 of $120.17.

The regular annual payment of $5,000 was made on the mortgage, with an additional $656.25 interest payment, both on the principal. Balance outstanding on the mortgage is $17,500. Eves said $2,200 is available for the next semi-annual payment, due in June.

County GOP Endorses Vets State Bonus

Favor Pay Measure Without Referendum

Full endorsement, "without referendum," was given the Maryland State Bonus Bill for veterans of World War II last night by the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County, Paul M. Fletcher, chairman, announced.

The bill, to be introduced by State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) within the next day or two, has the active endorsement of the Maryland Department American Legion, and was first advocated by members of Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg, and later endorsed by all posts in the Mountain District, embracing Allegany and Garrett counties.

As proposed by the veterans committee here, of which Lloyd S. McNeil, 718 Shawnee Avenue, is chairman, the bill provides for a referendum at the 1950 General Election.

However, the Republican State Central Committee here endorsed the measure without the referendum provision.

Many Endorsements

Chairman Fletcher said Senator Kimble has more than 2,000 individual endorsements, other than petitions, urging him to introduce and work for passage of the measure.

The bill provides for a minimum bonus of $100 and a maximum of $500 to each honorably discharged Maryland veteran who served 90 days or more. Provision is made for payment of $10 per month for each month of domestic service and $15 per month for each month of service outside continental United States.

Veterans who resided in Maryland six months prior to and at the time of enlistment or induction would be eligible. Provision is also made in the bill for payment of the bonus due veterans killed or who died in service, to their next of kin.

Senator Kimble stated several weeks ago he favors the bill and indicated that he believes funds to pay the state bonus can be taken from the State Sales Tax Account, which already enjoys a substantial surplus.

Vote May Be Close

Senator Kimble told sponsors of the bill here the vote on the measure in the General Assembly will probably be close, but he believes a majority of the legislators favor the bonus bill and predicted passage.

Veterans posts, volunteer fire companies, fraternal and patriotic orders and other organized groups throughout the state have passed scores of resolutions bearing thousands of signatures, endorsing the proposal.

The action of the Republican State Central Committee came as a pleasant surprise to proponents of the measure, and is the first such endorsement from either major political party anywhere in Maryland.

The endorsement of the bill "without referendum" was more than sponsors hoped for, one Legionnaire official declared last night when informed of the action.

Appeal Is Filed For Office, Shop

John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, filed an appeal with the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday for permission to locate a proposed two-story building housing an office, store rooms, warehouse and a metal work shop at the northwest corner of Oldtown Road and Edgevale Avenue.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer denied the original application because no front yard space would be allowed and because the location is in a Residential B zoning district.

Twigg said the building would measure 40 by 60 feet, with a concrete foundation, brick and concrete block walls and a built-up slag roof. The metal work shop would be located on the second floor.

Lester L. Dolan, 872 Maryland Avenue, secured a permit to build a residence estimated to cost $4,000 at Lot 1, Bopp's Addition, Bedford Street.

The one-story structure will measure 32 by 38 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick walls backed up with tile, and an asbestos shingle roof.

Wilton Sykes, 901 Braddock Road, obtained a permit to enclose a porch at 206 Greene Street at an estimated cost of $800. The frame enclosure will measure 6 by 16 feet.

Textile Union Voting Heavier Than In 1948

Voting in the election of officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, was described as "heavier than last year" by a union official last night. The polls opened yesterday morning.

Union members said the election has been moving smoothly, with a steady flow of voters noted at the five polling places. No large crowds have been noticed, they said.

Voting will continue through tomorrow with the polls slated to close Thursday morning after workers on the 11 p. m. shift Wednesday have voted.

The election is being conducted by the Honest Ballot Association with George Abrams in charge. About 7,000 members of the union are eligible to vote.

Polling places are located at each of the three Celanese plant cafeterias, at the union booth at the plant, and at Textile Hall, North Mechanic Street.

Explosion Kills 2 Men In Mine Near Westernport

Investigation Will Open This Morning, Rowe Says

Miners Are Killed Instantly Near Mouth Of Mine

Two miners were killed instantly yesterday in an "explosion of explosives" at the Brashear mine on Stoney Run Road, two miles north of Westernport. A third man in the operation escaped injury.

Listed as dead were Fred William Knisley, 23, Eckhart, and Kenneth Brown Riggleman, 33, Westernport. Both men died from loss of blood, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Clyde J. Rowe, state mine inspector, said the disaster was caused by explosives but declared the type was not determined last night. He will begin an investigation today along with federal mining inspectors and Maryland State Police.

William Brashear, owner of the mine, placed the time of the explosion at between 3 and 3:15 o'clock and said the two victims were only 30 feet from the mouth of the opening which they began digging in late December. Brashear's son, Billie, 19, was the third person in the mine.

Near Explosion

Neither Brashear nor Rowe gave any explanation of what the two men were doing at the time of the blast, but Brashear said it appeared both men were very near the spot of the explosion.

While neither the inspector nor owner could immediately identify the type of explosive responsible for the disaster, Brashear declared that the "concussion apparently was caused from a different type and greater quantity than is permitted in the mine. He explained:

"From the damage done it would appear that at least 10 sticks of 90 per cent dynamite caused the explosion, but regulations limit the type of explosive to black power and never more than a stick and a half at a time is permitted in the operation."

Rowe would not comment on Brashear's statement but said he had not yet investigated the conditions. The inspector said "it is impossible to tell what the men were doing from the initial inspection."

Brashear said his son was working about 30 feet farther in the mine when the explosion occurred. The youth saw Knisley lying in a ray of light from the opening and dragged him to the outside.

Body Not Moved

Two other men, Carl Blizzard and John Morris, both working outside the mine, then entered with the youthful Brashear and found Riggleman's body. "The man was dead and they did not move the body," the owner declared.

Dr. Deming said both men were badly mangled.

The injuries could have been caused by a powder explosion or flying missiles, the examiner declared. Both bodies were removed to a Westernport funeral home by truck and ambulance. The truck carried the bodies over rough road to the waiting ambulance.

Brashear said Knisley, his son-in-law, had worked the day shift and would have quit in about an hour. Riggleman, he said, reported for work on the second shift, about an hour earlier. He had been in the mine only a short time.

The operation was not yet producing coal, according to the owner, who also has a mine on the West Virginia side of the line in the Tri-Towns area. He explained that the men had been working only part time at the Stoney Run operation and the rest of the time at the West Virginia mine.

The owner said he was attempting to get the mine open before the operation stopped producing. Authorities said Brashear leased the Stoney Run property from the Campbell Coal Company and lived on a farm nearby.

Five Props Knocked Out

Brashear said the "drift" where the explosion occurred was about 10 feet high and eight feet wide. The concussion knocked five props out but did not damage the roof, he explained.

Riggleman's body was discovered about 35 feet from where the explosion is believed to have originated, Brasher said, and Knisley's body was lying about 15 feet from the spot. Both had been blown to where they lay, the mine owner declared.

Both victims were veterans of World War II and were experienced miners.

Knisley, a native of Tatesville, Pa., was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Williams Knisley, Midlothian. He had resided in Eckhart since marrying Brashear's daughter, Betty. Besides his widow and parents, two children survive. They are Connie Ann, age 2½, and Ginger Carroll, age 4. Three sisters, Mrs. Gilbert Barnes, and Mrs. Bertha McDonald, both of Midlothian, and Mrs. Maria Border, Vocke Road, near Allegany Grove, also survive. He was a member of the Pentecostal Church, Midlothian.

Riggleman, a native of Westernport and son of the late Wilber and Minnie Lambert Riggleman, is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Arnold, two children, David Gerald, 14 months, and Roy Kenneth, 6 years; one stepson, Luther Arnold, 10, two brothers, Leo Riggleman, Barton, and Lloyd Riggleman, Keyser, W. Va.; and a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Logsdon, Franklin.

Riggleman was a member of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, the Upper Potomac Rod and Gun Club and First Baptist Church, Westernport.

Local Man Held On Manslaughter In Shank Death

Kabosky Freed On Bond Of $1,000

A Cumberland motorist whose car police said struck and fatally injured Dougal Shank, 78, on a Romney, W. Va., street last Thursday, was ordered held under $1,000 bond on a manslaughter charge at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell yesterday at Romney.

Three state witnesses presented evidence at the hearing, but the defendant, Henry Kabosky, 419 Arch Street, did not testify. He was represented by G. K. Kump, Romney attorney.

Shank, a Romney municipal employe, died in Memorial Hospital, this city from injuries which police said were suffered when he was struck by a car while repairing High Street.

One of the state witnesses who took the stand was W. R. Shank, a cousin, who was working with the victim at the time he was struck by the automobile. Donald Pyle, Fort Ashby, a motorist who witnessed the accident, and Trooper F. H. Tribett, West Virginia State Police, who investigated, were the other witnesses.

At the time of the accident, Trooper Tribett said, Shank was working in a well-marked zone. He declared the visibility was good for 600 feet from the "Men working" sign to where Shank was struck.

Kabosky, according to authorities, was enroute to Washington from Cumberland to visit relatives at the time of the accident. He was quoted by police as saying that Shank's action indicated he was going to wait until the vehicle was past before he crossed the road.

After hearing the testimony, Justice of the Peace Russell released Kabosky on $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury which is scheduled to convene the first Monday in March.

Weather

Anything can happen in Cumberland's weather and pretty nearly everything did yesterday. The morning started off dismally with showers that netted .42 inches of rainfall and a thermometer which read a right cold 31 degrees. The temperature suddenly zoomed up more than 20 degrees from noon until 5 p. m. to give a maximum of 64 degrees. Night crawlers were out in force and a moth flying around a light intrigued many North End residents. It was getting gradually cooler last night with the latest official reading giving 59. Predictions for today are mild with cooler winds bringing snow flurries toward evening.

Bane Pleads Innocent At Murder Trial

Pathologist Tells Cause Of Death

KEYSER, W. Va.—James "Ike" Bane, 77-year-old Mineral County farmer began his legal battle in Mineral County Circuit Court here yesterday to prove his innocence of a charge of murdering his 75-year-old wife, Mrs. Sarah V. Bane. The aged woman died in Potomac Valley Hospital last October 20 after being unconscious from head injuries for six days.

Internal Injuries

An internal examination, Dr. Skitarelic testified, showed all valves of the heart to be normal but beginning to harden, characteristic of older people. Internal examination of the head showed a hemorrhage extending down both sides of the head back of the ears, a diffuse hemorrhage under the covering of the brain and three ounces of clotted blood over that region, he stated.

Dr. Skitarelic told the jury that no tumors or internal hemorrhages of the brain were found but a small bruise was discovered on the mid portion of the brain.

The physician concluded that death was due to bleeding between the brain and covering of the brain. Such a condition, he said, was caused by an injury that in his opinion was not likely to have been self-inflicted.

Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Hott, who asked the jury for a verdict of first degree murder, rested his case as court recessed yesterday after he had called 12 witnesses to the stand.

In his opening statement to the jury, Attorney Hott said the state would show that Mrs. Bane's death had been the result of a blow on the head which caused a cerebral hemorrhage. He also alleged the state would show that Bane admitted on several occasions that he had caused Mrs. Bane's death.

Innocent Plea

H. R. Athey and Howard P. Shores are attorneys for the defendant. In his opening statement to the jury, Athey said Bane is a victim of circumstances and had nothing to do with his wife's death, or the injuries which resulted in her death.

He told the jury the defense would prove that Mrs. Bane was known to be subjected to fainting spells and her death was caused from a blow received on her head when she fell from a chair in the kitchen of her home.

Athey said the couple lived together 54 years. He said Bane was permanently disabled while working for a railroad company and money received for the disability had been paid on their farm. Athey said everything Bane had was in Mrs. Bane's name.

Bane, appearing highly nervous in court, sobbed audibly as Athey made his opening statement to the jury.

Other State Witnesses

Also presenting testimony for the state was Dr. Robert T. Coffman, of Potomac Valley Hospital, who related that Mrs. Bane was unconscious at time of admittance and died without regaining consciousness.

Frank Milton Page, 32-year-old negro, yesterday was ordered held without bond for grand jury action on a charge of statutory rape involving his 14-year-old daughter, the oldest of six children. He was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti in Trial Magistrates Court.

The charge specified that the alleged offense occurred "on or about" November 1, 1948, before the girl became 14 years-of-age.

The prisoner was taken into custody last Thursday by Detective Thomas J. See after a complaint was filed at police headquarters by the girl's mother.

WILLIAM J. DONAHUE

EDWARD A. MECONI

Three new teachers were assigned to Allegany County schools, effective February 1, Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday. They will replace present members of the faculty who have been granted leaves of absence.

The new appointments are Edward A. Meconi, 210 Fulton Street; William J. Donahue, Eckhart, and Andrew DiUbaldo, Luke. All will be graduated from college at the end of the present term and begin teaching immediately.

Meconi, presently a student at Columbia University, New York, N. Y., has been assigned to Beall High School, Frostburg, where he will succeed Miss Ina K. Spitznas in the English Department.

Donahue, who will be graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College at the end of this month, will join the faculty at Allegany High School, where he will succeed Mrs. Elizabeth H. Burley.

DiUbaldo, also a student at State Teachers College who will receive his degree this month, will succeed Miss Naomi R. Teter at Johnson Heights.

The three men, Dr. Kopp said, are veterans of World War II. They will assume their duties on the first day of the second semester which commences in the public high and elementary schools on February 1.

Meconi is a former high school athlete in the Cumberland area where he starred as a basketball player at LaSalle High School. He later played on teams at St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa

Reed Introduces Bill To Lift Ban On Sunday Movies

Measure Applies To Unincorporated Areas

Carrying out a promise he made several months ago at a public meeting in Mt. Savage, Lester B. Reed (R-Allegany) yesterday introduced a bill in the House of Delegates to legalize Sunday motion picture shows in unincorporated areas of this county.

The bill is designated as HB134 and would repeal a portion of law now making Sunday movies in unincorporated areas illegal, and enacting law to legalize and properly regulate such activities.

The bill was promised by Delegate Reed after the Potomac Drive- In at Cresaptown and the Mt. Savage motion picture house were ordered closed on Sunday.

Operators of the Drive-In were arrested and taken to court but the case was dismissed in Circuit Court here.

No charges were placed against the operators of the Mt. Savage picture house, although officials ordered the place closed and threatened arrest if movies were shown on Sunday.

A public meeting was held in Mt. Savage, addressed by a number of citizens including Delegate Reed. At that time he told the assemblage he felt the existing law was discriminatory and unfair, and promised to introuduce legislation to permit all picture houses to operate on Sunday, or close them all.

Among other House Bills introduced yesterday were the following:

HB227, By Beckwith, to require that corporations engaged in mining, manufacturing, operating an electrical railroad, street railway, telegraph, telephone or express service to pay their employes weekly. Present law requires semi-monthly pay envelopes.

HB128, By Sybert, to set up a new system for licensing retail dealers in petroleum products and to provide that dealers exhibit signs clearly showing the retail price of their products.

HB132, By McGrath, to make it grounds for divorce when the defendant has been convicted of a felony and had been sentenced to serve at last two years in the penitentiary or house of correction.

HB133, By McGrath, to give the accused at a magistate's hearing the right to examine any witnesses who may appear against him whether or not the accused elects to testify in his own behalf.

In the Senate, Turnbull and Ellison introduced SB136, to amend the state income tax law that a $400 exemption may be taken for each foster child of a taxpayer.

Bills passed by the Senate include the following:

SB7, by the President, to permit probationary period to merit system employes to be extended to one year in unusual cases, instead of the present six-month period.

SB28, by the President, to increase the maximum penalty for assault with intent murder from 10 years to 15 years imprisonment.

SB80, by the president, Sothorn and Kimble, to change the law to permit the director of the Department of Legislative Reference to continue in office after the retirement age of 70.

Chest Clinic Scheduled

Approximately 50 appointments have been made for a chest clinic to be held in City Hall basement tomorrow and Thursday by Dr. I. B. Lyon, superintendent of the state sanitorium at Salillasville.

Clinic hours will be from 9 a. m. until 2 p. m. each day.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital announced the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. William Founds, McMullen Highway, Rawlings, a son.

YMCA Is "Melting Pot" For Middle East, Quay Says

Adolf Blunk Heads "Y" Board Again

Greater understanding between different races, nations and peoples is one of the most important contributions of the YMCA's world service program, Dr. James K. Quay said last night.

Dr. Quay addressed 175 persons at the annual dinner meeting of Central YMCA, held in the "Y" gymnasium. He became vice president of Princeton Theological Seminary last year after serving for 28 years in the Middle East as a Presbyterian missionary and YMCA world service secretary.

Adolph Blunk was re-elected president of the YMCA board of directors at a special session following the meeting.

Other Officers Named

Other officers for the ensuing year are Edgar D. Vandegrift, first vice president; Edward R. Allan, second vice president; Roy W. Eves, treasurer, and James W. Bishop, recording secretary.

Allan and Eves were also re-elected. Bishop served as first vice president last year.

Dr. Quay pointed out that the YMCA is serving as a "melting pot" in the Middle East, where it has been operating for a quarter of a century, by providing a common meeting ground for all nations and religions.

It is aiding in development of a new social life in the old, conservative Orient by providing recreational activities for both boys and girls in countries where for centuries men and women have been segregated socially, the speaker said.

The club, located in a rented building, could hold only 100 boys, but 250 swarmed in on the opening day while 250 others climbed on a fence outside and waved their free membership tickets, shouting to get in, Dr. Quay said.

The program proved so popular that the club now numbers 500 boys, and 20 similar groups have been formed elsewhere in Cairo as well as in other Egyptian cities.

Dr. Quay pointed out that the Middle East is the potential starting point for another world conflict, because of the lure of vast oil resources in Saudi Arabia, gradual "fading out" of the stabilizing British influence, and racial unrest in Palestine.

Program Reaches Youth

Dr. Quay was introduced by F. W. Stahl, Newark, N. J., associate secretary of the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs. Blunk presided.

Directors elected at the annual meeting to serve for three years are James W. Bishop, Edmund S. Burke, Mrs. John S. Cook, Robert Little Ebert, Roy W. Eves, C. William Gilchrist, John J. Robinson, Simon Rosenbaum, II, Mrs. Jane Gilchrist Stair and James L. Weber.

All were re-elected except Mrs. Cook, Ebert, Rosenbaum and Weber. Lewis C. Ort was elected for two years to fill the unexpired term of Miles G. Thompson, who resigned last year.

A. Florian Wilson, chairman of the nominating committee, read the committee's report at the meeting.

In the annual financial report, Eves said that expenditures during 1948 amounted to $68,722.23, including $3,384.15 for replacing the hot water heating system and $470 for painting the gymnasium.

Receipts during the year totaled $68,727.98, with a bank balance as of December 31 of $120.17.

The regular annual payment of $5,000 was made on the mortgage, with an additional $656.25 interest payment, both on the principal. Balance outstanding on the mortgage is $17,500. Eves said $2,200 is available for the next semi-annual payment, due in June.

County GOP Endorses Vets State Bonus

Favor Pay Measure Without Referendum

Full endorsement, "without referendum," was given the Maryland State Bonus Bill for veterans of World War II last night by the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County, Paul M. Fletcher, chairman, announced.

The bill, to be introduced by State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) within the next day or two, has the active endorsement of the Maryland Department American Legion, and was first advocated by members of Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg, and later endorsed by all posts in the Mountain District, embracing Allegany and Garrett counties.

As proposed by the veterans committee here, of which Lloyd S. McNeil, 718 Shawnee Avenue, is chairman, the bill provides for a referendum at the 1950 General Election.

However, the Republican State Central Committee here endorsed the measure without the referendum provision.

Many Endorsements

Chairman Fletcher said Senator Kimble has more than 2,000 individual endorsements, other than petitions, urging him to introduce and work for passage of the measure.

The bill provides for a minimum bonus of $100 and a maximum of $500 to each honorably discharged Maryland veteran who served 90 days or more. Provision is made for payment of $10 per month for each month of domestic service and $15 per month for each month of service outside continental United States.

Veterans who resided in Maryland six months prior to and at the time of enlistment or induction would be eligible. Provision is also made in the bill for payment of the bonus due veterans killed or who died in service, to their next of kin.

Senator Kimble stated several weeks ago he favors the bill and indicated that he believes funds to pay the state bonus can be taken from the State Sales Tax Account, which already enjoys a substantial surplus.

Vote May Be Close

Senator Kimble told sponsors of the bill here the vote on the measure in the General Assembly will probably be close, but he believes a majority of the legislators favor the bonus bill and predicted passage.

Veterans posts, volunteer fire companies, fraternal and patriotic orders and other organized groups throughout the state have passed scores of resolutions bearing thousands of signatures, endorsing the proposal.

The action of the Republican State Central Committee came as a pleasant surprise to proponents of the measure, and is the first such endorsement from either major political party anywhere in Maryland.

The endorsement of the bill "without referendum" was more than sponsors hoped for, one Legionnaire official declared last night when informed of the action.

Appeal Is Filed For Office, Shop

John E. Twigg, 915 Louisiana Avenue, filed an appeal with the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday for permission to locate a proposed two-story building housing an office, store rooms, warehouse and a metal work shop at the northwest corner of Oldtown Road and Edgevale Avenue.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer denied the original application because no front yard space would be allowed and because the location is in a Residential B zoning district.

Twigg said the building would measure 40 by 60 feet, with a concrete foundation, brick and concrete block walls and a built-up slag roof. The metal work shop would be located on the second floor.

Two building permits were granted yesterday by the city engineer.

Lester L. Dolan, 872 Maryland Avenue, secured a permit to build a residence estimated to cost $4,000 at Lot 1, Bopp's Addition, Bedford Street.

The one-story structure will measure 32 by 38 feet, with a concrete block foundation, brick walls backed up with tile, and an asbestos shingle roof.

Wilton Syckes, 901 Braddock Road, obtained a permit to enclose a porch at 206 Greene Street at an estimated cost of $800. The frame enclosure will measure 6 by 16 feet.

Textile Union Voting Heavier Than In 1948

Voting in the election of officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, was described as "heavier than last year" by a union official last night. The polls opened yesterday morning.

Union members said the election has been moving smoothly, with a steady flow of voters noted at the five polling places. No large crowds have been noticed, they said.

Voting will continue through tomorrow with the polls slated to close Thursday morning after workers on the 11 p. m. shift Wednesday have voted.

The election is being conducted by the Honest Ballot Association with George Abrams in charge. About 7,000 members of the union are eligible to vote.

Polling places are located at each of the three Celanese plant cafeterias, at the union booth at the plant, and at Textile Hall, North Mechanic Street.
